CALL MME. GUEYDAN AT MURDER TRIAL

Former Wife of Joseph Caillaux
Again Called to the Witness
Stand—Great Interest Taken in
Two Intimate Letters

PARIS, July 24.—"Call Madame Gueydan!" was the command of Judge Luls Albanel immediately after the court opened today for the fifth day's hearing in the trial of Madame Henriette Caillaux for the wilful murder on March 16 of Gaston Calmette, editor of the "Figaro."

Mme. Gueydan, former wife of the prisoner's husband, Joseph Caillaux, an ex-premier of France, had, however, not arrived, and Pascal Ceccaldi, the most intimate private and political friend of M. Caillaux, was called to the stand.

The interest today centered around the two intimate letters referred to in yesterday's testimony and handed by Mme. Gueydan to Maitre Labori to deal with as he chose.

Maitre Labori, before M. Ceccaldi began his testimony, said he would defer until the arrival of Mme. Gueydan, a communication he desired to make to the court.

Defense of Caillaux Family
M. Ceccaldi then addressed to the jury an impassioned defense of the Caillaux family. He said Mme. Caillaux's efforts to restrain her husband from assuming political power was due to her belief that his keeping out of the government was the only way in which they could expect to have peace in their life.

M. Caillaux, seated in the crowded court among witnesses and journalists, followed attentively his friend's panegyric, nodding his head in approbation and occasionally casting a glance about the courtroom as though measuring the effect of the witness's words. Madame Caillaux, in the prisoner's enclosure, presented a sorrowful figure. In her eyes was a look of bewilderment and seeming terror. She did not speak to anyone but she had had a long talk with her husband in the prison of the Conciergerie before the hearing began.

It was understood that former Premier Barthou was again to be confronted with M. Caillaux today.

SHOT THROUGH HEART

STONEHAM MAN KILLED HIMSELF
—WIFE HEARD SHOT AND FOUND HIS BODY

BOSTON, July 24.—Edward A. Wiley, night manager of a dairy lunch at 103 Canal street, and for many years a resident of Stoneham, committed suicide in his home, 18 Pleasant street, Stoneham, yesterday afternoon by shooting himself through the heart. He was in the best of health and no reason is known for his act.

Mr. Wiley was in the sitting room of his home when he killed himself. His wife was in the hallway, talking over the telephone with a friend. Hearing the shot, she dropped the receiver and ran into the room to find her husband's body stretched on the floor. A wound in the heart told the story. The revolver had fallen from his hand and was lying beside him.

Besides his widow, the suicide leaves two daughters by a first wife, Mrs. Edna Cronin of Wakefield, and Miss Alice Louise Wiley, whose engagement to John Woodbury Day, of Arlington, was announced in the local paper yesterday afternoon. The engagement, however, was looked upon with favor by Mr. Wiley and had nothing to do with his suicide.

BIGELOW CO'S MILLS AT LOWELL AND CLINTON PASS TO HARTFORD CO.

Purchase Price Said to be $9,000,000
— Syndicate Directing Transaction
One of the Strongest Financially in Boston—Prospect That Mill Will Run
Full Capacity

The much talked of disposal of the Bigelow Carpet Co. of this city and Clinton, Mass., was settled, once and for all yesterday when announcement was made from headquarters in Boston to the effect that the deal had been consummated and that Hartford, Conn., would head the company. Perkins & Co., of New York will be selling agents for the new organization. The new organization that has acquired the name, good will, and business of the Bigelow Carpet Co. will be known hereafter as the Bigelow Carpet corporation, organized under Massachusetts laws with a capital issued at once amounting to $5,500,000 with more capital authorized but not issued. Of the stock issued $3,000,000 will be preferred at a dividend rate of 6 per cent. The balance will be common stock but at the present time none of this has been issued.

The Bigelow Carpet Co. was purchased for a sum approximating $9,000,000 and the new capital issued is less than $7,000,000. It is stated that the syndicate operating on the stocks was the most powerful and best equipped of any formed in Boston. It represented nearly all the leading and largest bond houses in Boston.

R. P. Perkins, it was announced, will be the new president and Alvin D. Higgins of Thompsonville, Conn., will be the vice president. H. E. Wadeley, at present agent for the Bigelow Carpet Co., will be retained as agent for the new company.

The relation of the Hartford Carpet Co. in this deal is not entirely clear as yet, but it is certain that to date there is no amalgamation or consolidation, in fact whatever may ultimately result, Hartford men will assume official positions at the head of the corporation and will bring to it the experience in carpet business which is expected to keep the mills running steadily six days a week. Several of the old directors will also be included in the new directorate.

It was announced yesterday that payment will be made today at the Second National bank of Boston to directors presenting their certificates. The Bigelow Carpet company began business on 1849 when a co-partnership was formed under the firm name of H. S. and F. E. Bigelow, for the manufacture of Brussels carpets at Clinton, Mass., the company using the remarkable power loom invented in 1827 by E. B. Bigelow. In 1851 the company incorporated as the Bigelow Carpet Co. The company has been under the management of members of the families of the Messrs. Bigelow and Henry P. Fairbanks. In 1899 it acquired the property of the Lowell Carpet Co. of this city, which was established in 1828 and the combined property has since been manufacturing Jacquard, Brussels, Wilton and axminster carpets.

The police claim, has been on a drunk for several days, was sent to the Lowell jail for 10 days to sober off. Dennis H. Donovan for drunkenness was committed to the common jail for four months.

POLICE COURT CASES

JOSEPH FOUNTAINE HAD JEWELRY IN HIS POCKETS WHEN ARRESTED
Joseph F. Casey pleaded not guilty before Associate Justice Fisher in police court this forenoon to being a vagrant in the town of Tewksbury. Officer Farmer said that he arrested the prisoner last night as a result of a complaint that Casey has been in the habit of sleeping in a barn. Defendant said that he was out of work and went to Tewksbury to labor on a farm and occasionally slept in a barn but did not realize that he was bothering anyone. He said that he bought his meals at a farmhouse a short distance from Tewksbury Centre. He was found guilty and sent to the state farm at Bridgewater.

Had Valuable Jewelry
Joseph Fountaine was arrested last evening near Monument square by Patrolman Regan who found the man in an intoxicated condition. When Fountaine was taken to the patrol box, he drew several razors and a gold watch from his pocket and attempted to pass the articles to a bystander. Supt. Welch asked that the case be continued until Wednesday as he believed some person would claim the articles. The court granted the continuance.

Charles H. Green has been drinking quite heavily of late according to the testimony of his wife and son in court today. However, the defendant promised to take the pledge this afternoon, and his Honor imposed a suspended sentence of one month in jail.

Anthony Clements of Westford, who was in court yesterday morning and promised to keep out of Lowell in the future, was sent to the state farm for failing to live up to the terms of his probation. John McFee was sent to the same institution. John O'May, who

on Reported Wrong Doing —
Arrangements for Peace Conference With Carranza

MEXICO CITY, July 24.—Another long conference between President Carbajal and the Brazilian minister was held last night. The subject discussed was the peace conference which it is believed will be held soon between Carbajal and Carranza delegates.

President Carbajal has ordered an investigation of the financial methods of the Huerta regime in reply to the public rumors of possible wrong-doing.

THE ANTI-TRUST PROGRAM CANAL TO OPEN AUG. 15

NOW OCCUPIES ATTENTION OF
SENATE WITH FIGHT OVER
JONES' ENDED

WASHINGTON, July 24.—With the bitter fight in the senate over the confirmation of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago, President Wilson's nominee for the federal reserve board, ended, senators today were breathing a sigh of relief that the prolonged contest was over and were preparing to settle down to practically uninterrupted consideration of the administration's anti-trust program. Belief on the part of President Wilson that the program might be endangered were the fight continued was responsible for the withdrawal of the nomination. The contest had delayed consideration of anti-trust legislation.

With the Jones case out of the way, democratic leaders in the senate today were determined to press to a conclusion the anti-trust program and bring congress to adjournment at the earliest possible moment. To that end the interstate trade commission bill, already before the senate, was to be taken up in earnest and pressed until a vote is reached. After its passage, the Clayton anti-trust and the railway securities bill were to be disposed of. These three measures constituting the entire anti-trust program were now before the senate.

ATTRACTED BY SCREAMS

Hotel Manager Rushed to Room and Found Man Dying—Attempted Murder and Suicide

BROCKTON, July 24.—John O'Brien, manager of the Hotel Victoria, 10 West Elm street, attracted by screams last night, ran to a room and found there Miss Mary Fielding, aged 28, of Taunton, and John L. Butler, aged 45, of Lynn, both suffering from severe cuts in the wrist.

Both were removed to the Brockton hospital, where Butler's name is on the dangerous list. He is charged by the police with attempted murder.

The evidence the police found in the room and the story told to them by Miss Fielding led them to think that the shattering of a romance had caused Butler to desire to end the life of himself and of his companion simultaneously.

Miss Fielding told the police that Butler, whom she met at Newport, had been paying her attention for about a year. Recently on learning he was married she says she begged him to leave his attentions.

Coming to Taunton yesterday afternoon, her story goes on, he persuaded her to accompany him to a restaurant in Brockton to supper, then in the hotel where both were found wounded.

At the hotel Miss Fielding said she drank some whiskey offered her by Butler and shortly afterwards fell asleep. She described being awakened by a pain in her left wrist which she found cut and bleeding.

Butler was found unconscious by the hotel manager and covered with blood. His left wrist was almost severed, evidently with a razor found lying nearby. In the same room the police say they found on a copy of a paper of which Butler acknowledged the ownership. They also found a bottle marked poison. The contents will be analyzed. It is the police theory that Butler from this bottle dropped the whiskey which Miss Fielding says he gave her.

The hospital authorities say Butler's wound from a severed artery is such that if he survives he will lose the use of his left hand for life.

Before living in Lynn Butler was a resident of Taunton. He is a member of the Taunton lodge of Elks and of the Newport lodge of Moose.

The condition of Miss Fielding in the Brockton hospital is not considered serious. The police found a letter in the hotel room written by Butler's wife, pleading for him to come home and indicating that he had been absent from home for several weeks.

CHAIRMAN OF NEW YORK REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE SUES COL. ROOSEVELT FOR ALLEGED LIBEL

OYSTER BAY, July 24.—The obligation to appear in court and defend himself against a $50,000 libel suit begun by William Barnes, Jr., was imposed on Col. Roosevelt last night with the serving on him of the papers in the case.

A copy of the complaint was handed to the ex-president by James S. Y. Ivins of the law firm which is acting for Mr. Barnes. According to Mr. Ivins, it rests with Col. Roosevelt whether the suit will be tried before election or delayed, perhaps, two years.

Mr. Ivins, after meeting Mr. Barnes in the republican club in New York and receiving the papers, motored to Oyster Bay in a downpour of rain. The colonel had learned that the lawyers were on the way from New York and hastened out to meet him. Without awaiting Mr. Ivins' explanation of his visit he held out his hand and greeted him cordially.

"I'm very sorry," Mr. Ivins began, "to disturb you in a matter of this kind," he said, "but I should like to see you in expressions of regret."

"That's all right," he said. He invited Mr. Ivins into his library, where he took the papers. The men talked for a few minutes and then Mr. Ivins left. Mr. Barnes' name was not mentioned by either, and Col. Roosevelt did not give the papers so much as a glance. He showed his visitor to the door and shook hands with him again as he left.

Mr. Ivins said that Mr. Barnes, when he was looking over the papers in New York, remarked: "Mr. Roosevelt last year did the very unbusiness thing of suing for libel a Michigan editor who called him a drunkard. I am simply following the precedent he set."

Mr. Ivins said that Mr. Barnes was desirous of having the suit come to trial before the premiere in September. If Col. Roosevelt wished to adopt obstructive tactics, he said, he could delay the trial for 18 months or two years, but if he wished the issue settled speedily the case should be brought into the courts in short order.

Col. Roosevelt declined to say which course he would pursue, preserving silence until he had consulted his attorney.

Mr. Barnes' suit is based on Colonel Roosevelt's statement of Wednesday night attacking Mr. Barnes and denouncing the candidacy of Harvey D. Bingham for the nomination of governor at the republican primaries.

Summer Hints to Mothers Who 'Care'

Seasonable Advice on the Health of Children in Hot Weather.

It is well that mothers be advised and cautioned during the hot months. No one realizes as much as mothers do the danger to their children's health and more especially their stomachs. See that the child is cool and kept away from the sun. Be careful that the fruit is ripe and that the child learns to eat the food, indifferent to much as is in the habit of doing it of fruit for several days.

It is quite natural that under these conditions there will be some distress, indigestion or summer diarrhea. It may be accompanied by a cold or by a fever. The child can be kept on for several days, as a small dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin on retiring and by morning the bowels will move and the trouble will vanish. The expectorated mucus, in this remedy will tone the stomach and enrich the blood, and the child will feel his usual self again. Many families like that of Mr. William Weber, 22 Edwin Place, Buffalo, N. Y., who uses it for four breath and constipation and John W. Wacker, Knoxville, Ky., who finds it val-

SUPPRESS STRIKE RIOTS KILLED BY STONE

Stern Measures Taken by the St. Petersburg Authorities—The Strikers Stone Cars

ST. PETERSBURG, July 23.—Stern measures were taken by the authorities early today to suppress the strike riots which have been in progress for several days in the streets of the capital. Considerable leniency was shown during the presence here of President Poincare of France but immediately after his departure six regiments arrived to assist in suppressing the disorders. They brought with them a number of quick firing machine guns. A squadron of the newly arrived cavalry at once came into contact with a crowd of strikers charging and dispersing them.

The street car service was restored today but the strikers hurled volleys of stones at the cars and drivers. Several demonstrations were attempted but the manifestations were quickly dispersed by cossacks.

The police fired a few shots at the windows of private houses from which stones had been thrown.

One significant feature of the strike is that the movement has been joined by many government employees.

One Man Dead and Two Wounded as Result of Fight With Boys

PITTSBURGH, July 21.—One man was instantly killed and two others were wounded probably fatally as the result of the throwing of a stone by a small boy in East Carnegie late last night. The dead, George Kunkle, 27, Jugular vein severed. Injured: Fred Hufnagel, 18, stabbed in the left lung; George Reitz, 20, severe cuts in back and breast.

Two men said to be Italians were walking in Idlewood avenue when one of them was hit by a stone. After accusing two small boys they left, but later returned with three friends and attacked the boys. Kunkle, Hufnagel and Reitz interfered and in the fight which followed and Kunkle was killed and his companions severely wounded.

CHELMSFORD

Miss Emma Brown, who has held the position of treasurer of the Ladies Benevolent society of the St. E. church of West Chelmsford, was tendered a reception yesterday afternoon. The affair was held in the vestry of the

NORTH CHELMSFORD

James Walker, the bustling manager of St. John's parish picnic and his assistant, Henry Miller, report that all plans have been completed for the great event to be held tomorrow at Nabnasset grove. With a fair day, the largest crowd in the history of the parish is expected to attend, and judging from advanced sales of tickets many friends from all the surrounding towns and from Lowell will be in attendance.

The leading topic at the post office in the evening for the past week has been the red hot ball game scheduled between the St. John's T. A. society and the strong South Ends of Lowell; as these two teams are great rivals and have a large following the outcome is being looked forward to with unusual interest.

The committee in charge of the mid-way has some new attractions to offer, while the sporting committee promises that attractions scheduled will take place. Valuable prizes will be awarded the winners. Dancing will be enjoyed in the evening immediately after the supper to be served by the ladies of the parish under the supervision of Mrs. James Walker and the Misses Theresa Ready and Hannah Cummings.

BILLERICA TOWN MEETING

May Appropriate $4000 for Town Farm—New Postoffice at Centre—Auto for Highways Dept.

A special town meeting will be held in Billerica on the evening of Wednesday, August 5, and according to predictions there will be something interesting from the time that Moderator Barnes calls the meeting to order until it is adjourned later in the evening. For some time the selectmen have been considering calling a special meeting but they have just agreed upon a date and at a meeting to be held in the town hall tonight the warrant will be made out and all arrangements completed.

The calling of the special town meeting was necessitated by the action of the voters at the last annual meeting when they voted to appoint a committee to investigate matters at the Billerica town farm and report at a special meeting to be called during the year. Since it was announced that the voters were to convene this summer several town officials have presented other articles that will appear in the warrant and be acted upon on August 5.

The committee appointed to look into the town farm matter has thoroughly inspected the buildings and property owned by the town and it is understood will make several recommendations when the time comes. The farm is in better condition at the present time than it has been for many years. It is claimed, and credit for the many improvements is due the overseers of the poor, who have full charge of the institution. The land about the farm is in very good condition and is producing as good crops as for several years past.

During the spring and summer, the building has been painted, papered and repaired while all the rooms of the house have been given attention. However, the conditions about the institution do not comply with the terms of the state board of charities in every respect and it will be necessary to make many other improvements to meet the approval of the state. With this view in mind the town farm committee has sent an article to the board of selectmen to be inserted in the warrant to see if the town will vote appropriate the sum of $4000 for the purpose of installing electric lights, water, heat, etc., so that the building will be up to date in every respect. The committee members are: Warren Holden, a member of the board of overseers of the poor; Thomas F. Sheridan, a former selectman, and Frank L. Day.

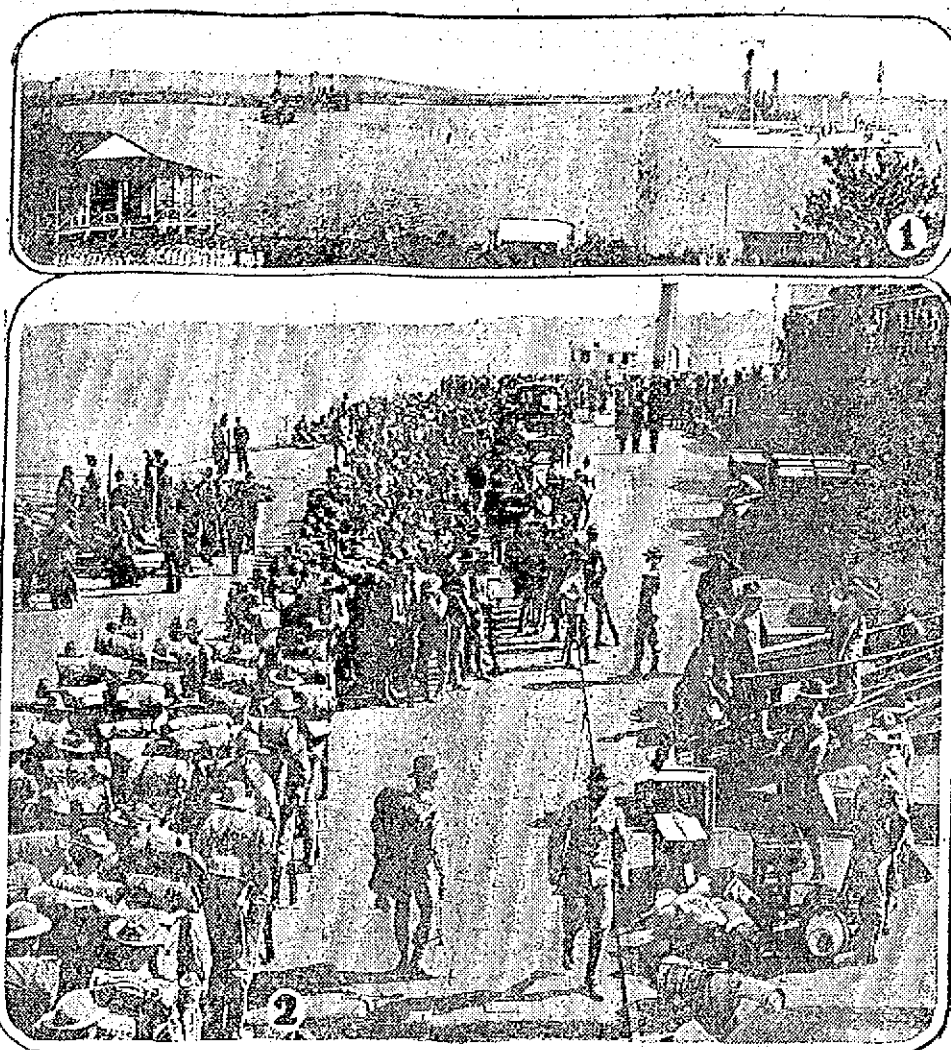

Fire Whistle

At the town meeting the fire department will ask for $150 to install a fire whistle at the Boston & Maine repair shops on High street. It is proposed to divide the town into sections and have each section numbered so that it could be distinguished in case of fire. The whistle will be operated in the central office of the telephone company at Billerica and arrangements will be made so that the telephone operator can sound a certain box number by pressing a button in the exchange. This scheme will undoubtedly meet with the approval of the majority of the voters as there is considerable confusion at the present time when a fire bell is sounded in the town.

Should the whistle be installed the B. & M. railroad will furnish steam from the repair shops and will keep the apparatus in condition so that the town's work will be done when the whistle is put in.

Another article that has caused considerable interest about the town is one in which Highway Surveyor Edgar P. Twombly asks that the town appropriate $1000 to purchase an automobile for the highway department. It seems that Mr. Twombly has gangs of men working in different parts of the town

UNITED STATES MARINES ARE READY TO LAND IN HAITI IF PEACE IS NOT QUICKLY RESTORED

1-GUANTANAMO BAY. 2-MARINES LEAVING FOR GUANTANAMO

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Captain Russell of the battleship South Carolina, now at Cape Haitien, has announced that United States marines will be landed to bring about peace in Haiti if order is not restored at once. Secretary Daniels estimates that about 1000 marines will be available for Haiti—300 at Guantanamo, 400 to go on the Hancock from Hampton Roads and 200 at San Domingo and Haiti. British and German interests are heavy Haitian creditors, and recently Germany demanded participation in any move by the United States to control Haitian customs.

and he believes that he should have an automobile to supervise the work.

New Post Office at Centre

In view of the prospects for a great increase in the population of Billerica in the near future Postmaster T. Frank Lyons has purchased a lot of land on Main street, near Andover street, and will immediately set to work to build a new post office building. The location is the most central that could be secured in the village and the new post office will be handy to both pedestrians and travelers as it will be located on the main road from Boston to Lowell.

The contract for the building has been awarded to Joseph T. Thomas of Lowell and bidders will be set immediately. The new structure promises to relieve the congested conditions which have prevailed at the Billerica postoffice for some time past. Mr. Lyons hopes to be in his new office before the cold weather arrives.

B. & M. Shops

The Boston & Maine Railroad company has installed a new system regarding the train crews employed on shifters at the Billerica car shops. The work has recently been done by crews from Boston, but it is understood that, because of opposition from local engineers, who are reported not to have had sufficient work for themselves, the work was transferred over to Lowell crews.

New Macadam Road

The selectmen are now prepared to sign the contract for the new macadam road from Burlington to Billerica, which will be built at a cost of approximately $7500. The town, county and state will each contribute $2500 toward the cost. It is believed that the work upon the new road will be started in another week under the direction of Highway Surveyor Twombly.

Water Department

The water department has a crew of about 20 men at work extending the water mains on Arcadia road in the Pinchurst district. It will be recalled that this work was tied up for some time on account of the selectmen and water board being unable to reach an agreement relative to the cost. The laying of the mains is in charge of Supt. Stowers.

Ladies of G. A. R. Entertained

A large number of members of the John Patten circle, Ladies of the G. A. R., attended the meeting and garden party held at the home of Mrs. Susan Jacquot on Wednesday afternoon. The afternoon was spent about the spacious lawn where refreshments were served by Mrs. Jacquot, assisted by Miss Jennie Wood, Miss Mary Wilkins and Mrs. Sarah L. Murphy. Late in the afternoon the members returned home very much pleased with the enjoyable time afforded them.

Mrs. Irving Still Away

The Billerica police are still trying to learn of the whereabouts of Mrs. Chandler Irving, the young married woman who so suddenly disappeared from her home in Billerica a week ago Monday. The husband and mother of the young woman are very anxious about her and fear for her safety.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

Next Sunday will be the feast of St. Anne, a feast of the Catholic church, observed especially by the French-Canadians, wherever they are located. As is well known, the shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre, in Canada, is known to Catholics, the world-over, in connection with the coming feast local Catholics of all nationalities will read with interest an account which appeared in the old Sun, of a remarkable cure that took place at St. Joseph's church, in Littleton, on the feast of St. Anne, quarter of a century ago.

The old Sun reads as follows: "On the feast of St. Anne, last year, we recorded the remarkable cure of Mrs. Hanel of Centralville who had been a helpless cripple for 32 years. Her cure attracted wide notice and the devotees to St. Anne were renewed with greater fervor than ever. Last Friday was the feast of St. Anne and it brought another cure as remarkable as that of the preceding year.

"Frank Paris, of 12 1/2 Race street, was almost entirely cured of paralysis at St. Joseph's after devotions to St. Anne. Mr. Paris is a native of Three Rivers, Canada and is 45 years of age, having been a resident of Lowell for 22 years. He is a hard-working citizen and has a family of two boys and a girl. Mr. Paris was employed at the boarding room of the Lawrence corporation for nine years, up to the time of his illness two years ago. One Sunday about two years ago, he walked to Fort Hill park and back apparently in good health and the following morning rose early to light the fire, when he fell suddenly to the floor, his left side being completely paralyzed. Since that time he has been unable to move either the arm or leg, carrying a cane with which to walk, as he was obliged to take a step with one foot and then gradually drag the other foot up to the first and then proceed as before. Last Friday was the feast of St. Anne, the mother of the Blessed Virgin, and on that day a novena held in her honor at St. Joseph's church came to a close. Mr. Paris was a devout attendant at all the services, his intention being that he might once more be able to walk. It was with great difficulty he reached the church as his home was about a quarter of a mile away. Last Wednesday he felt somewhat relieved but was unable to move the paralyzed arm and leg. Friday morning he started from his home at 5:30 for the St. Joseph's mission. At communion he reached the altar rail by the aid of his cane and after receiving communion he felt that he could walk unassisted. Placing his cane within the altar rail to the surprise of the great throng, he freely moved the limb that for two years had been powerless and walked without assistance to the last pew in the edifice. Here he spent some time in thanksgiving."

"King" Kelly's Trick Shot

While watching Babe De Groff going to the right field fence after a hard hit ball recently an old time fan sitting beside me remarked: "Two had he hasn't a ball in his blouse like Mike Kelly had years ago and said of this run." Then he started to tell me the whole story of how the mighty Kelly once robbed Big Sam Thompson of the Phillies of a homer in the old South End grounds. When he had finished I remarked: "If it wasn't for the slats at the top of the fence he couldn't have gotten away with it."

"Oh, then you have read something about it," he said.

"Yes," I observed, "I read a lot about it, and I also saw the play."

"Go on; you were only a kid when that happened," said the fan in disbelief.

But it was only quarter of a century ago, next Monday, to be accurate, and the old Sun had the following reference to the incident:

"Last Monday, Kelly stole a game from the Philadelphia club. Two Philadelphia men were on bases when Sam Thompson sent a ball over the right field fence for a home run. The writer was sitting quite near the place where the ball disappeared and had a good view of it until it dropped over the fence. All the players saw the ball go over and Hallman, Myers and Thompson started leisurely around the bases. Trickey Mike Kelly picked up another ball from the field and threw it into the diamond and only one run of the three that Philadelphia had earned was allowed. The Boston newspapers claim that Thompson's hit did not go over the fence. It did go over and Philadelphia was robbed of the game although it took ten innings to complete the steal."

As I mentioned some time ago, referring to the old South End grounds and Sullivan's tower, an addition composed of slats several inches apart was put at the top of the original right field fence to obstruct the view of those in the tower. It was seldom that a batter happened along who could swing the ball over that exceptionally high and long distance fence when he wasn't behind the bat, was well aware of the fact. On this particular day as the ball soared high in the air toward the top of the fence, way inside the foul line, Mike chased to the fence, and as he neared it, while still looking heavenward, tossed his cap into the air, feeling that the ball had either gone over or through the top slats and out of the grounds, and the runners slowed up and took their time completing the circuit. But for Mike continued to look at the top of the fence and then suddenly dropped to the ground at the bottom of the fence and quickly jumped up, turned around and to the surprise of all, tossed a ball home, intercepting two of the three runners. There was a mighty kick, but Kelly stoutly maintained that the ball stuck momentarily between the top slats and then dropped down inside the fence and that he had immediately recovered it. The counter-claim was made that Kelly had a ball concealed in his blouse and at the psychological moment produced it. A protest was entered and a hearing given, but if I remember rightly justice was successfully handed and the game stood. Kelly was full of tricksy plays. Back in 1895, I believe it was, the year that Kelly went to Cincinnati, I saw him pull off the "run him off" stunt that has been worked many times since then, even as late as Mattie Hickey's time right here in Lowell, but seldom with success. Cincinnati was playing Louisville at Louisville and our old-time favorite, Jim Shinnick, formerly of the Lowell, was with Louisville playing the inning. I was visiting in Louisville and went to the game as Tim's guest. With a runner on second and Kelly on first a double steal was attempted and the Louisville catcher by a good throw to third caught the first runner between the lines. The infield closed in on him and started chasing him and forth and of course it was a foregone conclusion that he'd be tagged. While they were running him back and forth Kelly tossed second and quietly started for third, going by the army of fielders and getting

MARINES AT GUANTANAMO AND BATTLESHIP AT HAITI TO ACT IF REVOLUTION KEEPS UP

1. MARINES' CAMP AT GUANTANAMO. 2. CAPT. RUSSELL. 3. SOUTH CAROLINA.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—(Press) By European powers, the United States government has about lost its patience with the various elements in the republics of Haiti and Santo Domingo and will demand a restoration of peace or threaten armed intervention. Already large discretionary orders have been given to Captain Russell of the battleship South Carolina, now at Cape Haitien, but final decision as to whether force is to be used by the American government has been deferred. Reports from Cape Haitien of further fighting, with added danger to foreigners, were regarded as forecasting prompt action by the marines now concentrating at Guantanamo. Not only have the military forces in Haiti refused to heed the warnings of the American government that fighting should cease and properly be protected, but dispatches from Captain Eberle of the cruiser Washington, at Puerto Plata, Santo Domingo, also reported the failure of attempts to settle the Dominican revolution by diplomacy. Secretary Daniels decided that the additional 400 marines to be sent to Guantanamo, Cuba, for service at Haiti would be embarked from Norfolk on the transport Hancock, now on the way to Hampton Roads from Guantanamo. There are now more than 500 marines at Guantanamo or on American warships in Haitian and Dominican waters.

almost to the base before he was discovered. A cry went up from the catcher who was backing up at third and the ball was thrown to him, but Kelly slid in before being tagged while the other runner, having kept the bunch occupied until he saw Kelly within reaching distance of third deliberately started out for the bench without waiting to be tagged. On the kick that was made the umpire decided that the moment that Kelly had tagged second the other runner could not go back and was virtually out and that had Kelly been tagged both men would have been out. The baseball writers at the time mentioned it as something entirely new in baseball.

Doctors Held Outing

The old Sun says: "The Middlesex North Medical society held their annual outing at Tyngs Island, Wednesday. In the dance hall, Dr. O. A. Willard read a paper on cholera infantum, and some of its prevailing aspects as seen in this city at the present time. Dr. J. A. Gage, city physician, made extended remarks and read a message from Dr. J. B. Fields, chairman of the board of health, having in view the awakening of some means to lessen the death rate in this city by cholera infantum and proposing measures with that object. Dr. H. A. Johnson, Dr. H. R. Bissett, Dr. Fisher of the Tewksbury almshouse and Dr. Prescott of Nashua, made remarks. The society also listened to an interesting account of recent visits to hospitals in London and Paris, by Dr. J. C. Irish, and then sat down to supper. A game of baseball was played and there were other amusements. One female physician saw the fun."

The Sun neglected to mention the name of the lone representative of the fair sex. During the last week in July, 25 years ago out of a total death list of 30, 10 were due to cholera infantum and all through the summer months the average was maintained. Last week's death list of 17 falls to reveal a single death from the dread disease that once proved fatal to so many little ones.

Old Time Trotting Race

While the gentlemen who at present are trying with considerable success to revive an interest in harness racing are organized under the name of the Lowell Trotting club, their predecessors of 25 years ago were known as the Lowell Trotting association, though they didn't harp on it, nor even the ponies. Last quarter of a century ago the Lowell Trotting association held a meeting on the Fair Grounds and the old Sun reported it as follows:

"The races under the auspices of the Lowell Trotting association, postponed from Saturday occurred at the Fair Grounds, Monday afternoon. About 400 people were present, and each class attracted attention, as only Lowell horses were admitted. There were three entries in the three minute class, 13ve heats were trotted and it was nearly dark when the event came to a close. The summary: '3 minute class: best 3 heats in 5; purse $50, divided. Henry Conway's 'Dandy' 2 1 3 1 1; G. F. Atkins' 'Roansey' 2 1 1 1 2; Daniel Crowley's 'Waco Star' 3 1 2 3 3. In the 2:40 class there were three entries. The summary: 'Purse, $50 for 2:40 horses, best 3 in 5. P. Lannan's 'Col. Stevens' 1 1 1 1 1; Stephen Gregg's 'Pickkerel' 2 2 3 3 3; G. F. Atkins' 'Richmond' 3 2 2 3 2. "In the half mile running race, there were four entries. J. J. Hogan's 'Brown Benny' won the first heat in 1:05, but the remaining heats were won by J. W. Paradise' 'Spot,' ridden by Dr. McCann."

"No, no, no! Not Dr. A. E. A. McCann; but the late Dr. McCann, who was a well known veterinary of days gone by and of slender proportions. "Pickkerel" Some Huzae

Of the horses mentioned in the above summary the only name I recognize is that of "Pickkerel" and some years ago I wrote the life and adventures of "Pickkerel" in The Sun, but I have forgotten the facts and the date. I recall, however, that one winter's night long ago the late "Doc" Evans, once "King of the Ice Track" in Lowell and a trainer, driver and promoter of harness events in this city, blew into The Sun sanctum. It was winter and Doc was reasonably arrayed in an overcoat that was fearfully and wonderfully made. Whether the material was fur, skin or hide I couldn't tell, and to conceal my ignorance, facetiously remarked: "What kind of a coat is that, Doc, an eel-skin?"

"No, but you made a pretty good guess. It's 'Pickkerel' skin," replied the Ice King. "Get it through the ice?" I ventured. "No, through the rendering company."

"That's what I came down about," continued "Doc." "We're going to open the Ice Track on the other tomorrow and the fact reminded me of almanacs and weather reports to get a line on what kind of a winter was in ice trotter in his day that ever came around here. Raised him myself up country and brought him to Lowell. Here's his picture" and "Doc" drew forth from under the coat a photo of the old horse, with himself holding the halter. "This is what's left of him," and "Doc" mournfully shook the coat. "I wanted a souvenir of the old fellow and when he died I had him skinned and then had the skin tanned and made into a coat."

Racing on Ice

One cannot hear the mention of the name of "Doc" Evans, without recalling the good old days of ice racing in Lowell, that is, if he was interested in horse racing. Just about Labor day every year, "Doc" would spend days in the library looking up almanacs and weather reports to get a line on what kind of a winter was in

TO BATTLE FOR REPUBLICAN NOMINATION FOR GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK

ALBANY, N. Y., July 24.—The New York state gubernatorial fight is bound to interest the nation this fall even more than it generally does. The chief political significance is the part Col. Roosevelt is playing. He has come out with a flat endorsement of ex-Senate Senator Harvey D. Hinman, who has announced himself as a candidate for the nomination at the republican primaries as an anti-Barnes and independent candidate. Hinman will try to beat out District Attorney Charles E. Smith, of Albany, for the nomination. Whittman will be the standard republican organization's man. If Hinman should get the nomination and win at the election it would be a big feather in Roosevelt's cap. If the colonel should meet with any kind of success with his progressive candidates in the states it would strengthen him materially for the 1916 presidential race.

YOUNG MAN FROM PHILADELPHIA
SHOOT OUT WEST

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 21. Bert Brent, aged 27, who arrived from Philadelphia, was arrested on a downtown street yesterday charged with shooting at the feet of pedestrians to make them dance.

Brent, who was dressed picturesquely in leather "chaps" and armed with a revolver, a "back-studded" holster, expressed surprise when Judge Kennedy in the north side municipal court informed him that such actions were not customary in Kansas City and fined him $50.

"I thought everybody carried a gun and I thought the shooting out here in the west," he said as he was led away.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

PIMPLES ON FACE CHED AND BURNED

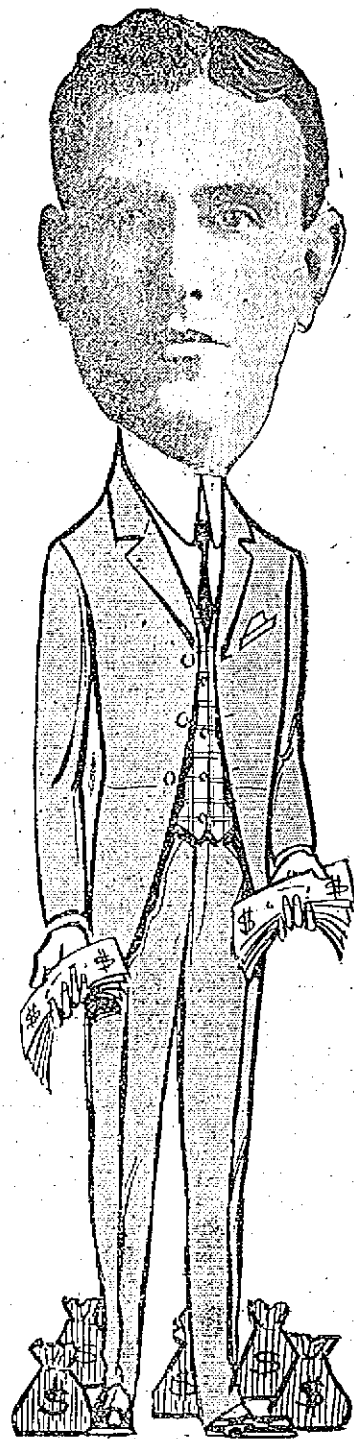

Face Dry and Scaly. Distracted With Discomfort. Was a Slight. Couldn't Sleep. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Face Without a Mark.

So, Gardiner, Me.—"Last spring my face began to break out with red pimples and after washing would be dry and scaly. Some of the pimples would have a white head and others would be purplish red. They would itch and burn and I was distracted with the discomfort. I was a sight and could not sleep nights.

"I tried a number of remedies but my face grew worse. I used Salve and Ointment but they did not do any good. At last I remembered of my mother using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment with good success, so I thought I would try them. I sent for a sample and even the first trial did me so much good that at once got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of the Cuticura Ointment and began to use them. I washed my face with hot water and Cuticura Soap, then applied the Cuticura Ointment. The relief was immediate. I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and in six weeks my face was without even a mark." (Signed) Mrs. M. L. Joy, Fort St., 1914.

In the care of baby's skin and hair, Cuticura Soap is the mother's favorite. Not only is it unrivaled in purity and refreshing fragrance, but its gentle emollient properties are usually sufficient to allay minor irritations, remove redness, roughness and chafing, soothe sensitive conditions, and promote skin and hair health generally. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

I Have Bought 48 Pieces of Blue Serge

In my day, I have done many things to astound the clothing trade of that part of this country in which I operate. I believe that even my competitors will admit that much—to deny it would be to assail the reputation of woolen mills famous throughout the civilized world:

But the event of my career, I announce today. As the high cost of living hits you in your household, so it strikes us in business. Everything we touch is costing a great deal more. Therefore, to equal the bargains of my old days is no easy task.

I am going to place on sale beginning today, this buy of 48 whole pieces of Blue Serge that will gratify any man's desire for shade, quality and weave; the weight runs from 12 to 16 ozs. to the yard, suitable for summer, spring or winter. Colors mostly plain blue, about six pieces run on the shadow and pencil stripes. I honestly believe this lot superior to any serge I ever offered at my special $15.00 price, and when I say that you know I have sold serges for $15.00 that were altogether advertising stunts rather than in and out business transactions. This lot is sold for advertising purposes. Buy one and send in your friends.

SEE MY WINDOW. I have reserved one whole window for this display. Some whole bolts, some half cuts and suit patterns. These goods were not made specially for me, the mill made them for any man with the ready money to buy them. I want to keep my help busy through this dull season, July and August. I want my old customers to take advantage of this sale, and I want to put four hundred new names on my books in the next two weeks.

MY GUARANTEE of fit, workmanship and linings goes on this sale as it has in the past. If a garment fades or my cutter slips up in fitting you, I will make you a new garment absolutely free.

TAUNTON TRUSTEES QUIT

THREE DESIGN FROM INSANE HOSPITAL BOARD—PAID COMMISSION TO TAKE OVER BUTTS

BOSTON, July 24.—Three of the seven trustees of the Thunton state insane hospital yesterday sent their resignations to Gov. Walsh. They are Henry R. Spedman of Brookline, chairman; Lloyd E. Chamberlain of Brockton, and James P. Francis of New Bedford. No reason for these resignations was given.

Mr. Stedman's term was to have expired this year. Judge Chamberlain's terms in 1920 and Mr. Francis' term in 1916.

The management of the insane hospitals of the state has been discussed considerably in Beacon Hill this year in one form or another, and during the last days of the session of the legislature a bill was passed creating a new paid board of insanity of three members. This latter board has not yet been appointed by Gov. Walsh, but is likely to be named at any time.

It has been well known since Gov. Walsh took office that he desired a decided change in the system of controlling the state insane, charitable and correctionable institutions. In the matter of the insane hospitals he succeeded in securing the passage of the legislation providing for the paid board, the effect of which will be to take from the hands of the unpaid boards all matters connected with each institution certain powers which they have long enjoyed and turn them over to the new board.

The other members of the Taunton Insane hospital trustees are Charles N. Cain of Taunton, Simeon Borden of Fall River, Elizabeth C. M. Gifford of East Boston and Margaret Smith of Taunton.

ISOLATION HOSPITAL

Manchester, N. H., has an isolation hospital problem so very like our own that any reference to it is of special interest to the Lowell public. It seems that several months ago some of the leading citizens, including the inadequate provisions of the New Hampshire capital against contagious disease or other such emergency advocated the creation of a city hospital suited to the needs of the times and suited in particular to the needs of Manchester. The matter was taken up by the press and within a short time there was a very general agitation for such a hospital. Then the trouble that we have known so well in Lowell broke out. No sooner was one site mentioned than selfishly interested people either objected to it or offered substitute sites. In the end the project was itself out and the disgusted supporters of the scheme in the matter drop.

Now, however, there is a revival of interest in the proposed erection of a contagious or isolation hospital, owing to a recommendation contained in the annual report of the board of health of that city. While the citizens were wrangling about a site last winter and while the municipal authorities were beating about the bush, a scarlet fever epidemic broke out similar to that which is still spoken of in this city. Manchester also had some experience with smallpox. The recommendation of its board of health, therefore, comes at this time with especial force, and it is probable that the hustling city will not long ignore a question, the importance of which has been only too well proved.

The board of health besides recommending the creation of an isolation hospital also recommended a $50,000 appropriation for the purpose—far more, it will be remembered, than the amount which would have given Lowell a modern and scientific building. The Manchester Leader, dwelling on this phase of the question, says:

And the $50,000 appropriation which the board proposes to ask for this purpose is not a cent too much. If Manchester needs an isolation hospital, and there is no room for doubt on that point—the needs are a modern, up-to-date, fireproof structure which shall be built with an eye to the future, as well as to immediate needs. The city is growing rapidly; every year sees large increase in population, with a corresponding increase in the chances of serious epidemics. The sum of $50,000 expended now for the provision of a suitable isolation hospital may be the means of saving many times that sum of money, to say nothing of the lives it might save within the next few years. Manchester owes it to herself to make this provision, and to make it in the earliest possible moment.

There is not one argument favorable to a contagious hospital for Manchester which does not apply to Lowell with greater force. Both cities have congested areas where a serious epidemic would have terrible consequences if not checked at its commencement. Both are mill cities with a large alien population and with a great deal of tuberculosis and the other diseases that all progressive states are spending millions to stamp out. Lowell, however, has the greater incentive for a contagious hospital, because of the state demand which provides a penalty each time that the request of the state authorities is refused. At present the probability of such an institution in both Lowell and Manchester is not over brilliant, though arguments to support it are incontrovertible. It will be interesting to see if the Manchester authorities will prove as indifferent as the Lowell authorities and it will be also interesting to see whether this city will have its long-discussed hospital before the Queen City.

WINDOW BREAKING

Owners of property in Lowell know for a certainty that as soon as any building is vacated, the windows are not safe, and that if the building is vacant for any length of time, all windows are sure to be broken. This happens in all sections but more particularly in the densely populated parts of the city. The breaking of street lamps has also become a popular pastime with street boys and the glass in front of the fire alarm boxes is frequently a target for their tendency towards property destruction. In many parts of the city the glass is broken as quickly as it is replaced. As a matter of fact, the destruction of public property is attended with some degree of injury to private property and in many of the best residential sections of the city buildings and fences have been broken, park benches and shrubbery have been damaged, and the reign of juvenile destruction seems to be on its earnest.

This is a condition that cannot be permitted to continue and it could be prevented without a great deal of trouble if the authorities get after the rascally malleous who take an evil delight in wanton destruction. At present there is little satisfaction for the individual who may be out hundreds of dollars by their perilous practices. The breaker of windows or the young ruffian who steals or injures machinery or other property is brought before the juvenile court and sometimes escapes punishment. Occasionally, he is fined and the fine goes to the county while the injured party must bear the loss as pleasantly as he may. While conditions remain as they are, there is not much to discourage the window breaking and other undesirable activities of the hoodlum gangs that infest some sections of the city.

In all probability the laxity which seems to obtain is due to the molting condition of the law which are regarded as a universal failure, that is if they were meant to deter youngsters from committing criminal acts. If their purpose was to rear up a generation of well-behaved, subject to no law and respecting neither public authority nor private right, they had fair to succeed in their regrettable purpose. When the window breaker is regarded by the authorities as a law breaker, there will be less juvenile lawlessness.

TROLLEY ACCIDENTS

The trolley accident at Westport, Conn., two days ago, in which three persons were killed outright and over twenty injured, serves to emphasize the comparative safety of trolley transportation in the summer season as contrasted with train service. In this state alone thousands go on special trolley trips and outings weekly and yet the report of an accident on such an occasion comes but rarely. That this is so is a tribute to the efficiency and caution of the average motorman and conductor, for oftentimes the public is none too cautious or considerate. In the Westport case, it would seem that the wreck was due to the recklessness of the motorman of the picnic train, who put on full speed going down hill in order to pass a trolley freight. He miscalculated, and the cars came together with the above-mentioned results.

As in steam transportation, no set of rules will ensure public safety unless the road officials insist on their recognition by patrons. When large numbers set out for a day's enjoyment, they lose any sense of caution, and it is easy for conductors and motormen to become careless as a result. Railroad employees must observe the greatest personal care on such occasions, but the necessity for safeguarding human life should be always in their mind. When we read of such occurrences as that of Westport the wisdom of the rule which forbids any interference with the motorman becomes very apparent. The public should respect all such regulations, remembering that there is real need for them and that to ignore them may lead to serious consequences.

A PRACTICAL "JOKE"

A few days ago a local undertaker was telephoned to by a woman and told to go to a home in this city for the body of a woman who had just died. As most calls come to undertakers in this manner and as the family of the supposedly deceased was one which had given him charge of burials in the past, he did not hesitate in responding but took his wagon and helper along. In the wagon he took the usual casket or box and everything else connected with embalming and transportation of the dead. On arriving at the house to which he had been directed, he was greeted by the woman whose body he was supposed to get. Seeing his confusion, the woman—who, by the way, is just middle-aged—suspected the truth, and showed evidences of pained surprise that anybody should have been so bereft of a sense of decency as to perpetrate such a horrible parody on a joke.

This instance is by no means unique and there is no doubt that the party responsible for it thinks she did something really funny. Whether the "joke" was meant to be on the undertaker or on the family to which he was sent is not certain, but no sensible person would hesitate for an instant in branding the act as infamous. It is to be hoped that if the police get hold of the facts and of the "joker" some law may be found under which she may be adequately punished.

THE CAILLAUX CASE

From the newspaper accounts of the world-famous Caillaux case it looks as if the romantic people of France regard their courts as a high class vaudeville show—much as we regard our municipal politics, unfortunately. For the past few days Paris has been divided into two camps over the guilt or innocence of the emotional and demure Madame, and her brilliant husband is giving the populace some rare thrills by his Chanticleer struttings, his theatrical self-accommodations, and the tenderness with which he kisses the head that wielded the revolver so well. The farce is beautifully acted and consequently there is a good prospect that Madame will go free to the delight of the romanticists and possibly to the indignation of the latter few who feel that courts were instituted for the furthering of justice. There is every prospect of a duel too, so Paris may have more of the excitement on which it revels.

Strongly contradictory to stories of business depression is the activity now being shown by many of the leading industries in the city. The slight stagnation of a few months ago has almost completely disappeared, mills and factories are running nearly full time and all are apparently preparing for a busy season. The building boom which started in the mills a few years ago still continues, and our myriad wheels are singing a sweet accompaniment to the songs of prosperity.

AMONG THE TOILERS

John Horan of the Federal Shoe Co. is said to be Lowell's strongest man.

Miss Alice Anderson of the Lowell Bleachery is spending the week at Old Orchard beach.

Miss Beatrice Moran of the Stirling mills will spend next week at New Wood, Mass., with relatives.

William Rainey of the Boot mills is planning to spend two weeks at his camp at Simpson pond.

Geo. Plourde, employed at the Bigelow Carpet Co., will spend next week at Newmarket, N. H.

Frank Hale of the Saco-Lowell shops will spend the next two weeks with his family at Wells beach, Me.

Philip Walsh of the Massachusetts mills is staying with relatives at Lynnfield for the week.

Miss Anna McGee of the U. S. Cartridge Co. has returned from a pleasant vacation spent at Revere beach.

The Misses Grace Bradley and Louise Curtis of the Hamilton Manufacturing Co. are stopping at the Christian house, Juniper Point.

Edward O'Neill of the Saco-Lowell office force is spending the week at Old Orchard beach with a party of friends.

Charles Donnelly of the Lowell Bleachery mills has plans completed for his vacation which will be spent at Old Orchard beach in August.

Michael Fenton, formerly employed at the Middlesex mills, has accepted a position with the Northern Waste Co. of Warrenville.

William Coleman of the Appleton Manufacturing Co. has returned from Buzzards, Mass., where he spent a restful week with relatives.

William Clark and Robert McManus, employees at the Boot mills, have returned from a business trip to Haverhill.

Thomas Morgan of the American Hide & Leather Co. is contemplating spending a week or two in New York in the very near future.

Tomorrow will be the big day for the employees of the U. S. Bunting Co. A hustling committee has everything in readiness and state that tomorrow's outing will be the last ever.

Lawrence Martin, one of the skilled employees of the American Safety Tread Co. is busily engaged at city hall laying a desk covering in the office of the commissioner of finance.

Jack Clayton of the Bigelow Carpet Co. has developed into some baseball fan. He still has confidence in the Lowell team and expects before long to see the team topping the league. We advise your confidence, Mr. Clayton.

Thomas Coxton of the Northern Waste Co. will spend the month of August at Ballardvale. Mr. Coxton owns a spacious camp on the Shaw-shueen and he never fails to spend the month of August there.

It was erroneously stated in yesterday's editions that the Bigelow Carpet Co. would close down its plant Saturday noon for two weeks. The shut-down will be for one week only for the purpose of taking stock.

John Scanlon and John Carroll, employees of the Northern Waste Co., are quite expert in the gentle art of wrestling. It is said that they are preparing an act for the stage and will probably be seen at one of the local playhouses in the winter.

The Panama canal will open to the commerce of the world on August 15, and the announcement is made that connected with the event there will be no formality. Somehow, the proper simplicity of the occasion is more consistent and significant than the great international celebration, which could be more impressive than the simple opening of a gate through a continent, allowing the ships of all the earth to pass from ocean to ocean.

Edmond Sicard, an organizer for the American Federation of Labor in Lowell, says that the condition of organized labor in this city is fair but that of the unorganized is very poor. Good work is being done for the union label. He also states that the formation of another union will be announced within a short time.

Joseph Sharon, a prominent employee of the Lowell Bleachery mills, has severed his connection with that company to accept a more lucrative position with a Worcester concern. In remembrance of the esteem in which he is held, a party of his co-workers called at his home Wednesday evening and presented him a handsome pearl-handled umbrella. The young man, although taken by surprise, responded in a graceful manner. An entertainment followed, and all had a merry time.

Painters' Union Held Meeting

The members of Painters' union held a largely attended and interesting meeting in Carpenters' hall in the Russell building last evening. President Brodie presided. Considerable business was transacted and new members were initiated. Business Agent Piffard reported that business was very good around town, and that the outlook was promising.

Wages for Girls

After Aug. 3, all girls or women employed in industrial occupations in Washington must be paid the minimum wage of $8.90 per week. Girls working in mercantile establishments must be paid at the minimum of $10 a week after July 27.

Every union ought to send its full quota of delegates to the convention that makes the laws and elects the officers for the two years following. Nothing in connection with the work of the union can be more important.

American Federation of Labor

The average paid up and reported membership of the American Federation of Labor for the year is 1,296,964, an increase of 228,553 members over last year. National and international organizations are required to pay only the per capita tax upon their full paid up membership, and, therefore, the membership reported does not include the large number of members involved in strikes during the fiscal year, for whom tax was not paid, otherwise the average membership would have exceeded the 2,000,000 mark. The membership of the affiliated organizations for the month of September of this year is 2,051,538, an increase of 213,558 over the September membership of last year, and 254,381 over the average membership of last year.

Boast Your Union

A labor union official gives this advice: "One of the worst sins, or indifference of the average trade union member is the neglect to attend the union meetings. A union member who does not attend the union meetings loses the biggest part of the evolutionary, educational effort of the opportunity to broaden and improve himself through association with his fellows. Besides, he is depriving the organization of the encouragement of his personal presence. There is an enthusiasm about large meetings that carries a message of hope and confidence to each member. Attend the union meetings, but by all means go to boast and not to knock."

Church Favors Labor Unions

At a meeting of the Buffalo Federation of Churches, the following was included in a report of its social committee which was unanimously adopted:

"For the church must stand for the equal rights and complete justice for all men in all stations of life. For the fullest possible development for every child, especially by the provision of proper education and recreation. For the abolition of child labor. For such regulations of the conditions of toil for women as shall safeguard the physical and moral health of the community. For the abatement and prevention of poverty. For the conservation of health. For the protection of the workers from dangerous machines, occupational diseases, and mortality. For the right of all men to opportunity for self maintenance, for safeguarding this right against encroachment of every kind, and for the protection of workers from the hardships of enforced unemployment. For suitable provision for the old age of the workers, and for those incapacitated by injury. For the right of employees and employers alike to organize for adequate means of conciliation and arbitration in industrial disputes. For a release from employment one day in seven. For the gradual and reasonable reduction of the hours of labor to the lowest practicable point, and for that degree of leisure for all which is a condition of the highest human life. For a heavier wage as a minimum in every industry, and for the highest wage that each industry can afford."

SOLDIERS CHARGED MOB

Fierce Rioting in St. John, N. B.—
Cars Overturned and Burned—
City Without Light

ST. JOHN, N. B., July 24.—During that has occurred in this city in 10 three hours of rioting last night in years. At midnight quiet was restored, but in anticipation of possible trouble today troops will be on guard in force.

The trouble began early in the evening, and when the situation began to look serious at 8:30 Mayor Price read the riot act. A half hour later, when Market square was filled with a mob, several carriages of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, under Lieut. Stettin, charged the mob, felling down rioters and striking them with the flats of sabers.

Stones and bottles were rained upon the soldiers. Lieut. Stettin was cut on the head and was removed to a hospital. It is not believed his injuries are serious. William Bennett, a coffee worker, was shot in the thigh by a detective who was defending himself from an attack by the mob. Detective Lucas received cuts in the head, and he and Bennett were taken to a hospital.

After the rioting was in progress for some time the mob overturned two cars in the square and set them on fire. The fire brigade put out the fire at midnight. The trouble-makers, the police say, were largely hand-laborers, the trouble-makers. Intradition of strike-breakers led to the ill-feeling which culminated in last night's disturbances.

FIGHTING DISEASE GERMS

There is a popular idea that most sickness is caused by a germ of the disease finding entrance to our bodies through the food we eat, the water we drink or the air we breathe. This is true as far as it goes but it is also true that disease germs are entering our bodies every day without causing disease.

The reason for this is that there are forces within the body that are constantly fighting these disease germs and it is only when this defense is weakened that the germs get the upper hand and we become ill. One of the most powerful of these forces that work for health is rich, red blood. Good, healthy blood increases the resistance of the body to the disease that are always threatening. It is easier to keep up this resistance by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, eating proper food, avoiding articles of food that do not agree with us and getting plenty of fresh air day and night, than it is to cure disease after it gets a foothold. Keep up the resistance of your body to disease by these tonic pills, which you can get at any drug store, and you will avoid much sickness.

Two booklets, "Building Up the Blood" and "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be sent free by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

DEFIANCE IS OUT

Withdraws From Competition—The Changes Will Take Too Long

NEW YORK, July 21.—Only two yachts, the Resolute and the Vantite, now remain in the contest for the honor of defending the America cup, as the Defiance was withdrawn from further competition yesterday and is now being put out of commission at City Island.

George M. Pynchon, managing director of the Tri-City syndicate, owner of the sloop, yesterday sent a formal notice of her withdrawal to Commodore Dallas B. Pratt of the New York Yacht club. Mr. Pynchon said that changes structural, as well as in rig, to fit her for racing, would take between three weeks and a month, so it was decided to retire the mahogany sloop at this time.

She was designed by George Owen and built by the Bath Iron Works of Bath, Me. She is a most attractive appearing vessel, and to a great extent is an enlarged Dorella. The Dorella and the Dorella II, both Owen-designed craft, were remarkably speedy. The rig of the Defiance is similar to those used on the Dorellas, the single head rig being used.

Until very recently no jib topgalls were used on the Defiance. She showed considerable speed to windward, but running free her very small spinnaker materially interfered with her speed. The money necessary to build and race the Defiance was supplied by prominent yachtsmen of this city, Boston and Philadelphia, hence she was known as the Tri-City sloop. Those in the syndicate include Messrs. E. Walter Clark, James B. Ford, E. Townsend Hall, T. C. Dunham, George H. Barron, George Lander, Jr., George M. Pynchon, F. C. Fletcher, E. S. Webster, Elliott Wadsworth, Charles Hayden, F. J. Peabody, J. C. Cobb, Oliver Adams and Henry Targard.

Mr. Pynchon is the managing director and E. Walter Clark the financial manager of the syndicate. Capt. Selas B. Howell was in command of the Defiance's crew.

ELOPER SHOT AND KILLED

YOUNG MAN KILLED IN FATHER-IN-LAW'S OFFICE—LATER HELD FOR MURDER

HAVERTSTRAW, N. Y., July 21.—Eugene Newman, a 12-year-old youth who last Saturday, eloped with Anna Cherry, daughter of William O. Cleary, town clerk of Havertstraw, and went to a dance at the home of his father-in-law, was shot and killed yesterday in the office of Cleary, Cleary and his son-in-law were in the office together. Four shots were fired. Cleary walked to the office of a justice of the peace, and surrendered, who committed him to jail on a charge of murder. It was not known last night whether Cleary and Newman quarreled.

WACOB NOW ONLY CATCHER

Big Fellow is Working Well Behind the Bat for Locals

"Pete" Handles His Pitchers in Fine Style and is Steady Worker

"Pete" Wacob, Californian and exponent of the Western league, is now Lowell's only backstop, with Greenhalgh filling in at second base. The big fellow, however, was doing the bulk of the backstop work for the local club anyhow, and has experienced no pang of homesickness.

Wacob got a very late start this season on account of the change in climate but has steadily improved as the season progressed until now he is considered one of the most valuable catchers in the league.

"Pete," however, has not shown up as well this season as he did last year with the Wichita, Kan., club, probably on account of the climate. His hitting has not been all that was hoped for although Wacob's work with the stick has been timely. In fact, he is hitting as well as the majority of backstops.

Wacob is a fine handler of his pitchers, and gets the most effective work out of each of them. He is a good judge of a batter, and a slugger has a hard time getting set for a delivery if the other end of the bat follows Wacob's advice.

"PETE" WACOB

In throwing, "Pete" has few superiors in the league. Although he occasionally makes a wild throw, the Californian has a good arm and snags the sphere to the bases in fine style. Taking everything into consideration, Wacob is one of the league's classiest backstops.

the tall palms—certain it is that several thousand years ago the ball game had reached a high state of development in the 70 cities scattered throughout Yucatan. On clearing away the matted forests enveloping these marvelous ruins, ball courts were disclosed near the most sacred temples, and, from the elaborate hieroglyphics and pictographs ornamenting the walls, much was learned of the complicated character of the sport. Centuries after the passing of these ancient Mayans came the first Spanish explorers who found that a younger race in contiguous territory, the Aztecs, had revived the old pastime into a "national game" with a stone "God of Sport" booming on every court.

"The peculiarity of these early games was that the ball, when in play, was not thrown with the hand but struck by the hip, around which the player wore a protecting pad of leather. At each end of the court was a great stone disk with a hole in the center, and through this orifice the ball was driven before a point was scored. Very naturally a 'lively' ball was used, since rubber trees dominated the forests.

"Old chronicles marvel at the skill and endurance of the players, for a game was seldom won under four hours of constant play. Such exhausting contests, with a dozen participants in almost constant action, were not for amateurs but professionals. Thus, from the Aztec word cul, signifying 'ball,' came the word mollotli, 'one who plays ball for a living.'

"Another form of ball game is played by the Indian tribes on the Cuduary River region in the wilds of Brazil. A carefully leveled field lies in front of the malokas, or large communal houses, and daily, at 5 o'clock, the men returning from the day's fishing or hunting, indulge in the sport—not a complicated game like that of the early Mexicans, but one calling for a high degree of skill, as two balls are used by the players, who drive them with the hands toward their opponents. Yellow tail feathers of the Vapour bird are affixed to the rubber balls for accuracy.

The Araucanian Indians of Southern Chile play an ancient game with wooden balls driven by wooden clubs. In a clearing, 300 by 75 yards, enclosed by cut branches of trees, these Indians play chueca, which greatly resembles in crosses or field hockey. The game is played from childhood and the players acquire great skill and the matches draw large crowds. The game calls for great endurance and while generally played in 2 or 3 hour periods, several days have been known to pass before a decision was reached. During the play it is not unusual to hear a player cry 'Am I not a real oak tree?' or 'Is he not a lion's leg?' after a brilliant stroke. Such is Araucanian chueca.

JONES' NAME WITHDRAWN

WASHINGTON, July 24.—President Wilson late yesterday ended the bitterest fight of his administration by withdrawing the nomination of Thomas D. Jones, Chicago, to be a member of the federal reserve board. Mr. Jones had written urging that he no longer be permitted to remain a cause of embarrassment.

The message of withdrawal reached the senate just as Senator Reed of Missouri, one of the democrats opposing the nomination, was concluding a vigorous denunciation of the International Harvester company, of which Mr. Jones is a director. The message created a mild sensation and cut short a debate that promised to run indefinitely.

With the brief message the president

MARRIAGE SEEMS TO AGREE WITH JIMMY VIOX, PIRATE INFIELDER

JIMMY VIOX

When Connie Mack lost the pennant in 1912 he blamed it on the fact that so many of his players had married recently and were thinking more about their spouses than baseball. This is not the case of Jimmy Viox, however, for the Pirates' scrappy little infelder took a trip upon the sea of matrimony not long ago, and since that time no one has been able to stop him. He is the batting and fielding sensation of the team at present and shows no signs of letting up.

cent copies of Mr. Jones' letter and his reply. Opposition to the nominee had been based on his connection with the Harvester company, and the senate banking committee had submitted a majority report adverse to confirmation, signed by all the republican and two democratic members.

Mr. Jones wrote that this report was "based on a distortion of facts and per version of the truth," but expressed the opinion that as a result of the contest, banking committee had submitted a majority report adverse to confirmation, signed by all the republican and two democratic members.

NEW ENTRIES RECEIVED NEW TRADE COMMISSION

SEVERAL GOOD MEN WILL RUN SATURDAY FROM B. A. A. AT HUNTING CLUB GAMES

There have been about 20 additional entries received by the Hunting club for their track meet and band concert tomorrow. These entries came from the B. A. A. and include several good performers.

Seward, who won the intercollegiate 220 yards dash, has signified his intention of running here Saturday as has also Tom Halpin, the quarter-miler. There are others of repute also. The entire list of new entries follows:

100 yards: William Jenkins, Lynn; F. T. Donahue, Boston; L. T. Prescott, Boston; H. H. Seward, Boston; George Nicholson, Methuen; William Maier, Lowell; M. A. Morrissey, Boston; and Thomas A. Spence, Lynn.
220 yards: William Jenkins, Lynn; T. J. Halpin, Boston; L. T. Prescott, Boston; H. H. Seward, Boston; George Nicholson, Methuen; M. A. Morrissey, Boston; Thomas A. Spence, Lynn.
440 yards: T. J. Halpin, Boston; F. T. Donahue, Boston; J. M. Burke, Boston.
550 yards: R. P. Greene, Boston; L. McGrath, Boston; T. J. Halpin, Boston; Walter Ryan, Boston; J. M. Burke, Boston; William Maier, Lowell; Tom Geary, Orange; Samuel Levine, Lowell.

One mile: R. P. Greene, Boston; P. L. McGrath, Boston; D. J. Mahoney, Boston; Tom Geary, Orange; Samuel Levine, Lowell; Albert E. Barrow, Lowell.

In the 10 miles event, James McAlpine of Methuen and Joseph Couture of Lowell are additional entrants.

When the Sixth Regiment band appears at the Hunting club on Saturday with Mr. B. F. Tabor directing, the 35 musicians it will come with its full quota and equipment to give one of the best concerts that Lowell has been favored with for some time. This band has shown great progress under the direction of Mr. Tabor since its formation some two years ago and by hard work and constant practice has come to the front to hold a place not only as the best band that Lowell has ever had but is considered to be one of the leading bands in New England today. Their work is characterized by the military style and is always full of snap and ginger that the general public like so well. Mr. Tabor's band has just returned from the tour of duty with the Sixth regiment down on the Cape.

The concert program for tomorrow is as follows:

March, "Royal Artillery".....Novins
Overture, "William Tell".....Rossini
Trombone solo, selected.

Mr. William Kingshorn
Popular selection from Remick's 1914
Big Song Revue.....Remick
Selection, "Red Widow".....Gibson
Tit-Bits—

(a) "When the Angelus is Ringing".....Berlin
(b) "The Trombone Slide".....Graves
(c) "It's a Devil".....Snyder

Grand selection of "Folk Songs of Scotland".....Lampe
March, "General Mump, U. S. A.".....Allen

During the race the band will play a collection of popular songs.

REPORTED THAT JOS. E. DAVIES OF WISCONSIN WILL BE MADE CHAIRMAN

JOSEPH E. DAVIES

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Republican senators are preparing to ask some pointed questions as to the personnel of the new trade commission, if one is to be created by the passage of the Newlands bill, now pending in the senate. It has been understood that Joseph E. Davies of Wisconsin, commissioner of corporations, would be chairman of the commission. In one of the first drafts of the bill the "present" commissioner of corporations was designated as the first chairman of the trade commission. While the pending bill does not specify it, senators and representatives have been led to believe that Mr. Davies would be appointed if the commission is created. Republicans in the senate have been growing more and more restless over the political activities of Mr. Davies.

PLAYING BALL

Is an Ancient Institution in America, Says Pan American Union

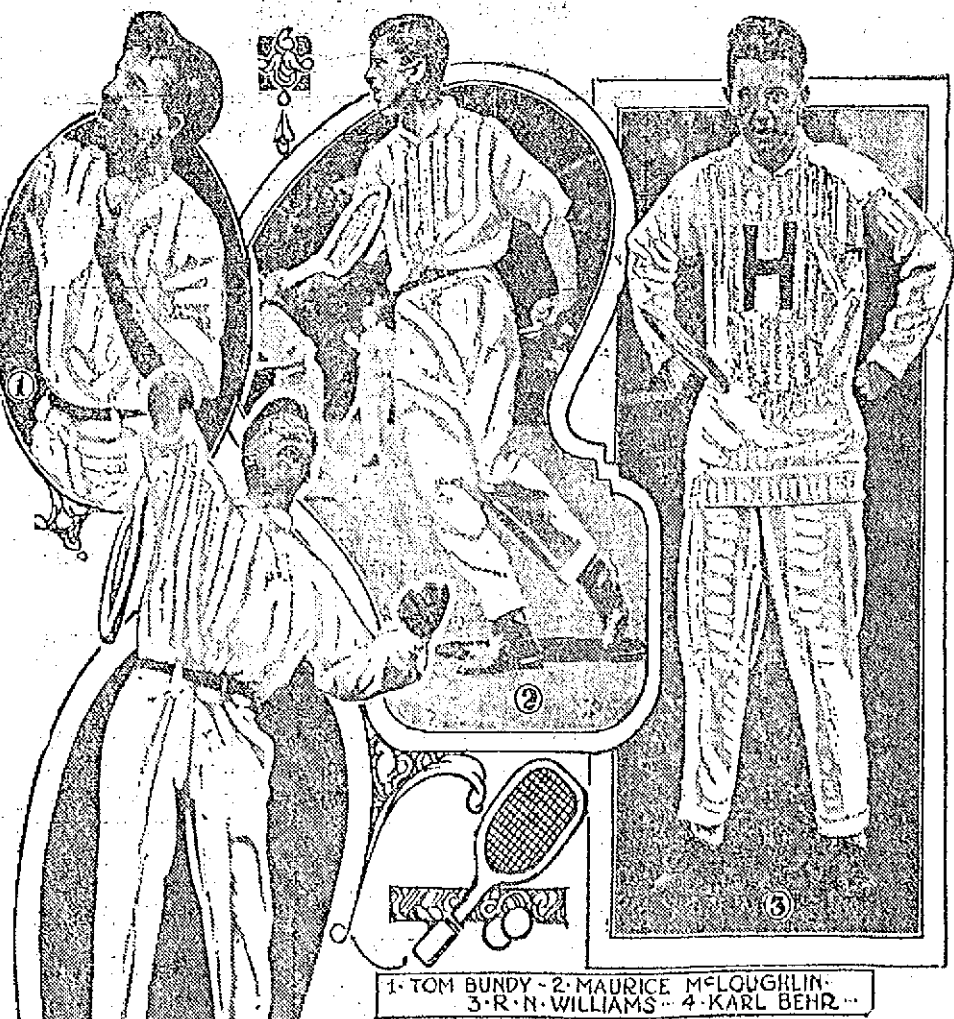

"Plaa-a-a-y Baw-aw-aw-ll!" is not as new an expression of popular impatience to have some one "start something" as some people may think. Neither is playing ball for a living a strictly modern invention. In fact thousands of years ago, "way down in Yucatan, impatient crowds sat around in ball parks, yelled themselves hoarse, beat one another in the back, and threw their feather headgear into the arena in the enthusiasm of the moment, just as we are doing today. Also there doubtless were Aztecs whose skill in "batting" and "holding" was such that they could at-ford to hold up the management occasionally for a few more hundred years by threats to quit professional ball and go to farming.

Of course the game was not exactly baseball. But the point is that it was a ball game, that there were regular ball parks or courts—ad that there were professionals who played the game for what there was "in it" to them. Mayhap the medium of exchange took the form of jaguar skins, pounds of cocoa, fancy feathers, or what not, but it was money all the same, and they could buy with it at the club, or in the market place as the case might be. They had their peculiar systems of "clang," too, at least in some parts of the Americas, which translated into English means about as much to us as ours would to them. All of which is brought out by Mr. Franklin Adams in his story "Indigenous Games in Latin America," in the July number of the Monthly Bulletin of the Pan-American Union, Washington, D. C. That the ball game is an ancient institution in the Americas may be gathered from the following:

"The ball game is indigenous to the Americas. Perhaps the first Simian inhabitants found true sport in catching the cocoanuts tossed from

1-TOM BUNDY-2-MAURICE McLOUGHLIN-3-R. N. WILLIAMS-4-KARL BEHR

The choice of McLoughlin, Williams, Bundy and Behr to defend the Davis tennis trophy, symbolic of the world's championship, has met with country-wide approval. Some authorities have questioned the wisdom of overlooking W. M. Johnston, the youthful Californian, but his tendency to grow wild under the stress of a tough match was held as sufficient reason for leaving him off the team. As it stands the four men are the best to be found in this country and will make a spirited defense in the final round Aug. 13, 14 and 14 at the West Side courts on Long Island.

TOOK CUE FROM LONDON

MARKET MANIFESTED A HEAVIER TENDENCY IN EARLY DEALINGS—NEW HAVEN AGAIN DROPPED

NEW YORK, July 23.—Again taking its cue from London, where Americans were substantially lower, today's stock market manifested a heavier tendency in the early dealings. Virtually all issues were lower but only Canadian Pacific and Lehigh Valley were especially heavy, declining a point. Baltimore & Ohio fell to its recent low price and Ches & Ohio and Reading appeared to be under pressure. Missouri Pacific convertibles went lower than yesterday and a slight recovery in Rock Island debentures was soon effected. Standard stocks were little changed.

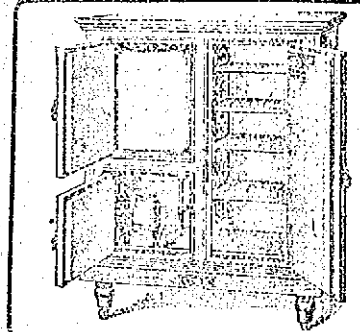

Resumption of gold exports was the most interesting feature of the morning session. Lehigh Valley was sold down a total of two points and further weakness was shown by New York Central, Chesapeake & Ohio and the speculative list in general. Baltimore & Ohio made a new low, as did Rock Island pfd, and the refunding and debenture and Missouri Pacific convertibles. Dealings were apathetic.

News of the filling of the New Haven dissolution early in the afternoon was followed by the selling of New Haven. Reading, Steel and Can Pacific, the last losing 1 1/2, and selling at its lowest price in years. Erie, Southern railroads, Denver & Rio Grande pfd, and other low priced shares also were adversely affected.

Prices recovered in the later dealings, but soon fell back again some to the lowest of the day. New Haven, which rose in 5 1/2, soon lost half its advantage.

Renewal of the gold export movement and filling of the New Haven suit, with a recommendation for receivership were the main factors in today's market. The closing was heavy.

Chairman Barnes instructs Counsel to Bring Suit for Libel

NEW YORK, July 23.—Chairman William Barnes of the republican state committee announced today that he had instructed his counsel to bring suit for libel against Theodore Roosevelt based on Col. Roosevelt's statement of last night attacking Mr. Barnes and endorsing the candidacy of Harvey D. Hinman for the nomination for governor at the republican primaries.

The amount of damages for which Mr. Barnes would sue apparently had not been determined at the time he issued his statement. It was said, however, it would be for a substantial sum. The suit will be brought in the supreme court, Mr. Barnes announced, within a few days.

OUTLOOK MORE HOPEFUL

FOR SETTLEMENT OF HOME RULE DIFFICULTY BY CONFERENCE AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE

LONDON, July 23.—The termination of today's critical session of the conference at Buckingham palace on the Ulster situation without the occurrence of a rupture created a decidedly more hopeful view among the general public as to the outcome of the discussions of the statesmen representing the different parties. The Irish nationalists, however, still declined to commit themselves to any expressions of optimism.

Among liberals and unionists there exists an impression that a settlement will be reached if not by the conference then outside of it. The nationalists show less confidence on this point.

The finding of a solution still hinges on the discovery of a compromise in regard to the thorny problem as to whether the counties of Tyrone and Fermanagh shall be included in the area which the Ulster unionists demand shall be allowed to vote on the question of exclusion.

DIST. ATTY. MARTIN GETTING EVIDENCE TO BRING CRIMINAL ACTION AGAINST ROAD

NEW YORK, July 23.—District Attorney Martin of Bronx county announced today that he has agents in Washington getting evidence on which he will bring criminal action against the New Haven road in connection with the Westchester railroad deal.

"It makes no difference," said Mr. Martin, "what the department of justice does with its cases. I shall go ahead with indictment proceedings unless it seems to be in the interests of the people to allow the federal authorities to bring the prosecution in their own way."

DECLINE TO COMMENT

NEW HAVEN, July 23.—Although directors of the New Haven road resident here declined today to comment upon the entry of the suit, it was learned that the expectation is that the case will go to the supreme court of the United States upon an agreed statement of facts to have determined certain constitutional questions involved.

FOR TERMS OF PEACE

CARBAJAL DELEGATE ON WAY TO TAMPIO TO CONFER WITH GENERAL CARRANZA

WASHINGTON, July 23.—A delegate authorized by Provisional President Carbaljal to negotiate for terms of peace with General Carranza was due to leave Vera Cruz today for Tampico. Within two or three days an armistice suspending hostilities throughout Mexico is expected. Carranza already has notified the state department that he will agree.

Messages from Provisional President Carbaljal to that effect were shown today by his personal representative, Jose Castellet, to Secretary Bryan.

Mr. Castellet said the report from Mexico City to the effect that an armistice already had been signed was premature but with the arrival of the Carbaljal delegates at Carranza's headquarters such a truce would be made.

Luis Cabrera and Francisco Calles, two prominent constitutionalists, have gone to Saltillo to meet their chief. Cabrera is expected to become minister of finance and Calles will be minister of foreign relations when Carranza organizes a cabinet in Mexico City.

Officials here understood that while Carranza was willing to give guarantees and general amnesty, he would insist on reserving the right to prosecute criminally those directly concerned in the killing of Madero and Suarez.

WANTED FOR LARCENY

REQUEST THAT DUDLEY BE RETURNED TO WEST VIRGINIA MADE TO GOV. WALSH

BOSTON, July 23.—A request that Joseph Dudley, indicted as an accomplice with Lawrence Robinson, who committed suicide yesterday, and implicated in the killing of Police Inspector Thomas J. Norton on June 13, be returned to West Virginia, was made to Governor Walsh today by Governor Hatfield of West Virginia.

Dudley is wanted by the police of Huntington, W. Va., on a charge of robbery, with Robinson, of the jewelry store of Henry Hornrich on March 31, when it is alleged, $15,000 worth of diamonds were stolen.

District Attorney Pelletier said he would not oppose the requisition.

KILLS HIMSELF AND CHILDREN

GLENNWOOD SPRINGS, Colo., July 23.—Mortified by drugs and desperate because he had been sued for divorce, Dr. Thomas L. Hutchinson, 43 years old, attempted to kill his wife yesterday at the Hotel Glenwood. Fifteen minutes later he went to his office, where he shot and killed his two daughters, Fay and Lois, aged 10 and 12 years, respectively, and then committed suicide by sending a bullet into his right temple.

Two weeks ago Hutchinson assaulted his wife and threatened to kill her, their daughters and himself. Mrs. Hutchinson and the girls then fled and sought safety with friends.

DEMANDS FOR MARINES

WASHINGTON, July 23.—With five full regiments of marines now about on expeditious work in addition to the many men of the same service scattered throughout the Philippines and Guam and elsewhere, the marine corp is having difficulty in meeting the demands made upon it for a full fledged army to carry out the policies of the administration in regard to Haiti and San Domingo. The demand for a complement of marines for the Hinecock, due in Hampton Roads in a day or two for Haiti section, has practically exhausted the resources of the corps, now recruited up to the last man and if this naval auxiliary is to continue in its present high state of efficiency it will be necessary for congress to authorize the addition of at least a full battalion to the present ten thousand marines.

FURIGHT RATES ON SHOES

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Proposed increase in rail and water freight rates on boots and shoes from Boston and other northeastern ports to Atlanta, Ga., was permanently suspended today by the interstate commerce commission. The new tariffs would have imposed a rate of 1.05 per hundred pounds. The present rate of 55 cents was prescribed by the commission in the Boston "shoe case" decided Nov. 27, 1909.

RAIN INTERFERED WITH PLAY

BOSTON, July 23.—Two matches in doubles were all that had been completed when rain interfered with play in the Longwood singles and the eastern doubles championships at the Longwood Cricket club today. Both completed matches were won in straight sets. W. J. Clothier and G. P. Gardner, Jr., defeating N. P. Hallowell and J. Newell in the second round and William Rosenbaum and E. H. Whitte defeating W. J. Crocker and A. Taveau in the third round.

The kangaroo is said to be quite an adept in the manly art and quotes a number of lively rounds at each performance sometimes sending his opponent hurtling through the ropes from a stiff punch. The kangaroo will appear every afternoon and evening during the week.

SCIENT MURDER, FIND MUMMY

NEW YORK, July 23.—There came a telephone tip to the detectives of the Fourth avenue police station, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon that there was a body in the cellar of the house of Maloxas A. Maloxas, a lace importer, at 254 Forty-fourth street, Bay Ridge.

Bushy, Highland and Lohman, all of them detectives, went to the house and demanded to see the body. It didn't do any good for Maloxas A. Maloxas, to swear by all things dear to him that he didn't have a body in his cellar.

This is what they found: A finely carved chest for antiques, within it a coffin shaped box also carved, and within that a mummy 4000 years old, alleged to be that of one of the kings of Egypt.

SUIT TO COMPEL DISSOLUTION OF NEW HAVEN ROAD

Federal Government Files Bill Calling for Divorce of New Haven From the Boston & Maine and All Other Lines on Grounds That Road is Combination in Restraint of Trade — Brief Prays for Restoration of Competition in New England—Criminal Proceedings to Follow

NEW YORK, July 23.—Civil suit to compel the dissolution of the New Haven road under the Sherman anti-trust act was filed in the federal court here today by T. W. Gregory, acting for Attorney General McReynolds.

The civil suit has no actual connection with the criminal indictments to be sought by the attorney general against New Haven officers and directors. This is a different phase of the New Haven case, to be taken up later and conducted independently of the civil suit.

The New Haven is charged in the brief filed today with being a combination in restraint of trade, which controls over 90 per cent of the rail and trolley traffic of New England and about 55 per cent of the steamship transportation of that section.

"The court is asked to separate the New Haven from the Boston & Maine railroad, from the old New England railroad, from its southern and outside steamship lines and from its trolleys in Rhode Island and Connecticut. Such general relief as the court deems it also requested and if the court deems best the brief suggests the appointment of a receiver for the road.

To Ask Criminal Indictments

Although this suit has no connection with the criminal proceedings, Mr. Gregory and F. M. Swacker, his principal assistant, may remain in New York to present to a federal grand jury evidence on which they will ask for criminal indictments of New Haven officers and directors concerned in building up the alleged illegal monopoly in restraint of trade. Failure of either case is not expected to affect the progress of the other. Officials of the department of justice have said that the New Haven may not make any determined fight to prevent judgment in the civil suit except regarding the plea that it is separated from the Boston & Maine railroad. There is little question, however, that if indictments are returned by a grand jury it will mark the beginning of one of the most important criminal trials undertaken by the government in many years.

Illegal Monopoly Charged

The brief declares that the New Haven in 20 years has spread its hand over all New England so that it has an illegal monopoly of practically all the steam, trolley and steamship transportation routes that penetrate that section. It charges that in this period the New Haven has acquired control of nine of its ten railroads, 22 of the 30 boat lines, and almost all of the trolleys in New England. It avers that the defendant controls 6341 miles of main line railroad with passenger and freight earnings of $121,069,411, out of a total steam rail mileage of $234 with earnings of $130,352,195 and that of 1592 miles not under its control only 411 miles are in competition with the New Haven. The rail lines, it says, earn about 91 per cent of the gross freight revenue and about 56 per cent of the gross passenger revenue of all New England railroads. Through its boat lines, the bill says, the New Haven controls about 55 per cent of the water transportation of New England and the lines it does not control are declared to be unitary with the New Haven. The bill says the New Haven controls about 1500 miles, having 91 per cent of the mileage and traffic.

Results of Monopoly
According to the bill, from this control by one system there has resulted: Unreasonable delay in delivering freight, the use of inferior and unsafe rolling stock, the lack of proper signal systems and safety devices, the destruction of the autonomy in rate-making of the lines, the combined suppression of competition among the lines, the diversion of freight traffic to the New Haven company, an effort to increase freight rates and dilatory and arbitrary methods in dealing with patrons.

In perfecting its hold on New England, the bill says the New Haven has made use of complicated and elusive methods to conceal the real nature of its efforts to create a monopoly, has acquired control and purchased competitors, has resorted to illegal practices to impoverish rival lines and thus acquire them.

Restore New England Competition

The bill asks for specific relief from this condition and prays the court to order the sale to persons not stockholders, agents or otherwise not connected with the New Haven of all its interests in the Boston & Maine Railroad Co. in the Rutland Railroad Co. in the New England Railroad Co. and in all the wharves and water terminals acquired by it and asks for a permanent injunction to prevent their return to New Haven control. It also asks for an order directing the cancellation of a joint lease between the New Haven and the New York Central railroad by which the profits of operating the Boston and Albany road are shared. This lease, the New Haven declared months ago it had cancelled and if the court finds this action to have been taken it will not be necessary to press for this order. The bill includes also the customary prayer for general relief, by which the court is requested to take any steps it deems necessary to restore competition to New England.

The bill has been under preparation by the department of justice for nearly a year. It is an exhaustive analysis of the rise of the New Haven system, covering more than 100 printed pages.

Agreement With the B. & M.

A feature of the bill is its history of the development of transportation in New England up to and beyond the point where the New Haven acquired control of the Boston & Maine railroad, which runs across the center of Massachusetts, but to approve the acquisition of lines in that territory by the New Haven. The New Haven, in turn, agreed to keep out of territory north of the Boston & Albany rail line, there by the Boston & Maine. That agreement, so far as the bill shows, was never terminated, but subsequently the New Haven acquired the Northern Boston & Maine line, the Boston & Maine and had no competitor in the field save the Vermont Central and the Grand Trunk which touch a few of the many towns and villages in New England.

The bill points to the great industries in New England whose products go to every part of the nation and shows that relief from the alleged transportation monopoly which handles the products of these industries is of importance to every section of the country.

Scores New Haven Methods

The bill scores the methods used by the New Haven to perfect its combination.

"In accomplishing these results," it says, "elusive, complicated and indirect methods have been resorted to in order to conceal the real character of the transactions involved, to destroy the identity of the lines acquired and render their assets and physical properties indistinguishable. Corporations of many states have been organized or purchased and used as subsidiaries, among which the properties acquired have been distributed and redistributed in varying combinations. In some instances steamboat lines have been split up so that their terminal facilities are owned by one corporation and their boats by another. Sometimes the terminal facilities of railroad lines acquired have been conveyed to one company, the rolling stock and railroad tracks to another, and sometimes steamboat and trolley lines have been combined in ownership. In many instances the transactions involving physical properties have been so intermingled and involved that a recital of all their details would needlessly confuse.

One of the purposes of resorting to this complicated system has been to entrench the New Haven company in its monopoly and to make it impracticable for the government to apply specific remedies and restore original conditions. Nevertheless, the control of all properties constituting three monopolies today is vested in either the New Haven company or in some of the other defendants or in corporations controlled by it or individuals acting in its behalf."

YOUNG BRIDE DESERTED

HUSBAND WHO ELOPED WITH HER IS SAID TO HAVE DISAP-PEARED

MACON, Ga., July 23.—The Rev. Dr. W. L. Pickard, president of Mercer university, whose daughter Florence eloped last Saturday with Everett Harrison of Halifax, Nova Scotia, received word yesterday from Mrs. Pickard that she had left home in Savannah and was on her way to New York in response to a message from their daughter saying that her husband had disappeared and that she had been deserted in a New York hotel.

Karl Gustave Karsten, son of a former president of the University of Illinois, to whom Miss Pickard was to have been married on July 28, and whom she fled to marry Harrison, an old suitor, arrived in Savannah yesterday and learned from Mrs. Pickard what had happened. Dr. Pickard, who expressed deep regret at his daughter's elopement, says he is entirely in the dark as to where his daughter is or what the trouble is all about.

STATE ARMORY DESERTED

Militia Boys Enjoying Their Vacation
—Some Attending Camp at Barnstable

This is the time of the year when the state armory in Westford street is practically deserted. The boys of the different companies are now enjoying a vacation and will not take up their regular drills until the latter part of September.

The annual encampment this year was a couple of weeks earlier than in previous years and the announcement was well received by all concerned for the boys knew that usual weekly drills would be suspended until September, and that made their vacation much longer. When the boys returned from camp they arranged their equipment for the summer with the exception of the rifles which they use occasionally on Saturdays in practice shooting at the Dracut rifle range and they gave up all athletic contests.

The Lowell boys who form a part of Battery C of Methuen and who are camping at Barnstable are expected home some time Saturday. Their guns will be placed in the armory for a few days after which they will be taken over the road to the Methuen armory.

LOCAL TEXTILE EXHIBIT

Attracting Attention at Board of Trade Rooms—Chances for Foreign Trade

The woolen exhibit at the Lowell board of trade does not seem to attract the attention of many local business men, although a few have called at the rooms of the organization in Central street to inspect the pieces of cloth manufactured in various countries of Europe and South America. Among the visitors was a former Lowell man, Ralph Shaw, who for a number of years was connected with the Hamilton Mfg. Co. of this city, and who now holds the responsible position of superintendent of the Warren mills at Warren, R. I.

Mr. Shaw read an item in a newspaper in relation to the exhibit at the Lowell board of trade rooms and he at once became interested. He came to Lowell yesterday and closely examined the pieces of cloth as well as the way they were manufactured.

Speaking of foreign industry it may be well to remind the readers of The Sun that the board of trade conducts a foreign trade department through which the local manufacturers are informed of various opportunities for trade extension. This morning Secretary Murphy mailed to the various indicative concerns of this city a copy of a bulletin received from Washington, D. C., in reference to opportunities for trade in the Latin American market.

LOCAL GREEK COMMUNITY

Raising Money for Remodeling of School — Greeks Fooled by a Railroad Offer Return Penniless

President Tavouraris of the local Greek community informed the Sun this morning that he believes work will be started on remodeling the Plunkett residence, in Worthen street for a parochial school in a very short time, for the funds to make the proposed alterations are coming in fast. The work will be rushed along and it is believed that the building will be ready for the opening of the fall session in September.

The members of the school committee have started a fund raising campaign among their people and they find that the men are very generous. Of course there is a reason, for most Greeks believe in educating and training their children in a Greek school and as the old school in the church building in Jefferson street is condemned by order of the board of health other quarters must be provided.

A collection is being taken up at church every Sunday and the committee headed by the president of the community will start Saturday a store-to-store canvass and it is believed in this manner $2900 will be raised in a short time. Some of the business men of the colony have signified their intention of donating from $50 to $100 and all contributions will be cheerfully received by any member of the school committee. About $12,000 will be needed to push the work through and the president said if his people contribute the sum of $6000 or $7000 the church will see that the remainder of the needed sum is secured.

The school committee will hold an interesting meeting some night next week at which time all plans for the remodeling of the building will be completed.

It is reported that several more Greeks have returned from the west, where they had been induced to go by representatives of a railroad company who had misinformed them as to the nature of the work and the pay the men were to receive. Some of those who have returned reported that a large number of their fellow countrymen who left Lowell and other eastern cities to go to the west are penniless and cannot return to their families in New England. An effort will be made to raise funds to have some of them returned to Lowell and other Massachusetts and New Hampshire cities and it is believed that this is the first and last time that the sons of Athens will get caught on such offers from the golden west.

MAIDEN LANE BRAWL TWO AUTOS COLLIDED

SEVERAL PARTICIPANTS WERE GIVEN FREE RIDE IN POLICE WAGON

Several heavily intoxicated individuals caused quite a commotion this afternoon in Maiden lane just before 2 o'clock when Sgt. Maguire took a hand in the game. A large crowd had gathered by the time the police officer arrived on the scene.

A woman in a very drunken condition was taken out of one of the houses in the narrow lane and sent to the station. The patrol had no sooner reached its Market street destination, however, than it was sent back again this time to give two male disturbers of the peace a free ride. The commotion in Maiden lane resulted for a time the interest in the hearing at city hall across the street.

RETRENCHMENT IN BASEBALL

NEW YORK, July 23.—President Barrow of the International League, who is here on an official visit today, said that the time has come for a retrenchment in all the leagues.

"The sport is not on a firm foundation," he said, "as it costs more to operate than the public is willing to pay, and anyone will see that the sport will not last long that way." The International League must retrench in the matter of salaries and the big leagues, even the Federal, must do the same. The players are getting all the money there is in the game and more, too. Such a state of affairs will not last long."

LOWELL MAN WON PRIZE

Joseph Smith of Pace's Soda Fountain Awarded a Silver Cup as First Prize

Joseph Smith, manager of the D. L. Page soda fountain, was today awarded first prize in a country-wide essay contest run by the New York Dispensers' club of New York city on the subject, "How Best to Manage a Soda Fountain."

The prize, which is now on exhibition in one of the windows of the D. L. Page company, is a huge silver cup beautifully engraved and inscribed. Essays were sent into the New York club from nearly every state in the Union and the first of the Lowell man in winning first prize is all the more creditable from the fact that the country's largest confectionery houses were all represented in the contest.

Among the out-of-town relatives who attended the funeral of Mrs. Joseph H. Michael of South street this morning were: Arthur, Philippe and Miss Leopoldine Belanger and Mrs. S. Chase of Fall River; Pierre Belanger of Weymouth, Mass.; Mrs. Narcissa Connelley, Charles Belanger and Mrs. Alexis Mailley of Ayer, Mass.; and Mrs. Henri Dupras of Nashua, N. H. Among the floral offerings was a large bouquet from the family and other tributes from P. N. Pike, Miss Eva Lissonnette, Miss Eva Paquin and Mrs. Marie Thoren.

KNOW WHAT YOU PUT IN YOUR MOUTH

Millions of people, who are otherwise very careful of what enters their mouths, know nothing of what is contained in the preparation which cleans their teeth. No matter how good it may taste, you ought to know, to be sure it is beneficial. The facts are plainly printed on every box which contains and if you take care to use Dentist's will secure you that it contains everything that is good and nothing that is harmful.

ORA-HYGEN DENTAL CREAM

"The Kind That Saves Teeth"

It is extremely germicidal and antiseptic and prevents decay from entering the system through the mouth. Prevents decay. Polishes teeth to their natural whiteness. Keeps gold crowns and filling bright. Heals and hardens sore and bleeding gums. Has a delicious taste and sweetens the breath. Cannot be eaten or lost in the mouth. Lays a flat on the brush. OVERLAND CAR BACKED INTO DELIVERY TRUCK OF CAMERON BROTHERS

An Overland touring car bearing the registration number 12221, Rhode Island, backed into a delivery truck owned by Cameron Bros., confectionery dealers, at the corner of Central and Merrimack streets, shortly before noon today. The accident happened directly in front of Chaffoux's department store.

The touring car was stalled on the crossing and, despite the efforts of the driver, it could not be made to move forward. But it backed readily and as a result crashed into the other machine, which was stopped in the rear. Luckily, the driver of the touring car applied the brakes as soon as the car met and thus averted serious damage to both machines. The delivery car is minus a bolt as a result of the contact, while the back of the touring car was slightly scratched. The bolt received seemed to be the proper remedy for the balkiness of the Overland and it proceeded on its way.

CAIRO OF THANKS
The undersigned wish to express publicly their sincere thanks to those who assisted in any way by kind acts, words of consolation and floral offerings in our recent bereavement. All will ever be remembered by Mrs. Dennis Bloom and Family.

Messrs. Lemone, Obe and Mite Bloom of Pennsylvania returned to their home this morning, having been called to this city owing to the drowning of their brother in the Merrimack river.

CALL MME. GUEYDAN AT PARIS MURDER TRIAL

Again Called to the Witness
Stand—Great Interest Taken in
Two Intimate Letters

PARIS, July 24.—"Call Madame Gueydan" was the command of Judge Lais Albanel immediately after the court opened today for the fifth day's hearing in the trial of Madame Henriette Caillaux for the wilful murder on March 16 of Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro.

Mme. Gueydan, former wife of the prisoner's husband, Joseph Caillaux, an ex-premier of France, had, however, not arrived, and Pascal Cécaldi, the most intimate private and political friend of M. Caillaux, was called to the stand.

The interest today centered around the two intimate letters referred to in yesterday's testimony and handed by Mme. Gueydan to Maître Labori to deal with as he chose.

Maître Labori, before M. Cécaldi began his testimony, said he would defer until the arrival of Mme. Gueydan, a communication he desired to make to the court.

Defense of Caillaux Family

M. Cécaldi then addressed to the jury an impassioned defense of the Caillaux family. He said Mme. Caillaux's efforts to restrain her husband from assuming political power was due to her belief that his keeping out of the government was the only way in which they could expect to have peace in their life.

M. Caillaux, seated in the crowded court among witnesses and journalists, followed attentively his friend's panegyric, nodding his head in approbation and occasionally casting a glance about the courtroom as though measuring the effect of the witness's words. Madame Caillaux, in the prisoner's enclosure, presented a sorrowful figure. In her eyes was a look of bewilderment and seeming terror. She did not speak to anyone but she had had a long talk with her husband in the prison of the Conciergerie before the hearing began.

It was understood that former Premier Barthou was again to be confronted with M. Caillaux today.

M. Cécaldi amazed those in court by giving his testimony in the form of a speech in which he reviewed the political and newspaper attacks on the former premier. The auditors meanwhile kept up a continuous murmur of protest or approval. The protests caused M. Cécaldi to shout:

"If I defend M. Caillaux, it is because he is an honest man."

Heated Exclamation

Those in the courtroom soon began to file of M. Cécaldi's speech and the interruption increased, which brought from the witness the heated exclamation:

"I have the right to talk here because they seek to keep a woman in prison."

This occasioned an uproar and Judge Albanel, who hitherto had been impassive, pounded his desk to restore order.

"I will continue my deposition," then said M. Cécaldi and he proceeded with a criticism of former Premier Barthou's course in reading in the chamber of deputies the documents drawn up by Victor Fabre in connection with the Rochette swindle.

When M. Cécaldi had spoken for an hour former Premier Barthou was called to the stand and defended his action in making public the Victor Fabre documents.

M. Caillaux also spoke briefly before Madame Gueydan appeared.

Maître Labori and Maître Chenu then explained their ideas for and against the publication of the letters placed in Maître Labori's charge by Madame Gueydan.

Maître Chenu remarked that the letters did not concern the case to which Maître Labori retorted that he thought three of them did. Maître Labori then returned the letters to Mme. Gueydan and asked her what her wishes were in the matter and she replied:

"I do not care what you do. Publish them all if you wish."

It was then decided to place three of the letters among the papers in the case but to read only one of them after the recess.

Mediation Board Trying to Avert Strike on 98
Railroads

CHICAGO, July 24.—Continuance of negotiations by the federal board of mediation and conciliation in the attempt to settle the wage differences between the engineers and firemen and 98 western railroads hung in the balance today.

The federal board is awaiting word from the engineers and the firemen and on their message depends the continuance of sessions of the board.

"This is the hardest task the mediation board has ever attempted," said Judge Martin A. Knapp.

The men seek changes in service rules and increases in pay. The railroad managers insist that to comply with the requests would be to increase the present payrolls by $33,000,000.

MAD DOG AT LARGE

SEVERAL PERSONS BITTEN AT BILLERICA TODAY—DOG KILLED
BY POLICE

A mad dog created considerable excitement at North Billerica early this afternoon by running wild through the village for a couple of hours and biting several pedestrians, among them Mr. Perrigo, who is connected with a land developing company, William Costello, of North Billerica, a Bay State street railway conductor whose name could not be learned and one or two children.

It is said that the animal came out of the woods shortly before noon and started running about the streets snapping at persons who were passing along the sidewalks or trying to put a stop to the dog's attacks. The police at North Billerica and Billerica Centre were notified and it was reported that the dog was captured shortly before 2 o'clock.

Seventeen Insurance Companies

There was a small fire at the Chelmsford street hospital a few days ago and despite the fact that the damage was less than $100 the mayor is confronted with a rather unusual situation as regards insurance. No less than seventeen insurance companies are interested. All of the seventeen companies will have to be notified and the mayor thinks the amount hardly justifies the bother and expense.

There were quite a number of visitors at city hall this morning, including Assistant Fire Chief William E. Moore of Newburgh, N. Y., and James H. Dorman of Newburgh.

They were shown through the hall and visited quite a while with the mayor.

MILITANTS ARRESTED AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE

Two Women Attempted to Present
Letter to King—Premier Asquith
Confirms Failure of Conference
to Agree on Home Rule Question

LONDON, July 24.—Two suffragettes, Lady Barclay and the Hon. Miss Edith Fitzgerald, were arrested today at Buckingham palace, where they had made persistent attempts to present to King George a letter written to his majesty by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst.

The letter demanded a personal interview with the king and claimed that the suffragettes should be given the same right to an interview as certain militant men, namely, Sir Edward Carson, Captain James Craig, John Dillon and John E. Redmond, who had, it was pointed, been invited to Buckingham palace by the king on his own initiative.

The two ladies arrived at the entrance to the palace this morning carrying a large scroll prettily draped with purple ribbon streamers. They stated that they had a petition to present to his majesty. The attendants, however, persuaded them to leave but they returned later and announced their determination to remain until they were given an audience. The police took the women into custody and conducted them to the nearest lock-up.

FAIL TO REACH AGREEMENT

LONDON, July 24.—The fact that the conference at Buckingham palace between the leaders of the various political parties had been rendered abortive by its failure to agree on the area of Ulster to be excluded from the control of the Dublin parliament was confirmed by Premier Asquith in the house of commons today.

The premier's statement on the subject of today's meeting of the conference was very brief. He said:

"The possibility of finding an area to be excluded from the operation of the Irish home rule bill was considered but the conferences, unable to agree in principle or in detail on such an area, brought its meeting to a close."

The Buckingham palace conference met again today and held the shortest of its four sessions. The meeting was called for 11 o'clock. The chairman, the Rt. Hon. James Lowther, Premier Asquith and Chancellor of the Exchequer David Lloyd George representing the Liberals; Andrew Bonar Law and the Marquis of Lansdowne of the regular conservative opposition; Sir Edward Carson and Captain John Craig, Ulster unionists, and John Dillon, Irish nationalist, arrived at the palace at that hour, but the business of the session did not begin until half past eleven as John E. Redmond, through a misunderstanding, was half an hour late.

Discussion of the Ulster situation lasted only 40 minutes and the members then left the palace.

No statement was given out as to the result of today's meeting, but it was expected that Premier Asquith would make an announcement in the house of commons in the course of the day.

The feeling was general in the lobbies of the house of commons that the conference had failed in its immediate purpose and that no definite agreement had been reached. Members awaited anxiously the announcement as to the actual situation to be made by Premier Asquith.

Except among the extreme radicals and labor members it is felt in parliamentary circles that the meeting of the political leaders in Buckingham palace has done much good. It is pointed out that it has served to show how far the opposing parties are prepared to go and that this would assist the government in re-framing its bill to amend the Irish home rule bill.

Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader, declared his party wanted the "clean cut" of the province of Ulster from the control of the Dublin parliament and were prepared to accept the exclusion of six counties. The nationalists on the other hand agreed to leave the four northeastern counties of Ulster out of the control of Dublin and to allow the counties of Tyrone and Fermanagh to take a vote on the question. Neither party, however, would consent to go a step further.

The suggestion of the Rt. Hon. Jas. Lowther that Tyrone and Fermanagh should remain out temporarily proved unacceptable to either party.

A leading Liberal said today, "There is no reason to assume that the last word has been said. The government will proceed to embody in the pending bill the results achieved at the conference as far as they go and then added to their own concessions can then be threshed out in parliament."

May Appropriate $4000 for Town Farm—New Postoffice at Centre—Auto for Highways Dept.

A special town meeting will be held in Billerica on the evening of Wednesday, August 5, and according to predictions there will be something interesting from the time that Moderator James calls the meeting to order until it is adjourned later in the evening. For some time the selectmen have been considering calling a special meeting but they have just agreed upon a date and at a meeting to be held in the town hall tonight the warrant will be made out and all arrangements completed.

The calling of the special town meeting was necessitated by the action of the voters at the last annual meeting when they voted to appoint a committee to investigate matters at the Billerica town farm and report at a special meeting to be called during the year. Since it was announced that the voters were to convene this summer several town officials have presented other articles that will appear in the warrant and be acted upon on August 5.

The committee appointed to look into the town farm matter has thoroughly inspected the buildings and property owned by the town and it is understood will make several recommendations when the time comes. The farm is in better condition at the present time than it has been for many years, it is claimed, and credit for the many improvements is due the overseers of the poor, who have full charge of the institution. The land about the farm is in very good condition and is producing as good crops as for several years past.

During the spring and summer, the building has been painted, papered and repaired while all the rooms of the house have been given attention. However, the conditions about the institution do not comply with the terms of the state board of charities in every respect and it will be necessary to make many other improvements to meet the approval of the state. With this view in mind the town farm committee has sent an article to the board of selectmen to be inserted in the warrant to see if the town will vote to appropriate the sum of $4000 for the purpose of installing electric lights, water, heat, etc., so that the building will be up to date in every respect. The committee members are: Warren Holden, a member of the board of overseers of the poor; Thomas P. Sheridan, a former selectman, and Frank L. Day.

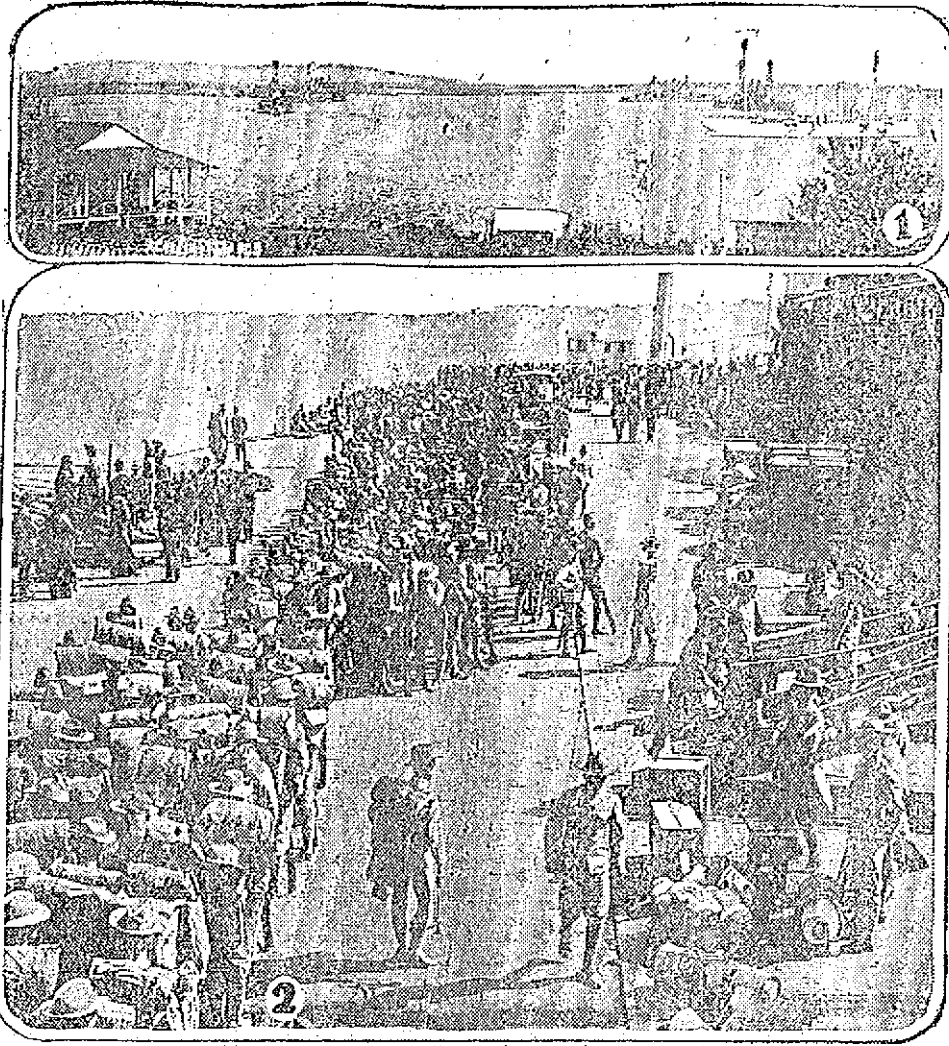

Big Fire Whistle

At the town meeting the fire department will ask for $750 to install a fire whistle at the Boston & Maine repair shops on High street. It is proposed to divide the town into sections and have each section numbered so that it could be distinguished in case of fire. The whistle will be operated in the central office of the telephone company at Billerica and arrangements will be made so that the telephone operator can sound a certain box number by pressing a button in the exchange. This scheme will undoubtedly meet with the approval of the majority of the voters as there is considerable confusion at the present time when a fire bell is sounded in the town.

Should the whistle be installed the B. & M. railroad will furnish steam from the repair shops and will keep the apparatus in condition so that the town's work will be done when the whistle is put in.

Another article that has caused considerable interest about the town is one in which Highway Surveyor Edgar F. Twombly asks that the town appropriate $1000 to purchase an automobile for the highway department. It seems that Mr. Twombly has gangs of men working in different parts of the town

1-GUANTANAMO BAY. 2-MARINES LEAVING FOR GUANTANAMO

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Captain Russell of the battleship South Carolina, now at Cape Haitien, has announced that United States marines will be landed to bring about peace in Haiti if order is not restored at once. Secretary Daniels estimates that about 1000 marines will be available for Haiti—300 at Guantanamo, 400 to go on the Hancock from Hampton Roads and 200 at San Domingo and Haiti. British and German interests are heavy Haitian creditors, and recently Germany demanded participation in any move by the United States to control Haitian customs.

and he believes that he should have an automobile to supervise the work.

New Post Office at Centre

In view of the prospect for a great increase in the population of Billerica in the near future Postmaster T. Frank Lyons has purchased a lot of land on Main street, near Andover street, and will immediately set to work to build a new post office building. The location is the most central that could be secured in the village and the new post office will be handy to both pedestrians and travelers as it will be located on the main road from Boston to Lowell.

The contract for the building has been awarded to Joseph T. Thomas of Lowell and bidders will be set immediately. The new structure promises to relieve the congested conditions which have prevailed at the Billerica postoffice for some time past. Mr. Lyons hopes to be in his new office before the cold weather arrives.

B. & M. Shops

The Boston & Maine Railroad company has installed a new system regarding the train crews employed on shifts at the Billerica car shops. The work has recently been done by crews from Boston but it is understood that because of opposition from local engineers, who are reported not to have had sufficient work for themselves, the work was transferred over to Lowell crews.

New Macadam Road

The selectmen are now prepared to sign the contract for the new macadam road from Burlington to Billerica, which will be built at a cost of approximately $7500. The town, county and state will each contribute $2500 toward the cost. It is believed that the work upon the new road will be started in another week under the direction of Highway Surveyor Twombly.

Water Department

The water department has a crew of about 20 men at work extending the water mains on Arcadia road in the Finchurst district. It will be recalled that this work was tied up for some time on account of the selectmen and water board being unable to reach an agreement relative to the cost. The laying of the mains is in charge of Supt. Stowers.

Ladies of G. A. R. Entertained

A large number of members of Ass John Patten circle, Ladies of the G. A. R., attended the meeting and garden party held at the home of Mrs. Susan Jacquith on Wednesday afternoon. The afternoon was spent about the spacious lawn where refreshments were served by Mrs. Jacquith, assisted by Miss Jennie Wood, Miss Mary Wilkins and Mrs. Sarah L. Murphy. Late in the afternoon the members returned home very much pleased with the enjoyable time afforded them.

Mrs. Irving Still Away

The Billerica police are still trying to learn of the whereabouts of Mrs. Chandler Irving, the young married woman who so suddenly disappeared from her home in Billerica a week ago Monday. The husband and mother of the young woman are very anxious about her and fear for her safety.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO.

Next Sunday will be the feast of St. Anne, a feast of the Catholic church, observed especially by the French-Canadians, wherever they are located. As is well known, the shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre, in Canada, is known to Catholics, the world-over. In connection with the coming feast local Catholics of all nationalities will read with interest an account which appeared in the old Sun, of a remarkable cure that took place at St. Joseph's church, in Lee street, on the feast of St. Anne, quarter of a century ago.

The old Sun reads as follows: "On the feast of St. Anne, last year, we recorded the remarkable cure of Mrs. Hanel of Centralville, who had been a helpless cripple for 12 years. Her cure attracted wide notice and the devotion to St. Anne were renewed with greater fervor than ever. Last Friday was the feast of St. Anne and it brought another cure as remarkable as that of the preceding year."

"Frank Paris, of 12 1-2 Race street, was almost entirely cured of paralysis at St. Joseph's after devotions to St. Anne. Mr. Paris is a native of Three Rivers, Canada and is 45 years of age, having been a resident of Lowell for 22 years. He is a hard-working citizen and has a family of two boys and a girl. Mr. Paris was employed in the boarding room of the Lawrence corporation for nine years, up to the time of his illness two years ago. Sunday about two years ago, he walked to Fort Hill park and back apparently in good health and the following morning rose early to light the fire, when he fell suddenly to the floor, his left side being completely paralyzed. Since that time he had been unable to move either the arm or leg, carrying a cane with which to walk, as he was obliged to take a step with one foot and then gradually drag the other foot up to the first and then proceed as before. Last Friday was the feast of St. Anne, the mother of the Blessed Virgin, and on that day a novena held in her honor at St. Joseph's church came to a close. Mr. Paris was a devout attendant at all the services, his intention being that he might once more be able to walk. It was with great difficulty he reached the church as his home was about a quarter of a mile away. Last Wednesday he felt somewhat relieved but was unable to move the paralyzed arm and limb. Friday morning he started from his home at 6:30 for the 8 o'clock mass. At communion he reached the altar rail by the aid of his cane and after receiving communion he felt that he could walk unassisted. Placing his cane within the altar rail, to the surprise of the great throng, he freely moved the limb that for two years had been powerless and walked without assistance to the last pew in the edifice. Here he spent some time in thanksgiving."

"King" Kelly's Tricky Stunt

While watching Rube De Groot going to the right field fence after a hard hit ball recently an old time fan beside me remarked: "You had he hasn't a ball in his blouse like Mike Kelly had, years ago, and shut off that run." Then he started to tell me the whole story of how the trick Kelly once robbed big Sam Thompson of the Phillies of a homer on the old South End grounds. When he had finished I remarked: "If it wasn't for the slats at the top of the fence, he couldn't have gotten away with it."

"Oh, then you have read something about it," he asked.

"Yes," I observed, "I read a lot about it, and I also saw the play."

"Go on; you were only a kid when that happened," said the fan in disbelief. But it was only quarter of a century ago, next Monday, to be accurate, and the old Sun had the following reference to the incident:

"Last Monday, Kelly stole a game from the Philadelphia club. Two Philadelphia men were on bases when Sam Thompson sent a ball over the right field fence for a home run. The writer was sitting quite near the place where the ball disappeared and had a good view of it until it dropped over the fence. All the players saw the ball go over and Hallinan, Myers and Thompson started leaping around the bases. Trickey Mike Kelly picked up another ball from the field and threw it into the diamond and only one run of the five that Philadelphia had earned was allowed. The Boston newspapers claim that Thompson's hit did not go over the fence. It did go over and Philadelphia was robbed of the game. Although it took ten innings to complete the steal."

As I mentioned some time ago, referring to the old South End grounds and Sullivan's tower, an addition composed of slats several inches apart was put at the top of the original right field fence to obstruct the view of those in the tower. It was seldom that a batter happened along who could wait the ball over that exceptionally high and long-distanced fence and Mike Kelly who played right field when he wasn't behind the bat, was well aware of the fact. On this particular day as the ball soared high in the air toward the top of the fence, Mike was inside the foul line, Mike chased to the fence, and as he neared it, while still looking heavenward, tossed his cap into the air, indicating that the ball had either gone over or through the top slats and out of the grounds, and the runners slowed up and took their time completing the circuit. But Kelly continued to look at the top of the fence and then suddenly dropped to the ground at the bottom of the fence and quickly jumping up, turned around and to the surprise of all, tossed a ball home, intercepting two of the three runners.

There was a mighty kick, but Kelly stoutly maintained that the ball stuck momentarily between the top slats and then dropped down inside the fence and that he had immediately recovered it. The counter-claim was made that Kelly had a ball concealed in his blouse and at the psychological moment produced it. A protest was entered and a hearing given, but I remember rightly justice was successfully brought out and the game stood. Kelly was full of tricky plays. Back in 1893, I believe it was, the year that Kelly went to Cincinnati I saw him pull off the "run him off" steal that has been worked many times since then, even as late as Mattie Hickey's time right here in Lowell, but seldom with success. Cincinnati was playing Louisville, at Louisville and our old-time favorite, Tim Shanick, formerly of the Lowells, was with Louisville playing the infield. I was visiting in Louisville and went to the game as Tim's guest. With a runner on second and Kelly on first a double steal was attempted and the Louisville catcher, by a great throw to third caught the first runner between the lines. The infield closed in on him and started chasing back and forth and of course it was a foregone conclusion that he'd be tagged. While they were running him back and forth Kelly tagged second and quickly started for third, getting by the arm of fielders and getting

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Pressed by European powers, the United States government has about lost its patience with the various elements in the republics of Haiti and Santo Domingo and will demand a restoration of peace or threaten armed intervention. Already large discretionary orders have been given to Captain Russell of the battleship South Carolina, now at Cape Haitien, but final decision as to whether force is to be used by the American government has been deferred. Reports from Cape Haitien of further fighting, with added danger to foreigners, were regarded as forecasting prompt action by the marines now concentrating at Guantanamo. Not only have the military forces in Haiti refused to heed the warnings of the American government that fighting should cease and properly be protected, but dispatches from Captain Eberle of the cruiser Washington, at Puerto Plata, Santo Domingo, also reported the failure of attempts to settle the Dominican revolution by diplomacy. Secretary Daniels decided that the additional 400 marines to be sent to Guantanamo, Cuba, for service at Haiti would be embarked from Norfolk on the transport Hancock, now on the way to Hampton Roads from Guantanamo. There are now more than 500 marines at Guantanamo and on American warships in Haitian and Dominican waters.

almost to the base before he was discovered. A cry went up from the catcher who was backing up at third and the ball was thrown to him, but Kelly slid in before being tagged while the other runner, having kept the bench occupied until he saw Kelly within reaching distance of third deliberately started off for the bench without waiting to be tagged. On the kick that was made the umpire decided that the moment that Kelly had tagged second the other runner could not go back and was virtually out and that had Kelly been tagged both men would have been out. The baseball writers at the time mentioned it as something entirely new in baseball.

Doctors Held Outing

The Old Sun says: "The Middlesex North Medical society held their annual outing at Tyngs Island, Wednesday. In the dance hall, Dr. O. A. Willard read a paper on cholera infantum, and some of its prevailing aspects as seen in this city at the present time. Dr. J. A. Gage, city physician, made extended remarks and read a message from Dr. J. E. Fields, chairman of the board of health, having in view the awakening of some means to lessen the death rate in this city by cholera infantum and proposing measures with that effect. Dr. H. A. Johnson, Dr. H. R. Briswell, Dr. Fisher of the Tewksbury almshouse and Dr. Prescott of Nashua, made remarks. The society also listened to an interesting account of recent visits to hospitals in London and Paris by Dr. J. C. Irish, and then sat down to supper. A game of baseball was played and there were other amusements. One female physician saw the fun."

The Sun neglected to mention the name of the lone representative of the fair sex. During the last week in July, 25 years ago out of a total death list of 30, 10 were due to cholera infantum and all through the summer months the average was maintained. Last week's death list of 17 falls to reveal a single death from the dread disease that once proved fatal to so many little ones.

Old Time Trotting Race

While the gentlemen who at present are trying with considerable success to revive an interest in harness horse racing are organized under the name of the Lowell Driving Club, their predecessors of 25 years ago were known as the Lowell Trotting association, though they didn't bar pacers, nor even the ponies. Just quarter of a century ago the Lowell Trotting association held a meeting on the Fair Grounds and the old Sun reported it as follows:

"The races under the auspices of the Lowell Trotting association, postponed from Saturday occurred at the Fair Grounds, Monday afternoon. About 400 people were present, and each class attracted attention, as only Lowell horses were admitted. There were three entries in the three minute class. Five heats were trotted and it was nearly dark when the event came to a close. The summary: '2 minute class, best 3 heats in 5: purse $50, divided. Henry Conway's 'Dandy' 1 3 3 1 1 G. F. Atkins 'Rooney' 2 2 1 2 3 Daniel Crowley's 'Velo' 3 1 2 2 3 'Star' 4 4 4 4 4. In the 2:40 class there were three entries. The summary: 'Purse, $50 for 2:40 horses, best 3

HINMAN AND WHITMAN

I. H. D. HINMAN
2. C. S. WHITMAN
FIGHTS FOR THE REPUBLICAN NOMINATION

ALBANY, N. Y., July 24.—The New York state gubernatorial fight has become more than it generally does. The chief political significance is the part Col. Roosevelt is playing. He has come out with a flat endorsement of ex-State Senator Harvey D. Hinman, who has announced himself as a candidate for the nomination at the republican primaries as an anti-Barnes and independent candidate. Hinman will try to beat out District Attorney Charles S. Whitman of New York for the nomination. Whitman will be the regular republican organization's man. If Hinman should get the nomination and win at the election it would be a big feather in Roosevelt's cap. If the colonel should meet with any kind of success with his progressive candidates in other states it would strengthen him materially for the 1916 presidential race.

YOUNG MAN FROM PHILADELPHIA THOUGHT EVERYBODY COULD SHOOT OUT WEST

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 21.—Bert Brent, aged 22, just arrived from Philadelphia, was arrested on a downtown street yesterday charged with shooting at the feet of pedestrians to make them dance.

Brent, who was dressed picturesquely in leather "chaps" and armed with a revolver in a brass-studded holster, expressed surprise when Judge Kennedy in the north side municipal court informed him that such actions were not customary in Kansas City and fined him $50.

"Why, I thought everybody carried a gun and did a little shooting out here in the west," he said as he was led away.

PIMPLES ON FACE
ITCHED AND BURNED

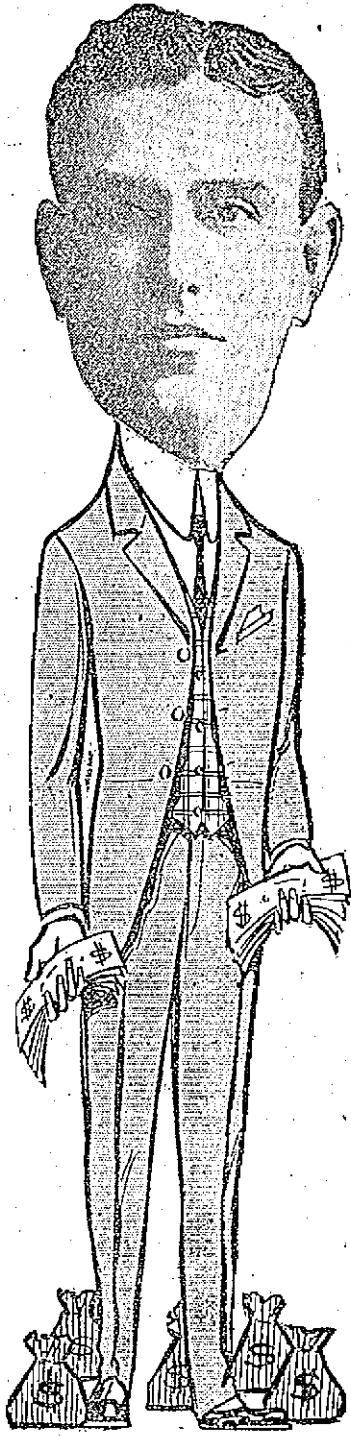

Face Dry and Scaly. Distracted With Discomfort. Wasn't Slight, Couldn't Sleep. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Face Without a Mark.

So, Gardner, Me.—"Last spring my face began to break out with red pimples and after washing would be dry and scaly. Some of the pimples would have a white head and others would be purple. They would itch and burn and I was distracted with the discomfort. I was a sight and could not sleep nights.

"I tried a number of remedies but my face grew worse. I used — Salve and — but they did not do any good. At last I remembered of my mother using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment with good success, so I thought I would try them. I sent for a sample and even the first trial did me so much good I at once got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of the Cuticura Ointment and began to use them. I washed my face with hot water and Cuticura Soap, then applied the Cuticura Ointment. The relief was immediate. I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and in six weeks my face was without even a mark." (Signed) Mrs. M. L. Joy, Feb. 23, 1914.

Samples Free by Mail

In the care of baby's skin and hair, Cuticura Soap is the mother's favorite. Not only is it unexcelled in purity and refreshing fragrance, but its gentle emollient properties are usually sufficient to allay minor irritations, remove redness, roughness and chafing, soothe sensitive conditions, and promote skin and hair health generally. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

I Have Bought 48 Pieces of Blue Serge

In my day, I have done many things to astound the clothing trade of that part of this country in which I operate. I believe that even my competitors will admit that much—to deny it would be to assail the reputation of woolen mills famous throughout the civilized world.

But the event of my career, I announce today. As the high cost of living hits you in your household, so it strikes us in business. Everything we touch is costing a great deal more. Therefore, to equal the bargains of my old days is no easy task.

I am going to place on sale beginning today, this buy of 48 whole pieces of Blue Serge that will gratify any man's desire for shade, quality and weave; the weight runs from 12 to 16 ozs. to the yard, suitable for summer, spring or winter. Colors mostly plain blue, about six pieces run on the shadow and pencil stripes. I honestly believe this lot superior to any serge I ever offered at my special $15.00 price, and when I say that you know I have sold serges for $15.00 that were altogether advertising stunts rather than in and out business transactions. This lot is sold for advertising purposes. Buy one and send in your friends.

SEE MY WINDOW. I have reserved one whole window for this display. Some whole bolts, some half cuts and suit patterns. These goods were not made specially for me, the mill made them for any man with the ready money to buy them. I want to keep my help busy through this dull season, July and August. I want my old customers to take advantage of this sale, and I want to put four hundred new names on my books in the next two weeks.

MY GUARANTEE of fit, workmanship and linings goes on this sale as it has in the past. If a garment fades or my cutter slips up in fitting you, I will make you a new garment absolutely free.

TAUNTON TRUSTEES QUIT

THREE RESIGN FROM INSANE HOSPITAL BOARD—PAID COMMISSION TO TAKE OVER DUTIES

BOSTON, July 21.—Three of the seven trustees of the Taunton state insane hospital yesterday sent their resignations to Gov. Walsh. They are Henry R. Steadman of Brockton, chairman; Loyd E. Chamberlain of Brockton, and James P. Francis of New Bedford. No reason for these resignations was given.

Mr. Steadman's term was to have expired this year, Judge Chamberlain's terms in 1920 and Mr. Francis' term in 1915.

The management of the insane hospital of the state has been discussed considerably on Beacon Hill this year in one form or another, and during the last days of the session of the legislature a bill was passed creating a new paid board of insanity of three members. This latter board has not yet been appointed by Gov. Walsh, but is likely to be named at any time.

It has been well known since Gov. Walsh took office that he desired a decided change in the system of controlling the state insane, charitable and correctional institutions. In the matter of the insane hospitals he succeeded in securing the passage of the legislation providing for the paid board, the effect of which will be to take from the hands of the unpaid boards of trustees connected with each institution certain powers which they have long enjoyed and turn them over to the new board.

The other members of the Taunton insane hospital trustees are Charles N. Cain of Taunton, Simon Bordon of Fall River, Elizabeth C. M. Gifford of East Boston and Margaret Smith of Taunton.

ISOLATION HOSPITAL

Manchester, N. H., has an isolation hospital problem so very like our own that any reference to it is of special interest to the Lowell public. It seems that several months ago some of the leading citizens, realizing the inadequate provisions of the New Hampshire capital against contagious disease or other such emergency, advocated the erection of a city hospital suited to the needs of the times and suited in particular to the needs of Manchester. The matter was taken up by the press and within a short time there was a very general agitation for such a hospital. Then the trouble that we have known so well in Lowell broke out. No sooner was one site mentioned than selfishly interested people either objected to it or offered substitute sites. In the end, the project went itself out and the disgusted supporters of the scheme let the matter drop.

Now, however, there is a revival of interest in the proposed erection of a contagious or isolation hospital, owing to a recommendation contained in the annual report of the board of health of that city. While the citizens were wrangling about a site last winter and while the municipal authorities were bawling about the bush, a scarlet fever epidemic broke out similar to that which is still spoken of in this city. Manchester also had some experience with smallpox. The recommendation of its board of health, therefore, comes at this time with especial force, and it is probable that the hustling city will not long ignore a question, the importance of which has been only too well proved.

The board of health besides recommending the erection of an isolation hospital also recommended a $50,000 appropriation for the purpose—far more, it will be remembered, than the amount which would have given Lowell a modern and scientific building. The Manchester Leader, dwelling on this phase of the question, says:

And the $50,000 appropriation which the board proposes to ask for this purpose is not a cent too much. If Manchester needs an isolation hospital, and there is no room for doubt on that point—she needs a modern, up-to-date, fireproof structure which shall be built with an eye to the future, as well as to immediate needs. The city is growing rapidly; every year sees large increase in population, with a corresponding increase in the chances of serious epidemics. The sum of $50,000 expended now for the provision of a suitable isolation hospital may be the means of saving many times that sum of money, to say nothing of the lives it might save within the next few years. Manchester owes it to herself to make this provision, and to make it at the earliest possible moment.

There is not one argument favorable to a contagious hospital for Manchester which does not apply to Lowell with greater force. Both cities have congested areas where a serious epidemic would have terrible consequences if not checked at its commencement. Both are mill cities with a large alien population and with a great deal of tuberculosis and the other diseases that all progressive states are spending millions to stamp out. Lowell, however, has the greater incentive for a contagious hospital, because of the state demand which provides a penalty each time that the request of the state authorities is refused. At present the probability of such an institution in both Lowell and Manchester is not over brilliant, though arguments to support it are incontrovertible. It will be interesting to see if the Manchester authorities will prove as indifferent as the Lowell authorities and it will be also interesting to see whether this city will have its long-discussed hospital before the Queen City.

WINDOW BREAKING

Owners of property in Lowell know for a certainty that as soon as any building is vacated, the windows are not safe, and that if the building is vacant for any length of time, all windows are sure to be broken. This happens in all sections but more particularly in thickly populated parts of the city. The breaking of street lamps has also become a popular pastime with street hoodlums and the glass in front of the fire alarm boxes is frequently a target for their tendency towards property destruction. In many parts of the city fire-box glass is broken as quickly as it is replaced. As a matter of course this destruction of public property is attended with some degree of injury to private property and in many of the best residential sections of the city railroads and fences have been broken, park benches and shrubbery have been damaged, and the reign of juvenile destruction seems to be on its earnest.

This is a condition that cannot be permitted to continue and it could be prevented without a great deal of trouble if the authorities got after the rascally malicious who take an evil delight in wanton destruction. At present there is little satisfaction for the individual who may be out hundreds of dollars by their pernicious practices. The breaker of windows or the young ruffian who steals or injures machinery or other property is brought before the juvenile court and sometimes escapes punishment. Occasionally, he is fined and the fine goes to the county while the injured party must bear the loss as pleasantly as he may. While conditions remain as they are, there is not much to discourage the window breaking and other undesirable activities of the hoodlum gangs that infest some sections of the city.

In all probability the laxity which seems to obtain is due to the molly-coddling juvenile laws which are regarded as a universal failure, that is if they were meant to deter youngsters from committing criminal acts. If their purpose was to rear up a generation of evil-doers, subject to no law and respecting neither public authority nor private right, they did fair to succeed in their regrettable purpose. When the window breaker is law broken by the authorities as a law breaker, there will be less juvenile lawlessness.

TROLLEY ACCIDENTS

The trolley accident at Westport, Conn., two days ago, in which three persons were killed outright and over twenty injured, serves to emphasize the comparative safety of trolley transportation in the summer season as contrasted with train service. In this state alone thousands go on special trolley trips and outings weekly and yet the report of an accident on such an occasion comes but rarely. That this is so is a tribute to the efficiency and caution of the average motorman and conductor, for oftentimes the public is none too cautious or considerate. In the Westport case, it would seem that the wreck was due to the recklessness of the motorman of the picnic train, who put on full speed going down hill in order to pass a trolley freight. He miscalculated, and the cars came together with the above-mentioned results.

As in steam transportation, no set of rules will ensure public safety unless the road officials insist on their recognition by patrons. When large numbers set out for a day's enjoyment, they lose any sense of caution, and it is easy for conductors and motormen to become careless as a result. Railroad employees must observe the greatest personal care on such occasions, but the necessity for safeguarding human life should be always in their mind. When we read of such occurrences as that of Westport, the wisdom of the rule which forbids any interference with the motorman becomes very apparent. The public should respect all such regulations, remembering that there is real need for them and that to ignore them may lead to serious consequences.

A PRACTICAL "JOKE"

A few days ago a local undertaker was telephoned to by a woman and told to go to a house in this city for the body of a woman who had just died. As most calls come to undertaking establishments in this manner and as the family of the supposedly deceased was one which had given him charge of burials in the past, he did not hesitate in responding but took his wagon and helper along. In the wagon he took the usual casket or box and everything else connected with embalming and transportation of the dead. On arriving at the house to which he had been directed, he was greeted by the woman whose body he was supposed to get. Seeing his confusion, the woman—who, by the way, is just middle age—suspected the truth, and showed evidences of palmed surprise that anybody should have been so bereft of a sense of decency as to perpetrate such a horrible parody on a joke.

This instance is by no means unique and there is no doubt that the party responsible for it thinks she did something really funny. Whether the "joke" was meant to be on the undertaker or on the family to which he was sent is not certain, but no sensible person would hesitate for an instant in branding the act as infamous. It is to be hoped that if the police get hold of the facts and of the "joker" some law may be found under which she may be adequately punished.

THE CAILLAUX CASE

From the newspaper accounts of the world-famous Caillaux case it looks as if the romantic people of France regard their courts as a high class vaudeville show—much as we regard our municipal politics, unfortunately. For the past few days Paris has been divided into two camps over the guilt or innocence of the emotional and demure Madame, and her brilliant husband is giving the populace some rare thrills by his Chanticleer struttings, his theatrical self-accusations, and the tenderness with which he kisses the hand that wielded the revolver so well. The farce is beautifully acted and consequently there is a good prospect that Madame will go free, to the delight of the romanticists and possibly to the indignation of the ineffective few who feel that courts were instituted for the furthering of justice. There is every prospect of a duel too, so Paris may have more of the excitement on which it revels.

Strangely contradictory to stories of business depression is the activity now being shown by many of the leading industries in the city. The slight stagnation of a few months ago has almost completely disappeared; mills and factories are running nearly full time and all are apparently preparing for a busy season. The building boom which started in the mills a few years ago still continues, and our myriad wheels are singing a sweet accompaniment to the songs of prosperity.

AMONG THE TOILERS

John Horan of the Federal Shoe Co. is said to be Lowell's strongest man.

Miss Alice Anderson of the Lowell Bleachery is spending the week at Old Orchard beach.

Miss Beatrice Moran of the Stirling mills will spend next week at New Wood, Mass., with relatives.

William Ralney of the Boot mills is planning to spend two weeks at his camp at Simpson pond.

Geo. Plourde, employed at the Bigelow Carpet Co., will spend next week at Newmarket, N. H.

Frank Hale of the Saco-Lowell shops will spend the next two weeks with his family at Wells beach, Me.

Philip Walsh of the Massachusetts mills is staying with relatives at Lynnfield for the week.

Miss Anna McGeever of the U. S. Cartridge Co. has returned from a pleasant vacation spent at Revere beach.

The Misses Grace Bradley and Louise Curtis of the Hamilton Manufacturing Co. are stopping at the Christian house, Juniper Point.

Edward O'Neil of the Saco-Lowell office force is spending the week at Old Orchard beach with a party of friends.

Charles Donnelly of the Lowell Bleachery mills has plans completed for his vacation which will be spent at Old Orchard beach in August.

Michael Fenton, formerly employed at the Middlesex mills, has accepted a position with the Northern Waste Co., of Warrenville.

William Coleman of the Appleton Manufacturing Co. has returned from Saugus, Mass., where he spent a restful week with relatives.

William Clark and Robert McLannan, employees at the Boot mills, have returned from a business trip to Javerville.

Thomas Morgan of the American Hide & Leather Co. is contemplating spending a week or two in New York in the very near future.

Tomorrow will be the big day for the employees of the U. S. Bunting Co. A hustling committee has everything in readiness and state that tomorrow's outing will be the best ever.

Lawrence Martin, one of the skilled employees of the American Mason Safety Tread Co. is busily engaged at city hall laying a desk covering in the office of the commissioner of finance.

Jack Clayton of the Bigelow Carpet Co. has developed in his game baseball fan. He still has confidence in the Lowell team and expects before long to see the team topping the league. We admire your confidence, Mr. Clayton.

Thomas Coxton of the Northern Waste Co. will spend the month of August at Barnstable. Mr. Coxton owns a spacious camp on the Shawheen and he never fails to spend the month of August there.

It was erroneously stated in yesterday's edition that the Bigelow Carpet Co. would close down its plant Saturday noon for two weeks. The shut-down will be for one week only for the purpose of taking stock.

John Seaton and John Carroll, employees of the Northern Waste Co., are quite expert in the gentle art of wrestling. It is said that they are preparing an act for the stage and will probably be seen at one of the local playhouses in the winter.

Edmond Seward, an organizer for the American Federation of Labor in Lowell, says that the condition of organized labor in this city is fair but that of the unorganized is very poor. Good work is being done for the union label. He also states that the formation of another union will be announced within a short time.

Joseph Sharon, a prominent employee of the Lowell Bleachery mills, has severed his connection with that company to accept a more lucrative position with a Worcester concern. In remembrance of the esteem in which he is held, a party of his co-workers called at his home Wednesday evening and presented him a handsome pearl-handled umbrella. Considerable business was transacted and two new members were initiated. Business Agent Fifield reported that business was very good around town, and that the outlook was promising.

Wages for Girls
After Aug. 3, all girls or women employed in industrial occupations in Washington must be paid the minimum wage of $3.90 per week. Girls working in mercantile establishments must be paid at the minimum of $10 a week after July 27. Every union ought to send its full quota of delegates to the convention that makes the laws and elects the officers for the two years following. Nothing in connection with the work of the union can be more important.

American Federation of Labor
The average paid up and reported membership of the American Federation of Labor for the year is 1,996,004, an increase of 225,559 members over last year. National and international organizations are required to pay only the per capita tax upon their full paid membership, and therefore, the large number of members involved in strikes during the fiscal year, for whom tax was not paid, otherwise the average membership would have exceeded the 2,000,000 mark. The membership of the affiliated organizations for the month of September of this year is 2,044,828, an increase of 213,558 over the September membership of last year, and 251,381 over the average membership of last year.

Boost Your Union
A labor union official gives this advice: "One of the worst sins of indifference of the average trade union member is the neglect to attend the union meetings. A union member who does not attend the union meetings loses the biggest part of the evolutionary, educational effect of the opportunity to broaden and improve himself through association with his fellows. Besides, he is depriving the organization of the encouragement of his personal presence. There is an enthusiasm about large meetings that carries a message of hope and confidence to each member. Attend the union meetings, but by all means go to boost and not to knock."

Church Favors Labor Unions
At a meeting of the Buffalo Federation of Churches, the following was included in a report of its social committee which was unanimously adopted: "The churches must stand for the social welfare of all men in all stations of life. For the fullest possible development for every child, especially by the provision of proper education and recreation."

For the abolition of child labor.
"For such regulations of the conditions of toil for women as shall safeguard the physical and moral health of the community."

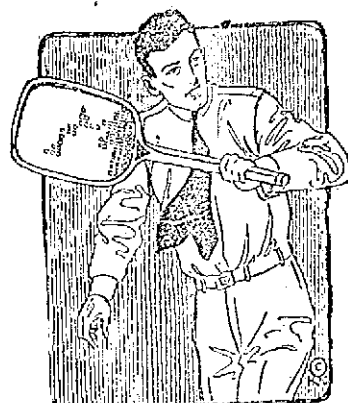

For the protection of the worker from dangerous machinery, occupational diseases, and mortality.
"For the right of all men to opportunity for self maintenance, for safeguarding this right against encroachment of every kind, and for the protection of workers from the hardships of enforced unemployment."

For suitable provision for the old age of the workers, and for those incapacitated by injury.
"For the right of employees and employers alike to organize for adequate means of negotiation and arbitration in industrial disputes."

For a release from employment one day in seven.
"For the gradual and reasonable reduction of the hours of labor to the lowest practicable point, and for that degree of leisure for all which is a condition of the highest human life."

For a living wage as a minimum in every industry, and for the highest wage that each industry can afford."

BANDITS HELD UP TRAIN

Three Masked Men Robbed Passengers of More Than $2000 and Escaped

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 24.—Depot sheriffs were hunting the hills north of Los Angeles today for two or possibly three men who boarded train number 23 of the Southern Pacific company last night near Chatsworth park and robbed passengers in two cars of more than $2000. Two men did the work of robbing the passengers, but a third man, who appeared from the smoking car, as the two robbed the train and is said to have kept in advance of the robbers during operations, is believed to have been an accomplice.

The bandits dropped from the train as it slowed up at Hewitt, a small station about 10 miles north of Los Angeles.

Brakeman T. Gundry was standing on the rear platform when the robbers swung aboard. One of the masked men, armed with a shotgun, ordered the brakeman to hold up his hands.

The second robber drew a revolver and Gundry, still holding his hands above his head, was forced to walk ahead of the men as they robbed the passengers. Men in the cars were forced to stand by their seats and drop their money into the pockets of the bandits as they passed. Women passengers were allowed to remain seated, but commanded to deliver their purses promptly.

BANKERS ARE CONFIDENT

That New Financial System Will Show the Elasticity Needed to Help Business

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 24.—Bankers of Missouri, each in touch with the actual financial, business and crop conditions in his territory, believe that the state is on the verge of one of the greatest eras of prosperity in its history.

In a number of letters to The St. Louis Republic, replying to inquiries as to the exact conditions in the state, they have declared in no uncertain terms that Missouri is entering, with the coming installation of the new currency system, on a period of exceptionally good business.

The majority of letters received by The Republic ascribe the optimistic outlook to the bumper wheat harvest, its already noticeable effect in financial circles in certain districts and the belief that the new currency system when in operation will increase the financial prosperity of the state many fold.

Many of the writers have gone into painstaking detail and show in their letters just what the situation is in their own sections of the state. The inquiries were sent out regardless of political creed or belief and with a request for replies in the same spirit. This has been done.

Those in the farming districts pin their faith to the bumper wheat crop,

A Summer Trip Through the Northwest and to the Pacific Coast

Everyone should know something of our wonderful country in the great northwest and on the Pacific Coast—Washington, Montana, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and California, all can be visited comfortably, and without great expense by taking advantage of the low price Summer Tour tickets. Really, there can be nothing more attractive nor more educational than a tour through this country, with possibly a visit to the Yellowstone or to Glacier National Park en route. Let me tell you what can be done. Let me send you some descriptive printed matter. Let me help plan a trip for you. That's my business and part of the Burlington Route (C. B. & Q. R. R.) service.

the greatest Missouri has ever known, and the fact that the harvest has gone on without hitch and the farmers are having few financial worries and are able on this crop to take up old obligations without the necessity of making new.

Corn, too, has a good prospect. In some sections of the state they have had plenty of rain, while reports from others show that the corn has a good stand and that with seasonable weather will join with wheat in making this a great year for Missouri.

homa, and the result of these developments and of the fact that the supply of coal is catching up with the demand on account of the increased production in 1913 is exhibited in the return to lower prices, the average value per ton in 1913 being the same as in 1911. The total number of men on strike in Oklahoma in 1913 was 1694, and the average time lost by each man was 80 days.

Oklahoma continues to show a high percentage of coal shot out of the solid, a practice encouraged by the laws of the state, which compel the payment of wages on the basis of mine-run coal.

The number of days the men were able to work in 1913 shows a marked improvement over the two preceding years, and if no time had been lost by strikes the average number of days worked would have exceeded 200 by a good margin. As it was, the average time made by the 574 men employed was 137 days, compared with $759 men for 171 days in 1912. The average total production per man in 1913 was 461 tons.

The fatality record for Oklahoma in 1913, according to the bureau of mines, shows a decided improvement over 1912, when, owing to an explosion at McArthur and dust in the Sapulpa mine, at Muskogee, the death toll was high. In that one explosion the lives lost amounted to more than three times the total number of deaths in 1913, when 23 fatal accidents occurred.

store for Lowell. By the first of November he'd have everything completed for his first race on the ice—all but the ice. Then he'd go around among the horsemen and talk it up. "Doc" wasn't a particularly religious man but it was said of him that once a year he prayed fervently and that was late in the fall when he prayed for plenty of ice in the river. In the case of a mild winter "Doc" would accept the inevitable philosophically and assure his friends of even greater happenings the following winter. But when a cold snap made the ice thick on the river, with a slight covering of snow to make the footing good, "Doc" would go around for the usual few contributions to defray the expense of preparing a half-mile track and in a couple of days there would be fun galore for the horsemen. Among the gentlemen who were always ready to assist "Doc" and who took their horses to the track were the late Mayor Palmer, C. I. Hood, the late John Lennon, Thomas B. Lennon, Murphy and Bingham, the stable-keepers, Griville Peabody, F. L. Richards, formerly in business in Moody street, Wilber L. Dunstley, formerly artist on The Sun, Frank H. Harris, D. J. Murphy and Dick Murphy, James P. O'Donnell, James E. and many others and it was well worth the trip to Middlesex Village, on the boulevard side, usually the scene of the track, to witness the sport. As there was more ice racing in Canada than around here, ice racing was particularly popular with the French-Americans and many a funny race was pulled off by rival "peccos," otherwise known as "skates," from Little Canada and vicinity. And that reminds me of a great race, that tradition says was actually pulled off on "Doc's" ice track. The names here mentioned are fictitious and if the dialect is punk please forgive it. The story runneth thus:

A Dead Heat

Pierre Trudeau and Batiste Latrémou were rival job wagon men in Little Canada and each owned a pretty good horse. One evening while both were in a party in Frank Richards' saloon, the subject turned to horses and as some of the party were not French, the conversation was carried on in English in a little Canada.

Said Pierre: "I got boss; she's not much good on top of cobble stone, but she go lak hell on top of ice."

"Passez, l'assire, Pierre," remarked Batiste in disgust. "Dat ain't no horse you got, she's a peccol. My boss she mak boom look like 10, 11, fifty cent."

To continue the conversation, Verbatim would take too much space, and so to make a long story short, a race between the two was arranged for 50c per side, to be held on the ice track the following day. After another argument as to who should be stakeholder and judge, it was agreed upon that a mutual friend, Henri Constanciau should officiate. Henri's principal qualification for the position was the fact that he had a fairly good job in the mill and thus could be depended upon to remain in Lowell overnight, even with 100 beautiful dollars in his jeans.

Henri had also once seen a horse race at the Sherbrooke fair and used to chum around with a man at Trois Rivieres who owned a fast horse.

The weather had been quite suit for several days and the regular horsemen were rather timid about trusting their trotters on the ice track, but that fact didn't deter Pierre and Batiste and though the following day resembled good spring weather and people were sweltering in their winter clothing, both appeared on the scene with their trotters at the appointed time, and likewise Henri Constanciau, the stakeholder, with the 100 safety-pinned in his trousers pocket. A spectator was selected to start them off, and in lieu of a revolver he used Nature's great apparatus for starting something—the mouth. As the pair came down the track from the scoring point, horse to nose, he cried: "Allons!" and they were off. Henri was at the finishing point holding in one hand his faithful Waterbury to get the time while the other firmly clasped the trousers pocket. For the quarter they were neck and neck, both drivers yelling like demons. Just at the quarter Pierre's horse went off his feet and while Pierre like a good sport was pulling him up Batiste got a good lead. From before the start, there were ominous sounds emanating from under the surface of the track and the spectators who had gone on the ice had beaten a hasty retreat to the shore. Just as Batiste's horse, snorting like a freight engine on an upgrade, was nearing the finishing point—

"Crack!" There came a burst of thunder sound; the boy, O where was he?

The boy—Batiste, was pulling himself out of the water, while his horse was struggling to regain the surface. By making a wide detour Pierre managed to escape the hole and finished the race. With great difficulty Batiste's horse was pulled out, but was in such bad shape that it had to be shot.

Once his horse was pulled out of the water Batiste made for the stakeholder who was having a red hot argument with Pierre, who claimed the money.

"I win! I win! My boss she's in front wen de h'ice she broke," cried Batiste grabbing Henri by the arm on the side on which the money was concealed.

"You win! I don't tink!" yelled Pierre. "My boss she was first on de finish; your boss she fall down. Dat's my money. I claim heem!"

"Messieurs, Messieurs," expostulated Henri, waving both contestants away. "One leetle moment, all vous plait. It'ses wal you call a difference d'opinion? Batiste, he say he's boss she's in front wen de h'ice she broke. C'est correct. Pierre, he say he's boss she's first on de finish. C'est core correct. Mais messieurs, perhaps if de h'ice she don't break Batiste he'll be first on de finish; but de h'ice she do break and Batiste's boss she haint got chance for finish if she wants to. Once I see deeg boss race on Sherbrooke fair. One boss she

For the quarter they were neck and neck, both drivers yelling like demons. Just at the quarter Pierre's horse went off his feet and while Pierre like a good sport was pulling him up Batiste got a good lead. From before the start, there were ominous sounds emanating from under the surface of the track and the spectators who had gone on the ice had beaten a hasty retreat to the shore. Just as Batiste's horse, snorting like a freight engine on an upgrade, was nearing the finishing point—

"Crack!" There came a burst of thunder sound; the boy, O where was he?

The boy—Batiste, was pulling himself out of the water, while his horse was struggling to regain the surface. By making a wide detour Pierre managed to escape the hole and finished the race. With great difficulty Batiste's horse was pulled out, but was in such bad shape that it had to be shot.

Once his horse was pulled out of the water Batiste made for the stakeholder who was having a red hot argument with Pierre, who claimed the money.

Fierce Rioting in St. John, N. B.—
Cars Overturned and Burned—
City Without Light

ST. JOHN, N. B., July 24.—During that has occurred in this city in the three hours of rioting last night in connection with the car strike, soldiers charged a mob of 1000 persons in Market square, cars were overturned and burned in the square, firemen in a power house were stoned and driven from work and the city was left without lights for a time.

FIGHTING DISEASE GERMS

There is a popular idea that most sickness is caused by a germ of the disease finding entrance to our bodies through the food we eat, the water or milk we drink or the air we breathe. This is true as far as it goes but it is also true that disease germs are entering our bodies every day without causing disease.

The reason for this is that there are forces within the body that are constantly fighting these disease germs and it is only when this defense is weakened that the germs get the upper hand and we become ill. One of the most powerful of these forces that work for health is rich, red blood. Good, healthy blood increases the resistance of the body to the disease germs that are always threatening. It is that keeps up this resistance by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, eating proper food, avoiding articles of food that do not agree with us and getting plenty of fresh air day and night, then it is to cure disease after it gets a foot-hold. Keep up the resistance of your body to disease by these tonic pills, which you can get at any drug store, and you will avoid much sickness.

These booklets, "Building Up the Blood" and "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

DEFIANCE IS OUT

Withdraws From Competition—The Changes Will Take Too Long

NEW YORK, July 24.—Only two yachts, the Resolute and the Vantile, now remain in the contest for the honor of defending the America cup, as the Defiance was withdrawn from further competition yesterday and is now being put out of commission at City Island.

George M. Pynchon, managing director of the Tri-City syndicate, owner of the sloop, yesterday sent a formal notice of her withdrawal to Commodore Darius B. Pratt of the New York Yacht club. Mr. Pynchon said that changes structural, as well as in rig, to fit her for racing, would take between three weeks and a month, so it was decided to retire the mahogany sloop at this time.

She was designed by George Owen and built by the Bath Iron Works of Bath, Me. She is a most attractive appearing vessel, and to a great extent is an enlarged Dorothea. The Dorothea and the Dorothea II, both Owen-designed craft, were remarkably speedy. The rig of the Defiance is similar to those used on the Dorothea, the single head rig being used.

Until very recently no job topsails were used on the Defiance. She showed considerable speed to windward, but running free her very small spinnaker materially interfered with her speed. The money necessary to build and race the Defiance was supplied by prominent yachtsmen of this city, Boston and Philadelphia, hence she was known as the Tri-City sloop. Those in the syndicate include Messrs. E. Walter Clark, James B. Ford, J. P. Crowlidge, Hall T. C. Dunham, George B. Horton, George Laurier, Jr., George M. Pynchon, J. C. Fletcher, E. S. Webster, Elliott Wadsworth, Charles Hayden, F. E. Peabody, J. C. Cobb, Oliver Adams and Henry Taggard.

Mr. Pynchon is the managing director and E. Walter Clark the financial manager of the syndicate. Capt. Selas B. Hewell was in command of the Defiance's crew.

ELOPER SHOT AND KILLED

YOUNG MAN KILLED IN FATHER-IN-LAW'S OFFICE—LATTER HELD FOR MURDER

HAYWORTH, N. Y., July 24.—Eugene Newman, a 19-year-old youth who, last Sunday, eloped with Anna Cleary, daughter of William O. Cleary, town clerk of Hayworth, and prominent in democratic politics, was shot and killed yesterday in the office of Cleary. Cleary and his son-in-law were in the office together. Four shots were fired. Cleary walked to the office of a justice of the peace, and surrendered, who committed him to jail on a charge of murder. It was not known last night whether Cleary and Newman quarreled.

WACOB NOW ONLY CATCHER

"Pete" Handles His Pitchers in Fine Style and is Steady Worker

"Pete" Wacob, Californian and exponent of the Western league, is now Lowell's only backstop, with Greenhalgo filling in at second base. The big fellow, however, was doing the bulk of the backstop work for the local club anyhow and has experienced no pangs of loneliness.

Wacob got a very late start this season on account of the change in climate but has steadily improved as the season progressed until now he is considered one of the most valuable catchers in the league.

"Pete," however, has not shown up as well this season as he did last year with the Wichita, Kan., club, probably on account of the climate. His hitting has not been all that was hoped for although Wacob's work with the stick has been timely. In fact, he is hitting as well as the majority of backstops.

Wacob is a fine handler of his pitchers, and gets the most effective work out of each of them. He is a good judge of a batter, and a slugger has a hard time getting set for a delivery. If the other end of the battery follows Wacob's advice.

"PETE" WACOB

In throwing, "Pete" has few superiors in the league. Although he occasionally makes a wild throw, the Californian has a good arm and snags the sphere to the bases in fine style. Taking everything into consideration, Wacob is one of the league's classiest backstops.

the tall palms—certain it is that several thousand years ago the ball game had reached a high state of development in the 70 cities scattered throughout Yucatan. On clearing away the matted forests enveloping these marvelous ruins, ball courts were disclosed near the most sacred temples, and from the elaborate hieroglyphs and pictographs ornamenting the walls, much was learned of the complicated character of the sport. Centuries after the passing of these ancient Mayans came the first Spanish explorers who found that a younger race in contiguous territory, the Aztecs, had revived the old pastime into a "national game" with a stone "God of Sport" heaving on every court.

"The peculiarity of these early games was that the ball, when in play, was not thrown with the hand but struck by the hip, around which the player wore a protecting pad of leather. At each end of the court was a great stone disk with a hole in the center, and through this orifice the ball was driven before a point was scored. Very naturally a 'lively' ball was used, since rubber trees dominated the forests.

"Old chroniclers marvel at the skill and endurance of the players, for a game was seldom won under four hours of constant play. Such exhausting contests, with a dozen participants in almost constant action, were not for amateurs but professionals. Thus, from the Aztec word elli, signifying 'ball,' came the word mollonquili, 'one who plays ball for a living.'

"Another form of ball game is played by the Indian tribes on the Cudatary River region in the wilds of Brazil. A carefully leveled field lies in front of the matokas, or large communal houses, and daily, at 5 o'clock, the men returning from the day's fishing or hunting, indulge in the sport—not a complicated game like that of the early Mexicans, but one calling for a high degree of skill, as two balls are used by the players, who drive them with the hands toward their opponents. Yellow ball feathers of the Yapo bird are affixed to the rubber balls for accuracy.

The Araucanian Indians of Southern Chile play an ancient game with wooden balls driven by wooden clubs. In a clearing, 300 by 75 yards, enclosed by cut branches of trees, these Indians play chueca, which greatly resembles a croquet or field hockey. The game is played from childhood and the players acquire great skill and the matches draw large crowds. The game calls for great endurance and while generally played in 2 or 3 hour periods, several days have been known to pass before a decision was reached. During the play it is not unusual to hear a player cry 'Am I not a real oak tree?' or 'Is he not a lion's leg?' after a brilliant stroke. Such is Araucanian slang."

JONES' NAME WITHDRAWN

WASHINGTON, July 21.—President Wilson late yesterday ended the bitter fight of his administration by withdrawing the nomination of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago to be a member of the federal reserve board. Mr. Jones had written urging that he no longer be permitted to remain a cause of embarrassment.

The message of withdrawal reached the senate just as Senator Reed of Missouri, one of the democrats opposing confirmation, was concluding a vigorous denunciation of the international Harvester company, of which Mr. Jones is a director. The message created a mild sensation and cut short a debate that promised to run indefinitely.

With the brief message the president

MARRIAGE SEEMS TO AGREE WITH JIMMY VIOX, PIRATE INFELDER

JIMMY VIOX

When Connie Mack lost the pennant in 1912 he blamed it on the fact that so many of his players had married recently and were thinking more about their spouses than baseball. This is not the case of Jimmy Viox, however, for the Pirates' scrappy little infelder took a trip upon the sea of matrimony not long ago, and since that time no one has been able to stop him. He is the batting and fielding sensation of the team at present and shows no signs of letting up.

sent copies of Mr. Jones' letter and his reply. Opposition to the nominee had been based on his connection with the Harvester company, and the senate banking committee had submitted a majority report adverse to confirmation, signed by all the republican and two democratic members.

Mr. Jones wrote that this report was "based on a distortion of facts and perversion of the truth," but expressed the opinion that as a result of the contest, even if the nomination were confirmed by the senate, his usefulness as a member of the board would be seriously impaired.

NEW ENTRIES RECEIVED NEW TRADE COMMISSION

SEVERAL GOOD MEN WILL RUN SATURDAY FROM B. A. A. AT BUNTING CLUB GAMES

There have been about 20 additional entries received by the Bunting club for their track meet and band concert tomorrow. These entries came from the B. A. A. and include several good performers.

Seward, who won the intercollegiate 220 yards dash, has signified his intention of running here Saturday as has also Tom Halpin, the quarter-miler. There are others of repute also. The entire list of new entries follows:

100 yards: William Jenkins, Lynn; F. T. Donahue, Boston; J. T. Prescott, Boston; H. H. Seward, Boston; George Nicholson, Methuen; William Maier, Lowell; M. A. Morrissey, Boston; and Thomas A. Spence, Lynn.

220 yards: William Jenkins, Lynn; T. J. Halpin, Boston; L. T. Prescott, Boston; H. H. Seward, Boston; George Nicholson, Methuen; M. A. Morrissey, Boston; Thomas A. Spence, Lynn.

440 yards: T. J. Halpin, Boston; F. T. Donahue, Boston; J. M. Burke, Boston.

880 yards: R. P. Greene, Boston; P. L. McGrath, Boston; T. J. Halpin, Boston; Walter Ryan, Boston; J. M. Burke, Boston; William Maier, Lowell; Tom Gerry, Orange; Samuel Levine, Lowell; Albert E. Barrow, Lowell.

1600 yards: P. C. Nordell, Boston; L. T. Prescott, Boston.

In the 10 miles event, James McAlpine of Methuen and Joseph Couture of Lowell, are additional entrants.

When the Sixth Regiment band appears at the Bunting club on Saturday with Mr. B. F. Tabor directing, the 25 musicians it will come with its full quota and equipment to give one of the best concerts that Lowell has been favored with for some time. This band has shown great progress under the direction of Mr. Tabor since its formation some two years ago and by hard work and constant practice has come to the front to hold a place not only as the best band that Lowell has ever had but is considered to be one of the leading bands in New England today. Their work is characterized by the military style and is always full of snap and glister that the general public like so well. Mr. Tabor's band has just returned from the tour of duty with the Sixth regiment down on the Cape.

The concert program for tomorrow is as follows:

March, "Royal Artillery".....Novins Overture, "William Tell".....Rossini Trombone solo, selected.

Mr. William Kinghorn Popular selection from Remick's 1914 Big Song Revue.....Remick Selection, "Red Widow".....Gebest T. H. Hill

(a) "When the Angelus is Ringing" Berlin

(b) "The Trombone Slide".....Graves

(c) "It's a Devil".....Snyder Grand selection of "Folk Songs of Scotland".....Lampo

March, "General Mixup, U. S. A." Allen During the races the band will play a collection of popular songs.

REPORTED THAT JOS. E. DAVIES OF WISCONSIN WILL BE MADE CHAIRMAN

JOSEPH E. DAVIES

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Republican senators are preparing to ask some pointed questions as to the personnel of the new trade commission, if one is to be created by the passage of the Newlands bill, now pending in the senate. It has been understood that Joseph E. Davies of Wisconsin, commissioner of corporations, would be chairman of the commission. In one of the first drafts of the bill the "present commissioner of corporations" was designated as the first chairman of the trade commission. While the pending bill does not specify it, senators and representatives have been led to believe that Mr. Davies would be appointed if the commission is created. Republicans in the senate have been growing more and more restless over the political activities of Mr. Davies.

PLAYING BALL

Is an Ancient Institution in America, Says Pan American Union

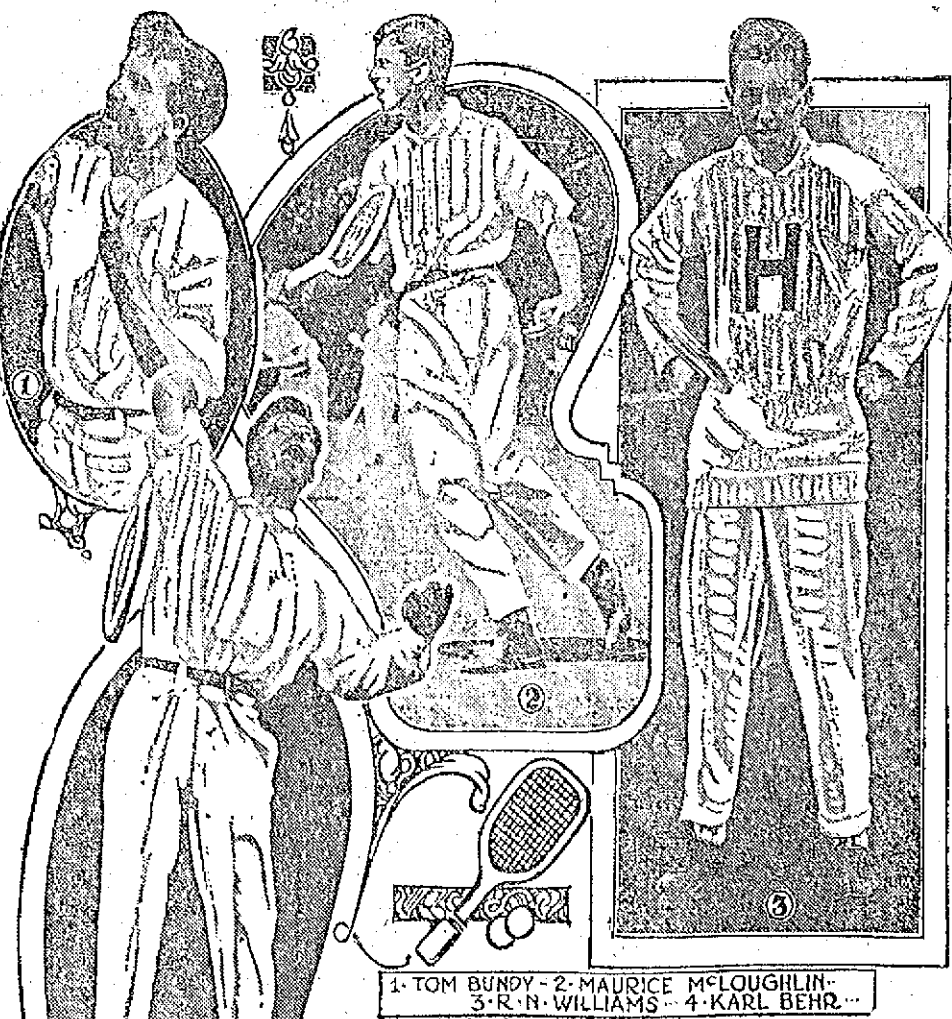

"Pla-a-a-y Ball-aw-aw-aw!" is not as new an expression of popular impatience to have some one "start something" as some people may think. Neither is playing ball for a living a strictly modern invention. In fact thousands of years ago, "way down in Yucatan," impatient crowds sat around in ball parks, yelled themselves hoarse, beat one another in the back, and threw their feathered headgear into the arena in the enthusiasm of the moment, just as we are doing today. Also there doubtless were Ty Cobb's whose skill in "batting" and "fielding" was such that they could at-ford to hold up the management occasionally for a few more hundred jaguar skins a year by threats to quit professional ball and go to farming.

Of course the game was not exactly baseball. But the point is that it was a ball game, that there were regular ball parks—or courts—and that there were professionals who played the game for what there was "in it" to them. Mayhap the medium of exchange took the form of jaguar skins, pounds of cocoa, fancy feathers, or what not, but it was money all the same, and they could buy with it at the club, or in the market place as the case might be. They had their peculiar systems of "slang," too, at least in some parts of the Americas, which, translated into English means about as much to us as ours would to them; all of which is brought out by Mr. Franklin Adams in his story "Indigenous Games in Latin America" in the July number of the Monthly Bulletin of the Pan American Union, Washington, D. C. That the ball game is an ancient institution in the Americas may be gathered from the following:

"The ball game is indigenous to the Americas. Perhaps the first Simala inhabitants found true sport in catching the coconuts tossed from

The choice of McLoughlin, Williams, Bundy and Behr to defend the Davis tennis trophy, symbolic of the world's championship, has met with country-wide approval. Some authorities have questioned the wisdom of overlooking W. M. Johnston, the youthful Californian, but his tendency to grow wild under the stress of a tough match was held as sufficient reason for leaving him off the team. As it stands the four men are the best to be found in this country and will make a spirited defense in the final round Aug. 13, 14 and 14 at the West Side courts on Long Island.

INVESTIGATE HUERTA'S FINANCIAL METHODS

Pres. Carbajal Seeks Information on Reported Wrong Doing — Arrangements for Peace Conference With Carranza

MEXICO CITY, July 21.—Another long conference between President Carbajal and the Brazilian minister was held last night. The subject discussed was the peace conference which it is believed will be held soon between Carbajal and Carranza delegates.

President Carbajal has ordered an investigation of the financial methods of the Huerta regime in reply to the public rumors of possible wrong-doing.

CANAL TO OPEN AUG. 15

WORLD'S COMMERCE MAY GO THROUGH AFTER THAT DATE—FORMAL CEREMONIES LATER

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Opening of the Panama canal to the world's commerce on Aug. 15 next was announced last night by Sec. Garrison. Probably the first vessel to pass through the great waterway will be the Cristobal, a war department steamer now at Colon.

There will be no formalities in connection with the event, all ceremonies being left for the official opening when the International fleet passes through the canal in March, 1915. Mr. Garrison's announcement was made in this brief statement:

The investigation it is stated will be made by high officials of the ministry of finance and if irregularities are found those guilty of them will be punished, according to law.

The government announced today that it will immediately begin negotiations with the American authorities at Vera Cruz to arrange for the re-establishment of the federal service there under Mexican officials. The government will also propose the re-establishment of Mexican military authority at Vera Cruz.

When a greater depth of water than 39 feet has been secured, the canal will be open first to vessels not needing more than 30 feet of water.

An announcement will be made when a greater depth of water than 39 feet has been secured, the canal will be open first to vessels not needing more than 30 feet of water.

THE ANTI-TRUST PROGRAM

NOW OCCUPIES ATTENTION OF SENATE WITH FIGHT OVER JONES ENDED

WASHINGTON, July 21.—With the bitter fight in the senate over the confirmation of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago, President Wilson's nominee for the federal reserve board, ended, senators today were breathing a sigh of relief that the prolonged contest was over and were preparing to settle down to practically uninterrupted consideration of the administration's anti-trust program. Belief on the part of President Wilson that the program might be endangered were the fight continued was responsible for the withdrawal of the nomination. The contest had delayed consideration of anti-trust legislation.

With the four cases out of the way, democratic leaders in the senate today were determined to press to a conclusion the anti-trust program and bring congress to adjournment at the earliest possible moment. To that end the interstate trade commission bill, already before the senate, was to be taken up in earnest and pressed until a vote is reached. After its passage, the Clayton anti-trust and the railway securities bill were to be disposed of. These three measures constituting the entire anti-trust program were now before the senate.

DESERTER IS CAPTURED

SHERIFF BEATTIE, VERMONT OFFICER, DID SOME SHOOTING TO GET HIM

NORTH STRATFORD, N. H., July 24.—When Sheriff Richard Beattie of Malton, Essex county, Vt., came to this home-town of John C. Hatchings, democratic candidate for governor, last night, and started shooting-up the town in the capture of a deserter from Fort Ethan Allen, outside of Burlington, Vt., he created no small excitement.

But Sheriff Beattie, who first came into national fame in his handling of the now famous Dodge murder case and recently in his pursuit of Harry Thaw, in his flight back and forth over the Canadian border, captured his man and lodged him in the county jail at Guilford late last night.

Bernard Bonwald, also known as Joseph Short and Thomas Scott, is wanted by the federal authorities at New York, N. Y. He was a deserter from Fort Ethan Allen, but recently he deserted and went into hiding on the New Hampshire side of the Connecticut river to escape the authorities, who he had discovered were after him.

Sheriff Beattie learned that Bonwald was at Bloomfield and he went there to capture him. He waited at the post office, where his man soon came and asked for mail for Joseph Short. Sheriff Beattie grabbed his man and they were instantly mixed up in a hand-to-hand fight, after which the prisoner managed to escape and flee through Main street followed by the Vermont officer and a posse of townsmen.

When the officer was about to grab his prisoner a second time Bonwald plunged into the river and struck out for the New Hampshire shore. When Bonwald did not obey the officer's command to stop, Sheriff Beattie began firing at him and this brought out the entire population to witness the affair. Bonwald kept on his way and soon managed to reach a small island in the river, where he concealed himself among the rocks.

Sheriff Beattie hurried across the bridge to this town and induced the town night watch to join him. They rowed across the river and landed on the island and began a search for the prisoner, who was quickly found and recaptured without a battle. Bonwald was brought here and taken across the bridge into Vermont by the New Hampshire officers and then Sheriff Beattie grabbed his man and hurried away in an automobile to the county jail at Guilford, Vt.

HURRICANE AT BUDAPEST

BUDAPEST, July 21.—A great hurricane swept over this place yesterday. Many persons were killed and enormous damage was done to property. Hardly a single boat on the Danube escaped the effects of the storm.

SHOT THROUGH HEART

STONHAM MAN KILLED HIMSELF—WIFE HEARD SHOT AND FOUND HIS BODY

BOSTON, July 24.—Edward A. Wiley, night manager of a dairy lunch at 186 Canal street and for many years a resident of Stonham, committed suicide in his home, 16 Pleasant street, Stonham, yesterday afternoon by shooting himself through the heart. He was in the best of health and no reason is known for his act.

Mr. Wiley was in the sitting room of his home when he killed himself. His wife was in the hallway, talking over the telephone with a friend. Hearing the shot, she dropped the receiver and ran into the room to find her husband's body stretched on the floor. A wound in the heart told the story. The revolver had fallen from his hand and was lying beside him.

Besides his widow, the suicide leaves two daughters by a first wife, Mrs. John Cronin of Wakefield. Mrs. Alice Louise Wiley, whose engagement to John Woodbury Day of Arlington was announced in the local paper yesterday afternoon. The engagement, however, was looked upon with favor by Mr. Wiley and had nothing to do with his suicide.

RENOUNCES MINISTRY MANY CAUGHT IN RAID

REV. DR. PHILIP CARLIN, MISSING TWO YEARS, FOUND SELLING NEWSPAPERS

ST. LOUIS, July 24.—Rev. Dr. Philip Carlin, a well-known evangelist in the Southern Illinois Methodist conference, who disappeared from Lebanon, Ill., two years ago, has been located in St. Louis.

Several days ago a man who has been selling newspapers on a corner in the West End admitted to Rev. Mr. Kirkhead of a local Methodist church that he was the missing minister. After a conference with Mr. Kirkhead and others he signed a withdrawal from the ministry.

Dr. Carlin, who is more than 40 years old, had been a preacher in Southern Illinois for 20 years. Carlin was surprised to find the newspapers had learned of his identity and ordered the reporters from his home with the statement:

"I am through with religion, and religion and law will have to take their own course."

SHERIFFS BATTER DOWN DOOR OF ALLEGED GAMBLING PLACE AND GET BIG HAUL

JOHNSTON, R. I., July 24.—Eight deputy sheriffs raided the Casino building on Plainfield street shortly after 4 yesterday afternoon, battered down the door with a sledge hammer and secured one of the largest lots of gambling apparatus ever taken in this state. The names of between 30 and 40 men were taken as being present when gambling apparatus was found. Deputy Sheriff Thomas Dyer was in charge of the raiding party.

Included in the paraphernalia seized are two complete roulette wheels with layouts, two pairs full of chips and a rack full of chips.

The building raided is on the site of the old Fenner stand, known throughout the country as a gambling joint, and the scene of many raids. The upper story is occupied by the Rhode Island Athletic club. The lower floor is occupied as a saloon, and it is only through this lower story that entrance can be gained to the rooms above.

REFUSED INJUNCTION IN PROVIDENCE TO PREVENT CITY'S DRIVING THEM FROM BRIDGE

PROVIDENCE, July 24.—Farmers who recently refused to obey an order by the city that they vacate the Crawford street bridge, which they have used for generations as a market place yesterday were denied an injunction to prevent the city from putting the order into effect.

Leaders among the farmers announced their intention of continuing to defy the city. They said they would submit to arrest to test the order through criminal proceedings.

COLOMBIA'S PRESIDENT TELLS HIS CONGRESS UNITED STATES HAS SO TREATED COUNTRY

BOGOTA, Colombia, July 24.—President Carlos Restrepo, in his annual message read at the opening of the Colombian congress, referred to the pending treaty between the United States and Colombia over the separation of Panama, saying:

"Colombia should feel satisfied that a great power has treated her as a civilized nation on the basis of respect and equity and she should not forget that civilization comes through the deepest sufferings. Now it beats upon our shores and calls at our ports on the waters that cross the world's canal."

The revenues of the Colombian government, the president said, have been increased by 7,000,000 pesos over those of the last fiscal year.

ELEVATOR MEN SAVE 10000

Keep Cars Going Through Smoke Filled Floors Till 1000 Girls are Out of Factory Building

NEW YORK, July 24.—By their heroism at a fire in the twelve-story loft building at Nos. 40-42 West 17th street yesterday afternoon, two elevator men, William McPhillips and Benjamin Deering, who live at No. 1325 Amsterdam avenue, won the praise of firemen and policemen. Nearly 1902 girls were employed in factories in the building. Both ran their cars to the third floor and kept them going up and down until Wolffert and twenty-five of his employees were landed on the street.

Though the third floor was flame swept and the building was filled with smoke, the elevator men sent the elevators to the upper floors and stuck to them until every girl was out. Twice McPhillips went up to the twelfth floor and told a dozen girls

The fire started shortly after 4 o'clock on the third floor occupied by Abraham Wolfert & Co., costumers, and spread rapidly, for a time threatening the entire structure. Wolfert, a man named Lindeman and Mary Lisato and Anna Sachewitz became hysterical when a painter at work on the fire escape of the sixth floor yelled "Fire! Fire!" Seeing the rear of his place in flames Wolfert screamed for help and the girls working in the building fled to escapes and doors leading to the elevator.

Beeling's elevator was at the fourth floor and McPhillips' was in the bare standing nervously at the landing not to be afraid that he would keep the elevators running until all were safe. Though free from the fire they all had to run to the street in the midst of the confusion, but the soon found shelter in neighboring buildings.

Dr. Davis of New York hospital treated Wolfert, Lindeman and the two girls, who became hysterical, and they were sent home.

Patrolmen Kinney and Seymour assisted in getting the girls out of the elevator. The Wolfert factory was destroyed. Wolfert said he was injured and fixed his damage at $5000. He did not know what caused the fire, he said.

I. W. W. ENEMY OF LABOR

HIS EMINENCE CARDINAL GIBBONS

Says Cardinal Gibbons on 80th Birthday—Denounces Cruelties of Villa and Scores Militants

BALTIMORE, July 24.—Speaking in the country home of his friend, B. H. Shriver, at Union Mills, Carroll county, yesterday, Cardinal Gibbons on the 80th anniversary of his birth, spoke vigorously of the evils as he sees them in different parts of the world today. He was talking to Mr. W. L. Seabrook, old friend, one year his senior, to whom this interview has been an annual event.

In the course of his talk the cardinal denounced the Industrial Workers of the World, the socialists, the English suffragettes and lastly, the rebel leaders in Mexico. Tracing restless conditions among the working people to the agitation of such bodies as the I. W. W., the cardinal deplored the growth of this and other radical organizations.

He expressed the deepest regret that the longed for peace had not dawned on Mexico. He expressed detestation of Carranza and Villa and the alleged cruelties perpetrated by the latter upon innocent persons who had, he said, without cause, incurred his hostility. He condemned the conduct with which men under their control have been charged in their treatment of helpless women.

Cardinal's Views

He was deeply moved in speaking of the assassination of church men without cause by Villa, and seemed to see little hope of the restoration of peace through the triumph of the constitution.

The cardinal then referred to the restlessness among the working classes here and abroad. He expressed alarm at the growth of socialism and spoke of the I. W. W. as a dangerous element that should be put down. The organization, he said, is utterly at variance with the purposes of the great hosts of laborers who constitute the real industrial forces of the country. As he had visited London on his homeward route from Europe, his attention was called to the violence of the suffragettes of England and he strongly condemned their conduct which, he said, proved their unfitness for the privilege for which they are so violently contending.

Plans for Law and Order

Throughout the interview he made it clear on every subject upon which he conversed that law is paramount and must be obeyed and enforced. That he is unalterably opposed to the invasion of the right to property properly acquired and that he has no sympathy with violence perpetrated to enforce the notions of any man or set of men against the lawfully constituted authority of country or state, he emphasized.

The cardinal spoke freely about his enjoyment of his recent trip to Europe and of his pleasure in his return to this country. Cardinal Gibbons has returned without lessening of his natural vigor. His step is elastic, and a member of Mr. Shriver's family stated that yesterday morning he had easily walked up the steep incline to the house of his host, keeping in the lead of others with him.

RESISTS EXTRADITION

JOSEPH DUDLEY, PAL OF ROBBERSON, WHO COMMITTED SUICIDE, WILL FIGHT HIS REMOVAL.

BOSTON, July 24.—There will be a strong fight put up by Joseph Dudley, the young "pal" of Lawrence Robinson, who was with him on June 19 when he shot and killed Police Inspector Thomas J. Norton, to save himself from extradition to West Virginia, where he is wanted on the charge of grand larceny of diamonds worth $15,000.

Officers from West Virginia are now on their way to Boston and expect to take Dudley back with them. Acting for the West Virginia authorities, Inspector Lynch and Officer Claffin of the Boston police and Officer Sherlock of the state police yesterday visited the governor's office at the state house to apply for extradition papers for Dudley.

This action shows that Dudley probably will not be tried in Boston for murder. He was indicted with Robinson for the murder of Inspector Norton. Robinson, however, is said in one of his farewell letters to have fully exonerated Dudley of all connection with the killing of Norton.

Dudley is wanted in West Virginia on a complaint made by H. J. Hornrich of Cabell county, charging him with the larceny of 30 diamonds valued at $15,000. Yesterday requisition papers from Gov. Hatfield of West Virginia arrived in Boston and Inspector Lynch and Officer Claffin of the Boston police took these to the state house when they went there to ask for an extradition warrant.

William E. Weeks and Cutler and James, counsel for Dudley, have already applied for a hearing by the attorney-general on the law and facts in the case and this probably will be held Thursday of next week before Assistant Attorney General Leon R. Eyles. Extradition papers will not be honored by Gov. Walsh until the attorney-general has made his report on the case.

John B. Leach, the Boston attorney, counsel for Henry J. Hornrich of Huntington, W. Va., who claims that Dudley and Robinson robbed his jewelry store of $15,000 worth of diamonds, has already filed a bill in equity to obtain possession of the seven magnificent diamonds found in hidden pockets in Robinson's clothes.

These diamonds, with all of Robinson's other belongings, were seized by the police when he was arrested. They are now held, with the money in Robinson's possession, pending the result of legal claims made for them by various persons which may have to be tried in the courts.

John J. Thompson, the Grand Rapids, Mich., jeweler, whose store was robbed by Robinson and others, three clerks being killed, is also a claimant for the diamonds found in Robinson's clothes, and it is expected there will be still other claimants.

MONTPELIER, Vt., July 24.—Meda, aged 11, and Albert, 14, sons of John Bussier of Northfield Falls, slipped off a rock on which they were playing into 15 feet of water above the second dam at that place and were drowned. Nobody saw the accident and it was not until they failed to return home in the evening that search was commenced. Both bodies were recovered.

CARPET MILLS SOLD

chased for a sum approximating $500,000 and the new capital issued is less than $700,000. It is stated that the syndicate operating on the stocks was the most powerful and best equipped of any formed in Boston. It represented nearly all the leading and largest bond houses in Boston.

R. J. Perkins, it was announced, will be the new president and Alvin D. Higgins of Thompsonville, Conn., will be the vice president. H. L. Wadley, at present agent for the Bigelow Carpet Co., will be retained as agent for the new company.

The relation of the Hartford Carpet Co. in this deal is not entirely clear as yet, but it is certain that to date there is no amalgamation or consolidation. In fact whatever may ultimately result, Hartford men will assume official positions at the head of the corporation and will bring to it the experience in carpet business which is expected to keep the mills running smoothly six days a week. Several of the old directors will also be included in the new directorate.

It was announced yesterday that payment will be made today at the Second National bank of Boston to directors presenting their certificates.

The Bigelow Carpet company began business on July 23 when a partnership was formed under the firm name of H. N. and E. B. Bigelow, for the manufacture of Brussels carpets at Clinton, Mass., the company using the remarkable power loom invented in 1837 by E. B. Bigelow. In 1851 the company incorporated as the Bigelow Carpet Co. The company has been under the management of members of the families of the Bigelows, Bigelow and Henry P. Fairbanks. In 1892 it acquired the property at the Lowell Carpet Co. of this city, which was established in 1825 and the combined property has since been manufacturing Jacquard, Brussels, Wilton and axminster carpets.

Agent Wadley's Statement

Following is the statement issued by Agent Wadley of the Lowell plant to Kibben, Peabody & Co. of Boston, the banking firm which had charge of the transfer:

Lowell Property.—The Lowell property is divided into 20 mill buildings, and covers an area of 420,000 square feet. The buildings have a floor space of 1,067,459 square feet, are all modern, well lighted and ventilated, thoroughly protected against fire, and in good condition.

The machinery contained in these buildings includes a weaving plant, consisting of 213 Brussels and Wilton looms, of various widths; 155 axminster looms of various widths; a woolen yarn plant, with 7054 spindles; a worsted yarn plant, with 11,304 spindles; a cotton yarn plant, with 12,086 spindles; a dye house, with 65 dye tubs of various sizes.

In addition to the foregoing, there is a full equipment of auxiliary machinery to completely carry on carpet manufacture, and convert raw material into first class finished product. There is also a power plant, consisting of 10 boilers, 3 steam turbines and 2 water turbines.

The weaving plant has a capacity of 2,500,000 yards per annum.

The woolen yarn plant has a capacity of 3,250,000 pounds per annum.

The worsted yarn plant has a capacity of 2,855,000 pounds per annum.

The cotton yarn plant has a capacity of 2,000,000 pounds per annum.

The power plant has a boiler capacity of 4531 horsepower. The boilers are used for making steam for manufacturing purposes, such as dyeing, etc., in addition to making power.

It also has a share in the Locks & Canals corporation to an extent which gives them approximately 500 horsepower for the water wheels at an extremely advantageous figure.

The steam and water turbines are coupled with electric generators, and all power is transmitted electrically. The machinery drives are well arranged in groups, and individual motors are installed where any advantage could be obtained by so doing.

The plant is equipped with modern repair shops, laboratories, etc., and the machinery has all been kept in sound physical condition. The class of goods manufactured at the Lowell plant is high grade axminster, reliable Brussels, popular priced axminster rugs, and Wilton piece goods and rugs of all classes, from the medium priced to the finest weaves and reproductions of oriental patterns.

The yarn mills make the various classes of yarns necessary for the foregoing grades of carpets, and the cotton mill manufactures the cotton yarns for both the Lowell and Clinton plants.

The mill has its own sidetrack connecting with the Boston & Maine railroad, and has good facilities for receiving and shipping goods.

Labor conditions at the Lowell plant are very satisfactory, and during the labor troubles of 1912 the corporation experienced no difficulty in preserving discipline and carrying on the operation of its business.

When running full, the mill employs about 2000 hands.

Clinton Property.—The Clinton property consists of about 132 acres of land. There are 37 mill buildings besides tenements, these latter comprising 65 dwellings, all of which are in good condition and occupied by operatives who pay a fair rental for same.

The mill buildings are modern and in splendid condition, protected against fire by every modern appliance.

The machinery contained in these buildings includes: A weaving plant, consisting of 155 Brussels and Wilton looms of various widths; 136 axminster looms of various widths; a woolen yarn plant, with 6026 spindles; a worsted yarn plant, with 9135 spindles; a dye house, with 126 dye tubs of various sizes; and in connection with the foregoing, complete auxiliary machinery of all classes.

The power plant at Clinton is considered one of the finest examples of

THE WATER WAY BOARD

Tendered Banquet at Lawrence Country Club—Many Speakers Heard in Favor of the Project

The members of the Merrimack Valley waterway board, Hon. Charles C. Paine, Andrew B. Sutherland and Lewis R. Hovey, were last night tendered a complimentary dinner at the Merrimack Valley Country Club in Lawrence, the affair being held under the auspices of the Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill boards of trade. Over 100 men gathered at the well appointed club house at 5 o'clock, where a brief reception was held, followed by an excellent dinner and postprandial exercises. Present were men from Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill and Newburyport, and the main topic of discussion, of course, was the project of developing the Merrimack river in order to make it navigable from the sea to Lowell, the project to be brought to the attention of congress at Washington, D. C., on Dec. 14. Before the reunion came to a close a number of those present signified their intention of going to Washington in December and urge congress to appropriate a sum of money to bring the project to an end, the Massachusetts legislature having already voted a million dollars for this purpose.

The guests arrived at the club in the latter part of the afternoon and an informal reception was held on the beautiful and spacious piazza of the club where refreshments were served. The Lowell men made the trip in automobiles, conducted by Robert F. Marden and William H. Badger, and the delegation consisted of the following: Jesse D. Crook, Esq., Perley J. Gilbert and his son, Secretary John H. Murphy, President Robert F. Marden, Will Rounds, Capt. William P. White, U. S. N., retired; William H. Badger and E. J. Laroche.

At 6.45 o'clock all sat around the festive board and partook of a dainty repast, this being followed by postprandial exercises. The toastmaster being Judge Frederick N. Chandler of Lawrence. The toastmaster in his introduction spoke of the project of deepening the Merrimack river and said if anybody had told him a year ago that the legislature would appropriate a million dollars for the work it would have made him laugh. He told how the late Benjamin Butler was the first man to propose transportation by way of the Merrimack river, and at that time the general was laughing stock of this part of the country. He said Gloucester has not as large a course of water as the cities along the Merrimack valley and still it is a seaport, and he believed if the project is pushed through it will promote industry in Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill.

Judge Chandler read letters of regret for not being present from Lieut. Col. Craigbill, chief engineer of the Commonwealth, and Rev. Appleton Lawrence, a descendant of the founders of Lawrence. He introduced as the first speaker Judge Charles C. Paine, chairman of the Merrimack Valley waterway board. Judge Paine spoke in a very interesting manner, and said he went on the commission wholly unprejudiced, and was now convinced that the residents of the Merrimack valley have the argument and that there is but one side to the question. He spoke of conditions in his home city when there was water transportation and the changes that have taken place since the railroad companies have had control. He said we are bound to see a great change before long for at the present time the railroad companies control 85 per cent of waterway transportation, but that is surely to come to an end. He said the people have allowed the railroads to control but the roads have gone far enough. He spoke of the money appropriated by the legislature and said the national government cannot refuse its aid and he assured those present they will get what they want for they are well organized and their demand is proper.

Lewis R. Hovey, another member of the board was next called upon and he spoke briefly of the work of the commission and of the progress made during the past two years in bringing about the establishment of the navigability of the river. He said if the report of the government surveyors is favorable there will be no trouble in securing money from the national government, but he said he believed it will be a question of 10 years before Lowell is reached, but he believes the project will be put through.

Mr. Sutherland, A. B. Sutherland of Lawrence, the third member of the commission was introduced as the "father of waters." He said the Merrimack Valley waterway board has been talked of before Judge Chandler lost his first 100 cases in police court and before Paul Hanover, commissioner of Lawrence became the expert of the United States on block paving. He then devoted his attention to the arguments for the river. He pointed out that the railroads are wholly unable to handle the trade, and he said with waterways it would be less difficult. He indicated the importance of the Merrimack valley commerce, saying that the valley trade exceeds that of the port of Boston by $7,000,000 a year and it also exceeds such ports as Montreal, Buenos Ayres and other cities, and offers a greater field for trade than any port outside of New York. He said the United States claims that a saving of 4 per cent per annum will justify expenditure in waterway development, and he believes he can prove a saving in the Merrimack Valley, from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 a year and this would justify the expenditure of $20,000,000. He said there are only a few people from the sea to the end of the valley, comparatively speaking, but the foreign trade of the valley is such as to entitle the people of this section to recognition.

Secretary Murphy

In the absence of Mayor Dennis J. Murphy of this city, Secretary John H. Murphy was called upon and he made a short address, saying the residents of Lowell have a particular interest in the project. He said they have showed it by interfering with the construction of a bridge in Lawrence. He concluded by saying the residents of Lowell expect to have a boat at a boat at Lowell and pass through Lawrence, Haverhill and Newburyport. He assured the commission that Lowell will be strongly represented at Washington in December and also that Congressman Rogers will be there in favor of the project.

Other speakers were Rev. James T. O'Reilly, Daniel Casey, secretary of the Haverhill board of trade; Commissioner Paul Hannagan of Lawrence, Stephen M. Sherman, secretary of the Lawrence chamber of commerce and John P. S. Morgan, publisher of the Sun-American of Lawrence.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Secretaries Daniel N. Casey, John H. Murphy and F. S. Sherman of the Haverhill, Lowell and Lawrence boards of trade.

CALL MME. GUEYDAN AT PARIS MURDER TRIAL

Again Called to the Witness
Stand—Great Interest Taken in
Two Intimate Letters

PARIS, July 24.—"Call Madame Gueydan!" was the command of Judge Luis Albanel immediately after the court opened today for the fifth day's hearing in the trial of Madame Henriette Caillaux for the wilful murder on March 16 of Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro.

Mme. Gueydan, former wife of the prisoner's husband, Joseph Caillaux, an ex-premier of France, had, however, not arrived, and Pascal Ceccaldi, the most intimate private and political friend of M. Caillaux, was called to the stand.

The interest today centered around the two intimate letters referred to in yesterday's testimony and handed by Mme. Gueydan to Maître Labori to deal with as he chose.

Maître Labori, before M. Ceccaldi began his testimony, said he would defer until the arrival of Mme. Gueydan, a communication he desired to make to the court.

Defense of Caillaux Family
M. Ceccaldi then addressed to the jury an impassioned defense of the Caillaux family. He said Mme. Caillaux's efforts to restrain her husband from assuming political power was due to her belief that his keeping out of the government was the only way in which they could expect to have peace in their life.

M. Caillaux, seated in the crowded court among witnesses and journalists, followed attentively his friend's pan-gyric, nodding his head in approbation and occasionally casting a glance about the courtroom as though measuring the effect of the witness's words.

Madame Caillaux, in the prisoner's enclosure, presented a sorrowful figure. In her eyes was a look of bewilderment and seeming terror. She did not speak to anyone but she had had a long talk with her husband in

ROBINSON'S BODY

Claimed by Mother—
Was Physical Marvel,
Says Medical Expert

BOSTON, July 24.—The body of Lawrence Robinson who committed suicide in his cell Wednesday while on trial for murder was claimed today by a representative of his mother. Arrangements were made to ship the body to his old home at Washington Court, O., tonight. According to Medical Examiner McGrath, Robinson was a physical marvel. He did not have an ounce of superfluous flesh.

ACCIDENT CASES
At noon today the ambulance was called to Lane's court where one Harry Cazelton had stepped on a broken bottle and cut his foot quite badly.

However, the man did not want to go to a hospital and he was taken to his home at 5 Lane's court.

Early this afternoon Mr. Marcus, who gave his address as 47 Lincoln street, was picked up near the corner of Fletcher and Dutton streets, suffering from a scalp wound. He was removed to St. John's hospital in the ambulance.

R. I. NAVAL BATTALION
PROVIDENCE, July 24.—Members of the Rhode Island naval battalion embarked on the training ship Albatross this afternoon for a run down Narragansett bay to Newport, where they joined other members of the battalion and naval reserves from Connecticut on the battleship Rhode Island. Then the Rhode Island sailed for Portland, Me., to take aboard the Maine naval militia.

FITCHBURG HERE TODAY

Fred Lake's Team, With Lowell
Boy in Lineup, in Clash With Jimmy Gray's Champs

Fred Lake and his Burgers from Fitchburg once more journeyed to town today on the hunt for another game from Jimmy Gray's boys.

It was not the same team which confronted the locals on Lake's last appearance in this city for Frederico has greatly strengthened his club since then by the purchase of Ostergren from the Red Sox. Ostergren is playing first base for the Burgers and is putting up a healthy article of baseball for the tail-enders.

Fitchburg's showing of last week was a big surprise to the other clubs in the league. Lake took his warriors out four days in succession and came home with the long end of the score. Should the Fitchburg club keep up this brand of baseball they will not long hold down the cellar berth.

Louis Kelschner, sometimes called Charlie, blew into town early in the morning and immediately sought out Jimmy Gray's sanctum. Kelschner is the well known scout of the St. Louis Americans and the man who was responsible for Eddie Miller's sale to that club.

The big league scout was here for a double purpose. To begin with there are a couple of men on the local club about whom most of the scouts have heard and Kelschner thought that he would take a peep at them. He did not say, however, just who his weather eye was peeped for.

Then again, Gray and the Lowell ball club is in distress and sorely in need of assistance and that is another reason why the St. Louis man is here. He and Manager Gray went into secret session at once and the possibilities are that before Kelschner leaves town Gray will have lined out for an outfielder as well as a second sacker.

Kelschner took in the game this afternoon and will return to Lowell the first of the week when the club again plays at home.

"Shorty" Dee received an injury to one of the fingers on his right hand during Wednesday's game with Worcester. The injured digit was bound up in tape and "Shorty" was kept out of the preliminary practice. English, a semi-pro player from New York, who is trying to catch on with the local club, filled in Dee's place.

Before the game Manager Gray sent a telegram to the manager of the Lancaster, Pa., team, offering him $200 for Outfielder Swayne. The offer was made on the recommendation of Mr. Kelschner. Swayne is the same kind of a ball player as "Fete" Clemens, now with Portland and last year with the Lowell champions.

First Inning
Dee's bad finger figured in the game in the first inning when Kane grounded to short. Dee made an overthrow to Kelly and Kane was safe. Sweett, the next man up, whalloped the ball to right field. When the sphere finally came back to the diamond Kane had crossed the plate for the first run of the game and the Fitchburg catcher was at Burke's station. Ring grew peevish and struck out Kennedy. Dee pegged out Ostergren but Sweett scored on the putout. Empire Bannan called Reed out on strikes. Two runs, one hit, one error.

Dee hit to Kennedy and died at first. DeGross sent a line drive to Kane in left field. Greenhalge also lifted the ball into left field and Kane made his second putout of the inning. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Score: Lowell 6, Fitchburg 2.
Second Inning
Kihullen walked upon four pitched balls. Spires grounded along the first base line. Kelly made a great pickup of the grounder and tagged first for Spires' annihilation. White Kihullen went to second. Condon could not solve the break on Ring's splitter and was retired on strikes. Greenhalge threw out King on his errors.

weak grounder. No runs, no hits, no errors.
Stimpson worked King for a pass. Weaver went down by the steepest route. Burke hit to Kennedy. Stimpson being forced at second, Burke was safe at first on a close decision. King stopped Kelly's grounder to the box and threw the Lowell player out at the initial station. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Score: Lowell 6, Fitchburg 2.

Third Inning
Kane popped a fly off his bat handle to Burke. Sweett groundered out to Burke and met the ball in Kelly's hands at first base. Kelly took care of Kennedy's grounder with no assistance. No runs, no hits, no errors.
Wacob took a good look at the offering served up by King and finally meandered to first, without taking the ball from his shoulder. Ring was a victim on strikes. Spires' wide throw after fielding Dee's grounder pulled Ostergren off the bag. Dee being safe and Wacob reaching second. DeGross lifted a high fly to Condon in short right center. Greenhalge rolled a weak grounder to Spires. The Fitchburg third sacker touched third, forcing out Wacob. No runs, no hits, one error.

CONGRESSMAN ROGERS ALL RIGHT
Congressman Rogers is reported to have fully recovered from the injury sustained by his fall while taking a bath a few days ago. He is being congratulated on having escaped a fatality, as Senator Bacon of Georgia died soon after a similar fall. Congressman Beakler of Michigan fell recently in his bath tub and suffered a fracture of three ribs. Mr. Rogers was more fortunate although he became unconscious from the fall.

ATTEMPTED MURDER CHARGED
BROCKTON, July 24.—Charged with attempted murder of his sleeping sweetheart, Miss May Fielding, 25, of Taunton, in a room at the Hotel Victoria last night, John L. Butler, 48, of Lynn, who is said to have attempted suicide after the deed, is under guard of a police officer at the Brockton hospital.

Miss Fielding will recover but Butler's condition is serious.

GIRL BURNED TO DEATH
FARMINGTON, Me., July 24.—Adele Rosmann, a seven-year-old girl, was burned to death this afternoon in a fire which destroyed the large camp of Dr. Virgil Coblink of Brooklyn, N. Y., located at Clearwater pond. The fire spread to the woods and swept a considerable area before it was checked. It started in the kitchen of the camp while the family was at lunch and is believed to have been caused by the explosion of a gasoline stove. The loss is about $5000.

MILITANTS ARRESTED AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE

Two Women Attempted to Present
Letter to King—Premier Asquith
to Agree on Home Rule Question

LONDON, July 24.—Two suffragettes, Lady Barclay and the Hon. Miss Edith Fitzgerald, were arrested today at Buckingham palace, where they had made persistent attempts to present to King George a letter written to his majesty by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst.

The letter demanded a personal interview with the king and claimed that the suffragettes should be given the same right to an interview as certain militant men, namely, Sir Edward Carson, Captain James Craig, John Dillon and John E. Redmond, who had, it was pointed, been invited to Buckingham palace by the king on his own initiative.

The two ladies arrived at the entrance to the palace this morning carrying a large scroll prettily draped with purple ribbon streamers. They stated that they had a petition to present to his majesty. The attendants, however, persuaded them to leave but they returned later and announced

Hotel Manager Rushed to Room and Found Man Dying—Attempted Murder and Suicide

BROCKTON, July 24.—John O'Brien, manager of the Hotel Victoria, 40 West Elm street, attracted by screams last night, ran to a room and found there Miss Mary Fielding, aged 25, of Taunton, and John L. Butler, aged 45, of Lynn, both suffering from severe cuts in the wrist.

Both were removed to the Brockton hospital, where Butler's name is on the dangerous list. He is charged by the police with attempted murder.

The evidence the police found in the room and the story told to them by Miss Fielding inclines them to think that the shattering of a romance had caused Butler to desire to end the life of himself and of his companion simultaneously.

Miss Fielding told the police that Butler, whom she met at Newport, had been paying her attention for about a year. Recently on learning he was married she says she begged him to cease his attentions.

Coming to Taunton yesterday afternoon, her story goes on, he persuaded her to accompany him to a restaurant in Brockton to supper, then to the hotel where both were found wounded.

At the hotel Miss Fielding said she drank some whiskey offered her by Butler and almost immediately fell asleep. She described being awakened by a pain in her left wrist which she found cut and bleeding.

Butler was found unconscious by the hotel manager and covered with blood. His left wrist was almost severed, evidently with a razor found lying nearby. In the same room the police say they found an empty revolver, of which Butler acknowledged the ownership. They also found a bottle marked poison. The contents will be analyzed. It is the police theory that Butler from this bottle drugged the whiskey which Miss Fielding says he gave her.

The hospital authorities say Butler's wound from a severed artery is such that if he survives he will lose the use of his left hand for life. Before being in Lynn Butler was a resident of Taunton. He is a member of the Taunton lodge of Elks and of the Newport lodge of Moose.

The condition of Miss Fielding in the Brockton hospital is not considered serious. Subsequently the police found a letter in the hotel room written by Butler's wife, pleading for him to come home and indicating that he had been absent from home for several weeks.

CHAIRMAN OF NEW YORK REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE SUES COL. ROOSEVELT FOR ALLEGED LIBEL

OYSTER BAY, July 24.—The obligation to appear in court and defend himself against a $50,000 libel suit begun by William Barnes, Jr. was imposed on Col. Roosevelt last night with the serving on him of the papers in the case.

A copy of the complaint was handed to the president by James S. Y. Evans in the republican club in New York and receiving the papers, motivated to Oyster Bay in a downpour of rain. The colonel had learned that the lawyer was on the way from New York and hastened out to meet him. Without awaiting Mr. Evans' explanation of his visit he held out his hand and greeted him cordially.

"I'm very sorry," Mr. Evans began, "to disturb you in a matter of this kind," but Col. Roosevelt would listen to no expressions of regret. "What's all about," he said. He invited Mr. Evans into his library, where he took the papers. The men talked for a few minutes and then Mr. Evans left. Mr. Barnes' name was not mentioned by either, and Col. Roosevelt did not give the papers so much as a glance. He showed his visitor to the door and shook hands with him again as he left.

Mr. Evans said that Mr. Barnes, when he was looking over the papers in New York, remarked: "Mr. Roosevelt last year did the very unwise thing of suing for libel a Michigan editor who called him a drunkard. I am simply following the precedent he set."

Mr. Evans said that Mr. Barnes was desirous of having the suit come to trial before the primaries in September. If Col. Roosevelt wished to adopt obstructive tactics, he said, he could delay the trial for 18 months or two years, but if he wished the issue settled speedily the case should be brought into the courts in short order.

Col. Roosevelt declined to say which course he would pursue, preserving silence until he had consulted his attorney.

Mr. Barnes' suit is based on Colonel Roosevelt's statement of Wednesday night attacking Mr. Barnes and, in doing so, the candidacy of Harvey D. Hinman for the nomination of governor at the republican primaries.

Summer Hints to Mothers 'Who Care'

Seasonable Advice on the Health of Children in Hot Weather.

It is well that mothers be advised not to over-feed the children during the hot months. The real requirement is much food in summer. In winter, feed the children the lighter and more easily digested foods. See that the milk is cool and kept away from flies. Be careful that the fruit is ripe, and if the child begins to scratch the skin, indicating too much acid in the blood, deprive it of fruit for several days.

It is quite natural that under these conditions there will be some digestive disturbance, such as constipation, indigestion or summer diarrhoea. It may be accompanied by a cold or by eruptions of the skin. The timely remedy, and one which you can rely on for results, is a small dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin on retiring, and by morning the bowels will move and the trouble will vanish. The exceptional case, however, in which this remedy will tone the stomach and enrich the blood, and the child will feel its usual life again.

Many families like that of Mr. William Weber, 29 Edwin Place, Buffalo, N. Y., who uses it for foul breath and constipation, and Mrs. John Wallace, Scottsville, Ky., who feeds it valuable to herself as well as her children, are never without it, keeping it for just such emergencies. You also can obtain a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at fifty cents, or one dollar of any druggist. Families which once use this pleasant-tasting laxative forever after discard cathartics, purgatives, salts and pills. Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it, postpaid, by addressing Dr. W. H. Caldwell, 418 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

SUPPRESS STRIKE RIOTS

Stern Measures Taken by the St. Petersburg Authorities—The Strikers Stone Cars

ST. PETERSBURG, July 23.—Stern measures were taken by the authorities early today to suppress the strike riots which have been in progress for several days in the streets of the capital. Considerable leniency was shown during the presence here of President Poincare of France but immediately after his departure six regiments arrived to assist in suppressing the disorders. They brought with them a number of quick firing machines guns. A squadron of the newly arrived cavalry at once came into contact with a crowd of strikers charging and dispersing them. The street car service was restored today but the strikers hurled volleys of stones at the cars and drivers. Several demonstrations were attempted but the manifestations were quickly dispersed by cossacks. The police fired a few shots at the windows of private houses from which stones had been thrown. One significant feature of the strike is that the movement has been joined by many government employees.

One Man Dead and Two Wounded as Result of Fight With Boys

PITTSBURGH, July 24.—One man was instantly killed and two others were wounded probably fatally as the result of the throwing of a stone by a small boy in East Carnegie late last night. The dead: George Kunkle, 27, jugular vein severed. Injured: Fred Hufnagel, 18, stabbed in the left lung; George Reitz, 20, severe cuts in back and breast.

Two men said to be Italians were walking in Idlewood avenue when one of them was hit by a stone. After accusing two small boys they left but later returned with three friends and attacked the boys. Kunkle, Hufnagel and Reitz interfered and in the fight which followed and Kunkle was killed and his companions severely wounded.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

James Walker, the bustling manager of St. John's parish picnic and his assistant, Henry Miner, report that all plans have been completed for the great event to be held tomorrow at N. Russell grove. With a fair day, the largest crowd in the history of the parish is expected to attend, and judging from advanced sales of tickets many friends from all the surrounding towns and from Lowell will be in attendance.

The leading topic at the post office in the evening for the past week has been the red hot ball game scheduled between the St. John's T. A. society and the strong South Ends of Lowell; as these two teams are great rivals and have a large following the outcome is being looked forward to with unusual interest.

The committee in charge of the midway has some new attractions to offer, while the sporting committee promises that all events scheduled will take place. Valuable prizes will be awarded the winners. Dancing will be enjoyed by the evening immediately after the supper to be served by the ladies of the parish under the supervision of Mrs. James Walker and the Misses Theresa Ready and Hannah Cummings.

The auto transportation, under the supervision of Joseph Ryan and Wm. J. Quigley will meet with great patronage. The first auto truck will leave the post office at 1 o'clock and the second a short time after. Both will then be run at intervals for the remainder of the afternoon and evening.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

Next Sunday will be the feast of St. Anne, a feast of the Catholic church, observed especially by the French-Canadians, wherever they are located. As is well known, the shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre, in Canada, is known to Catholics, the world-over, in connection with the coming feast local Catholics of all nationalities will read with interest an account which appeared in the old Sun, of a remarkable cure that took place at St. Joseph's church in Lee street, on the feast of St. Anne, quarter of a century ago.

The old Sun reads as follows: "On the feast of St. Anne, last year, we recorded the remarkable cure of Mrs. Hanel of Centralville, who had been a helpless cripple for 11 years. Her cure attracted wide notice and the devotion to St. Anne were renewed with greater fervor than ever. Last Friday was the feast of St. Anne, and it brought another cure as remarkable as that of the preceding year.

"Frank Paris, of 12-1-3 Race street, was almost entirely cured of paralysis at St. Joseph's after devotion to St. Anne. Mr. Paris is a native of Three Rivers, Canada, and is 45 years of age, having been a resident of Lowell for 22 years. He is a hard-working citizen and has a family of two boys and a girl. Mr. Paris was employed in the boarding room of the Lawrence corporation for nine years, up to the time of his illness two years ago. One Sunday about two years ago, he walked to Fort Hill park and back apparently in good health and the following morning rose early to light the fire, when he fell suddenly to the floor, his left side being completely paralyzed. Since that time he has been unable to move either the arm or leg carrying a cane with which to walk, as he was obliged to take a step with one foot and then gradually drag the other foot up to the first and then proceed as before. Last Friday was the feast of St. Anne, the mother of the Blessed Virgin, and on that day a novena held in her honor at St. Joseph's church came to a close. Mr. Paris was a devout attendant at all the services, his intention being that he might once more be able to walk. It was with great difficulty he reached the church as his home was about a quarter of a mile away. Last Wednesday he felt somewhat relieved but was unable to move the paralyzed arm and leg. Friday morning he started from his home at 6:30 for the 8 o'clock mass. At communion he reached the altar rail by the aid of his cane and after receiving communion he felt that he could walk unassisted. Placing his cane within the altar rail to the surprise of the great throng, he freely moved the limb that for two years had been powerless and walked without assistance to the last pew in the edifice. Here he spent some time in thanksgiving."

"King" Kelly's Tricky Stunt

While watching Rube De Groff going to the right field fence after a hard hit ball recently an old time fan sitting beside me remarked: "Too bad he hasn't a ball in his glove like Mike Kelly had, years ago, and shut off that run." Then he started to tell me the whole story of how the mighty Kelly once robbed big Sam Thompson of the Phillies of a homer on the old South End grounds when he had finished. I remarked: "If it wasn't for the slats at the top of the fence he couldn't have gotten away with it."

"Oh, then you have read something about it," he asked. "I read a lot about it, and I also saw the play."

"Go on; you were only a kid when that happened," said the fan in disgust. But it was only quarter of a century ago, next Monday, to be accurate, and the old Sun had the following reference to the incident:

"Last Monday, Kelly stole a game from the Philadelphia club. Two Philadelphia men were on bases when Sam Thompson sent a ball over the right field fence for a home run. The writer was sitting quite near the place where the ball disappeared and had a good view of it until it dropped over the fence. All the players saw the ball go over and Hallman, Myers and Thompson started leaping around the bases. Trickey Mike Kelly picked up another ball from the field and threw it into the diamond and only one run of the three that Philadelphia had earned was allowed. The Boston newspapers claim that Thompson's last out was over the fence. It did go over and Philadelphia was robbed of the game. Although it took ten innings to complete the steal."

As I mentioned some time ago, referring to the old South End grounds and Sullivan's tower, an addition composed of slats several inches apart was put at the top of the original right field fence to obstruct the view of those in the tower. It was seldom that a batter happened along who could swear the ball over that exceptionally high and long-distanced fence. Mike Kelly who played right field when he wasn't behind the bat, was well aware of the fact. On this particular day as the ball soared high in the air toward the top of the fence, way inside the foul line, Mike chased to the fence, and as he neared it, while still looking heavenward, a cornering up into the air, indicating that the ball had either gone over or through the top slats and out of the grounds, and the runners slowed up and took their time completing the circuit. But foxy Mike continued to look at the top of the fence and then suddenly dropped to the ground at the bottom of the fence and quickly jumping up, turned around and to the surprise of all, tossed a ball home, intercepting two of the three runners. There was a mighty kick, but Kelly stoutly maintained that the ball struck momentarily between the top slats and then dropped down inside the fence and that he had immediately recovered the ball. The counter-claim was made that Kelly had a ball concealed in his blouse, and at the psychological moment produced it. A protest was entered and a hearing given, but if I remember rightly justice was successfully bungled and the game stood. Kelly was full of tricky plays. Back in 1895, I believe, all the year that Kelly went to Cincinnati I saw him pull off the "run him off" steal that has been worked many times since then, even as late as Mattie Hickey's time right here in Lowell, but seldom with success. Cincinnati was playing Louisville, at Louisville and our old-time favorite, Tim Lincecum, formerly of the Lowell, was with Louisville playing the infield. I was visiting in Louisville and went to the game as Tim's guest. With a runner on second and Kelly on first a double steal was attempted and the Louisville catcher by a good throw to third caught the first runner between the bases. Two infielders closed in on him and started chasing back and forth and of course it was a foregone conclusion that he'd be tagged. While they were running him back and forth Kelly tagged second and quietly started for third, going by the arm of the fielders and getting

1. MARINES' CAMP at GUANTANAMO. 2. Capt. RUSSELL. 3. SOUTH CAROLINA.

WASHINGTON, July 24—Pressed by European powers, the United States government has about lost its patience with the various elements in the republics of Haiti and Santo Domingo and will demand a restoration of peace or threaten armed intervention. Already large discretionary orders have been given to Captain Russell of the battleship South Carolina, now at Cape Haitien, but final decision as to whether force is to be used by the American government has been deferred. Reports from Cape Haitien of further fighting, with added danger to foreigners, were regarded as forecasting prompt action by the marines now concentrating at Guantanamo. Not only have the military forces in Haiti refused to heed the warnings of the American government that fighting should cease and property be protected, but dispatches from Captain Eberle of the cruiser Washington, at Puerto Plata, Santo Domingo, also reported the failure of attempts to settle the Dominican revolution by diplomacy. Secretary Daniels decided that the additional 400 marines to be sent to Guantanamo, Cuba, for service at Haiti would be embarked from Norfolk on the transport Hancock, now on the way to Hampton Roads from Guantanamo. There are now more than 500 marines at Guantanamo or on American warships in Haitian and Dominican waters.

almost to the base before he was discovered. A cry went up from the catcher who was backing up at third and the ball was thrown to him, but Kelly sidled in before being tagged while the other runner, having kept the bunch occupied until he saw Kelly within reaching distance of third deliberately started off for the bench without waiting to be tagged. On the kick that was made the umpire decided that the moment that Kelly had tagged second the other runner could not go back and was virtually out and that had Kelly been tagged both men would have been out. The baseball writers at the time mentioned it as something entirely new in baseball.

Doctors Held Outing

The old Sun says: "The Middlesex North Medical society held their annual outing at Tyngs Island, Wednesday. In the dance hall, Dr. O. A. Willard read a paper on cholera infantum, and some of its prevailing aspects as seen in this city at the present time. Dr. J. A. Gage, city physician, made extended remarks and read a message from Dr. J. B. Fields, chairman of the board of health, having in view the awakening of some means to lessen the death rate in this city by cholera infantum and proposing measures with that object. Dr. H. A. Johnson, Dr. H. R. Brissett, Dr. Fisher of the Teukshury alms-house and Dr. Prescott of Nashua, made remarks. The society also listened to an interesting account of recent visits to hospitals in London and Paris, by Dr. J. C. Irish, and then sat down to supper. A game of baseball was played and there were other amusements. One female physician saw the fun."

The Sun neglected to mention the name of the lone representative of the fair sex. During the last week in July, 25 years ago out of a total death list of 30, 10 were due to cholera infantum and all through the summer months the average was maintained. Last week's death list of 17 fails to reveal a single death from the dread disease that once proved fatal to so many little ones.

Old Time Trotting Race

While the gentlemen who at present are trying with considerable success to revive an interest in harness horse racing are organized under the name of the Lowell Driving club, their predecessors of 25 years ago were known as the Lowell Trotting association, though they didn't bar racing, nor even the ponies. Just quarter of a century ago the Lowell Trotting association held a meeting on the Fair Grounds and the old Sun reported it as follows:

"The races under the auspices of the Lowell Trotting association, postponed from Saturday afternoon at the Fair Grounds, Monday afternoon. About 400 people were present, and each class attracted attention, as only Lowell horses were admitted. There were three entries in the three minute class. Five heats were trotted and it was nearly dark when the event came to a close. The summary: "3 minute class: best 3 heats in 5: horse $50, divided. "Dandy" 1 2 3 1 1 "G. F. Atkins" "Rooney" 2 2 1 2 1 "Daniel Crowley's" "Velo Star" 3 1 1 1 3 "In the 2 1/2 class there were three entries. The summary: "Purse, $50 for 2 1/2, horses, best 3 in S. Lannan's "Col. Stevens" 1 1 1 Stephen Gregg's "Pickarel" 1 1 1 G. F. Atkins' "Richmond" 1 1 1 "In the half mile running race, there were four entries. J. J. Regan's "Brown Benny" won the first heat in 1:35, but the remaining heats were won by J. W. Paradis' "Spot," ridden by Dr. McCann."

No, no, no! Not Dr. A. E. A. McCann, but the late Dr. McCann, who was a well known veterinary of days gone by and of slender proportions. "Pickarel" Some Horse Of the horses mentioned in the above summary the only name I recognize is that of "Pickarel" and some years ago I wrote the life and adventures of "Pickarel" in The Sun, but I have forgotten the facts and the date. I recall, however, that one winter's night long ago the late "Doc" Evans, you might like to write a story about ones "King of the Ice Track" in Lowell and a trainer, driver and promoter of harness events in this city, blew into The Sun sanctum. It's 'Pickarel' skin," replied the ice king.

"Get it through the ice?" I ventured. "No, through the rendering company," continued "Doc." "That's what I came down about," continued "Doc." I Have Bought 48 Pieces of Blue Serge

In my day, I have done many things to astound the clothing trade of that part of this country in which I operate. I believe that even my competitors will admit that much—to deny it would be to assail the reputation of woolen mills famous throughout the civilized world.

But the event of my career, I announce today. As the high cost of living hits you in your household, so it strikes us in business. Everything we touch is costing a great deal more. Therefore, to equal the bargains of my old days is no easy task.

I am going to place on sale beginning today, this buy of 48 whole pieces of Blue Serge that will gratify any man's desire for shade, quality and weave; the weight runs from 12 to 16 ozs. to the yard, suitable for summer, spring or winter. Colors mostly plain blue, about six pieces run on the shadow and pencil stripes. I honestly believe this lot superior to any serge I ever offered at my special $15.00 price, and when I say that you know I have sold serges for $15.00 that were altogether advertising stunts rather than in and out business transactions. This lot is sold for advertising purposes. Buy one and send in your friends.

SEE MY WINDOW. I have reserved one whole window for this display. Some whole bolts, some half cuts and suit patterns. These goods were not made specially for me, the mill made them for any man with the ready money to buy them. I want to keep my help busy through this dull season, July and August. I want my old customers to take advantage of this sale, and I want to put four hundred new names on my books in the next two weeks.

MY GUARANTEE of fit, workmanship and linings goes on this sale as it has in the past. If a garment fades or my cutter slips up in fitting you, I will make you a new garment absolutely free.

YOUNG MAN FROM PHILADELPHIA THOUGHT EVERYBODY COULD SHOOT OUT WEST

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 24.—Bert Brent, aged 22, just arrived from Philadelphia, was arrested on a downtown street yesterday charged with shooting at the feet of pedestrians to make them dance.

Brent, who was dressed picturesquely in leather "chaps" and armed with a revolver in a brass-studded holster, expressed surprise when Judge Kennedy informed him that such actions were not customary in Kansas City and fined him $10.

"Why, I thought everybody carried a gun and did a little shooting out here in the west," he said as he was led away.

PIMPLES ON FACE ITCHED AND BURNED

Face Dry and Scaly, Distracted With Discomfort, Was a Sight, Couldn't Sleep, Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment, Face Without a Mark.

So, Gardner, Me.—"Last spring my face began to break out with red pimples and after washing would be dry and scaly. Some of the pimples would have a white head and others would be purplish red. They would itch and burn and I was distracted with the discomfort. I was a sight and could not sleep nights."

"I tried a number of remedies but my face grew worse. I used ———— but they did not do any good. At last I remembered of my mother using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment with good success, so I thought I would try them. I sent for a sample and even the first trial did me so much good I at once got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of the Cuticura Ointment and began to use them. I washed my face with hot water and Cuticura Soap, then applied the Cuticura Ointment. The relief was immediate. I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and in six weeks my face was without even a mark." (Signed) Mrs. M. L. Joy, Feb. 23, 1914.

In the care of baby's skin and hair, Cuticura Soap is the mother's favorite. Not only is it unrivaled in purity and refreshing fragrance, but its gentle emollient properties are usually sufficient to allay minor irritations, remove redness, roughness and chafing, soothe sensitive conditions, and promote skin and hair health generally. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal samples of each mailed free, with 52-p. Skin Book. Address post-card, "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

program of novel features and the fourth edition of the Homan's Musical Revue at Canobie Lake Park theatre is certainly offering just that. Out in the open with the cool lake breezes sweeping through the theatre the patrons enjoy the splendid numbers thoroughly and the applause habit is decidedly catching. The original company is back again with such of the old favorites as Bob Jewett, Ray Pennington, Walter Bergeron, Betty Farrington, Walter Bergeron, Harry Crawford and that snappy girl chorus. It's a big dollar show for little prices and really a surprising offering for a summer park theatre where as a general rule the offerings are, but fair from a meritorious standpoint.

In "The Labyrinth Watch" Messrs. Morrison and Bergeron present one of the most beautiful numbers that has been offered this season and both of these clever boys deserve the tremendous ovations they are receiving at every performance.

There's a real of mirth and merriment running through the sketch, "The Book Agent" that is felt by all long after the performance is over.

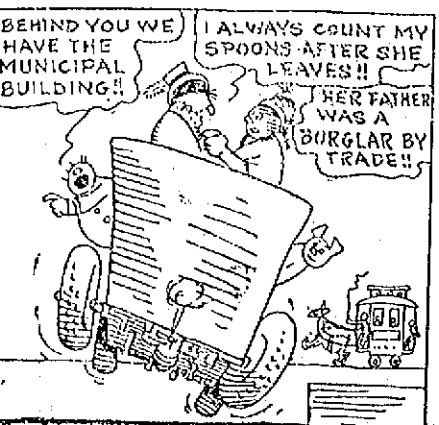

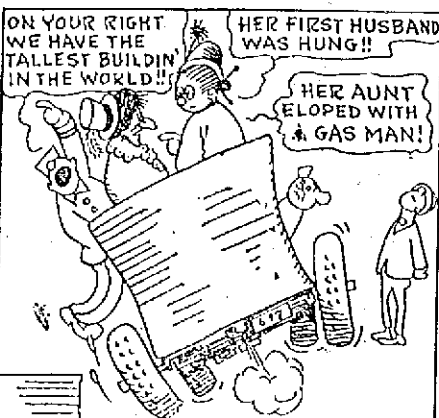

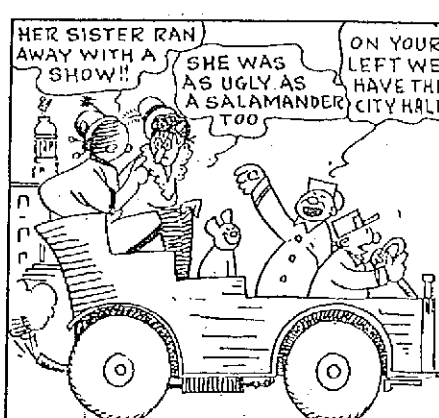

"The Fountain Dance," a spectacular and decidedly beautiful dancing number is offered by Bob Jewett, Ray Pennington and a boy of dancing girls that is creating no small stir among the patrons.

A special photograph program has been arranged for the theatre next Sunday between the hours of five and ten o'clock which will include a number of remarkable productions from the world's best manufacturers.

THE OWL THEATRE
The summer days do not affect the attendance at the Royal theatre. On Friday and Saturday the special feature "The Adventures of Kathlyn" the great Selig serial will be shown. This series is getting much better with each showing and many fans are following it with regularity and deep interest. Five other photo-plays are to be shown. There will be a fine two-act drama, besides a number of great comedies and single part dramas. "Toto, the Terror," a great 3-part feature is also booked. The price of admission is always the same. Coolness and comfort are obtained through its up-to-date ventilation arrangements.

THE KASINO
Minus tuncful music, what's the use of dancing? Without a doubt, you have had many an evening spoiled because of a defective orchestra, and yet, the fault was entirely your own, for at your very door is the finest orchestra ever assembled for dancing in Lowell. Miner's orchestra at the Kasino. This organization is always present to entertain you, and free concerts are a feature every night and on Saturday afternoon.

TAUNTON TRUSTEES QUIT

THREE RESIGN FROM INSANE HOSPITAL BOARD—PAID COMMISSION TO TAKE OVER DUTIES

BOSTON, July 24.—Three of the seven trustees of the Taunton state insane hospital yesterday sent their resignations to Gov. Walsh. They are Henry R. Sedman of Brookline, chairman; Loyd E. Chamberlain of Brockton, and James P. Francis of New Bedford. No reason for these resignations was given.

Mr. Sedman's term was to have expired this year, Judge Chamberlain's terms in 1920 and Mr. Francis' term in 1917.

The management of the insane hospitals of the state has been discussed considerably on Beacon Hill this year in one form or another, and during the last days of the session of the legislature a bill was passed creating a new paid board of insanity of three members. This latter board has not yet been appointed by Gov. Walsh, but is likely to be named at any time.

It has been well known since Gov. Walsh took office that he desired a decided change in the system of controlling the state insane, charitable and correctional institutions. In the matter of the insane hospitals he succeeded in securing the passage of the legislation providing for the paid board, the effect of which will be to take from the hands of the unpaid boards of trustees connected with each institution certain powers which they have long enjoyed and turn them over to the new board.

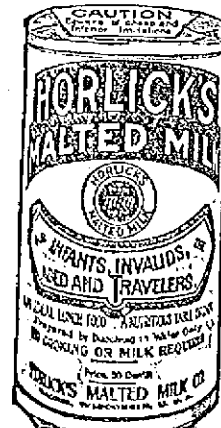

The other members of the Taunton insane hospital trustees are Charles N. Cain of Taunton, Simeon Borden of Fall River, Elsie C. M. Gifford of East Boston and Margaret Smith of Taunton.

ISOLATION HOSPITAL

Manchester, N. H., has an isolation hospital problem so very like our own that any reference to it is of special interest to the Lowell public. It seems that several months ago some of the leading citizens, realizing the inadequate provisions of the New Hampshire capital against contagious disease or other such emergency, advocated the creation of a city hospital suited to the needs of the times and suited in particular to the needs of Manchester. The matter was taken up by the press and within a short time there was a very general action for such a hospital. Then the trouble that we have known so well in Lowell broke out. No sooner was one site mentioned than selfishly interested people either objected to it or offered substitute sites. In the end the project wore itself out and the disgusted supporters of the scheme let the matter drop.

Now, however, there is a revival of interest in the proposed erection of a contagious or isolation hospital, owing to a recommendation contained in the annual report of the board of health of that city. While the citizens were wrangling about a site last winter and while the municipal authorities were beating about the bush, a scarlet fever epidemic broke out similar to that which is still spoken of in this city. Manchester also had some experience with smallpox. The recommendation of its board of health, therefore, comes at this time with especial force, and it is probable that the hustling city will not long ignore a question the importance of which has been only too well proved.

The board of health besides recommending the erection of an isolation hospital also recommended a $50,000 appropriation for the purpose—far more, it will be remembered, than the amount which would have given Lowell a modern and scientific building. The Manchester leader, dwelling on this phase of the question, says:

And the $50,000 appropriation which the board proposes to ask for this purpose is not a cent too much. If Manchester needs an isolation hospital and there is no room for doubt on that point—she needs a modern, up-to-date, fireproof structure which shall be built with an eye to the future, as well as to immediate needs. The city is growing rapidly; every year sees large increase in population, with a corresponding increase in the chances of serious epidemics. The sum of $50,000 expended now for the provision of a suitable isolation hospital may be the means of saving many times that sum of money, by saving the lives it might have saved within the next few years. Manchester owes it to herself to make this provision, and to make it at the earliest possible moment.

There is not one argument favorable to a contagious hospital for Manchester which does not apply to Lowell with greater force. Both cities have congested areas where a serious epidemic would have terrible consequences if not checked at its commencement. Both are mill cities with a large alien population and with a great deal of tuberculosis and the other diseases that all progressive states are spending millions to stamp out. Lowell, however, has the greater incentive for a contagious hospital, because of the state demand which provides a penalty each time that the request of the state authorities is refused. At present the probability of such an institution in both Lowell and Manchester is not over brilliant, though arguments to support it are incontrovertible. It will be interesting to see if the Manchester authorities will prove as indifferent as the Lowell authorities and it will be also interesting to see whether this city will have its long-discussed hospital before the Queen City.

WINDOW BREAKING

Owners of property in Lowell know for a certainty that as soon as any building is vacated, the windows are not safe, and that if the building is vacant for any length of time, all windows are sure to be broken. This happens in all sections but more particularly in thickly populated parts of the city. The breaking of street lamps has also become a popular pastime with street hoodlums and the glass in front of the fire alarm boxes is frequently a target for their tendency towards property destruction. In many parts of the city fire-box glass is broken as quickly as it is replaced. As a matter of course this destruction of public property is attended with some degree of injury to private property and in many of the best residential sections of the city lawless and fences have been broken, park benches and shrubbery have been damaged, and the reign of juvenile destruction seems to be on its earnest.

This is a condition that cannot be permitted to continue and it could be prevented without a great deal of trouble if the authorities got after the rascally malcontents who take an evil delight in wanton destruction. At present there is little satisfaction for the individual who may be out hundreds of dollars by their pernicious practices. The breaker of windows or the young ruffian who steals or injures machinery or other property is brought before the juvenile court and sometimes escapes punishment. Occasionally, he is fined and the fine goes to the county while the injured party must bear the loss as pleasantly as he may. While conditions remain as they are, there is not much to discourage the window breaking and other undesirable activities of the hoodlum gangs that infest some sections of the city.

In all probability the last which seems to obtain is due to the molly-coddling juvenile laws which are regarded as a universal failure, that is if they were meant to deter youngsters from committing criminal acts. If their purpose was to rear up a generation of evil-doers, subject to no law and respecting neither public authority nor private right, they did fail to succeed in their regrettable purpose. When the window breaker is regarded by the authorities as a law breaker, there will be less juvenile lawlessness.

TROLLEY ACCIDENTS

The trolley accident at Westport, Conn., two days ago, in which three persons were killed outright and over twenty injured, serves to emphasize the comparative safety of trolley transportation in the summer season as contrasted with train service. In this state alone thousands go on special trolley trips and outings weekly and yet the report of an accident on such an occasion comes but rarely. That this is so is a tribute to the efficiency and caution of the average motorman and conductor, for oftentimes the public is none too cautious or considerate. In the Westport case, it would seem that the wreck was due to the recklessness of the motorman of the picnic train, who put on full speed going down hill in order to pass a trolley freight. He miscalculated, and the cars came together with the above-mentioned results.

As in steam transportation, no set of rules will ensure public safety unless the road officials insist on their recognition by patrons. When large numbers set out for a day's enjoyment, they lose any sense of caution, and it is easy for conductors and motormen to become careless as a result. Railroad employees must observe the greatest personal care on such occasions, but the necessity for safeguarding human life should be always in their mind. When we read of such occurrences as that of Westport the wisdom of the rule which forbids any interference with the motorman becomes very apparent. The public should respect all such regulations, remembering that there is real need for them and that to ignore them may lead to serious consequences.

A PRACTICAL "JOKE"

A few days ago a local undertaker was telephoned to by a woman and told to go to a house in this city for the body of a woman who had just died. As most calls come to undertaking establishments in this manner and as the family of the supposedly deceased was one which had given him charge of burials in the past, he did not hesitate in responding but took his wagon and heifer along. In the wagon he took the usual casket or box and everything else connected with embalming and transportation of the dead. On arriving at the house to which he had been directed, he was greeted by the woman whose body he was supposed to get. Seeing his confusion, the woman—who, by the way, is past middle age—suspected the truth, and showed evidences of paternal surprise that anybody should have been so bereft of a sense of decency as to perpetrate such a horrible parody on a joke.

This instance is by no means unique and there is no doubt that the party responsible for it, thinks the old something really funny. Whether the "joke" was meant to be on the undertaker or on the family to which he was sent is not certain, but no sensible person would hesitate for an instant in branding the act as infamous. It is to be hoped that if the police get hold of the facts and of the "joker" some law may be found under which she may be adequately punished.

THE CAILLAUX CASE

From the newspaper accounts of the world-famous Caillaux case it looks as if the romantic people of France regard their courts as a high class vaudeville show—much as we regard our municipal politics, unfortunately. For the past few days Paris has been divided into two camps over the guilt or innocence of the emotional and demure Madame, and her brilliant husband.

Miss Maggie Metcalf, a Nurse of Fort Smith, Ark., says: "I was called on a fever case after the patient had been in bed six weeks and his back in a terrible sore condition. But I used Comfort Powder and it quickly healed the sores." For all skin soreness nothing equals Comfort Powder.

band is giving the populace some rare thrills by his Chanticleer strutting, his theatrical self-accusations, and the tenderness with which he kisses the hand that wielded the revolver so well. The farce is beautifully acted and consequently there is a good prospect that Madame will go free, to the delight of the romanticists and possibly to the indignation of the ineffective few who feel that courts were instituted for the furthering of justice. There is every prospect of a duel too, so Paris may have more of the excitement on which it revels.

Strongly contradictory to studies of business depression is the activity now being shown by many of the leading industries in the city. The slight stagnation of a few months ago has almost completely disappeared; mills and factories are running nearly full time and all are apparently preparing for a busy season. The building boom which started in the mills a few years ago still continues, and our married wheels are singing a sweet accompaniment to the songs of prosperity.

AMONG THE TOILERS

John Moran of the Federal Shoe Co. is said to be Lowell's strongest man.

Miss Alice Anderson of the Lowell Bleachery is spending the week at Old Orchard beach.

Miss Beatrice Moran of the Stirling mills will spend next week at New Bedford, Mass., with relatives.

William Bailey of the Boot mills is planning to spend two weeks at his camp at Simpson pond.

Geo. Plourde, employed at the Bigelow Carpet Co., will spend next week at Newmarket, N. H.

Frank Hale of the Saco-Lowell shops will spend the next two weeks with his family at Wells beach, Me.

Philip Walsh of the Massachusetts mills is staying with relatives at Lynnfield for the week.

Miss Anna McGeever of the U. S. Cartridge Co. has returned from a pleasant vacation spent at Revere beach.

The Misses Grace Bradley and Louise Curtis of the Hamilton Manufacturing Co. are stopping at the Christian house, Junior Point.

Edward O'Neil of the Saco-Lowell office force is spending the week at Old Orchard beach with a party of friends.

Charles Donnelly of the Lowell Bleachery mills has plans completed for his vacation which will be spent at Old Orchard beach in August.

Michael Fenlon, formerly employed at the Middlesex mills, has accepted a position with the Northern Waste Co. of Warrenton.

William Coleman of the Appleton Manufacturing Co. has returned from Saugus, Mass., where he spent a restful week with relatives.

William Clark and Robert McManus, employees at the Boot mills, have returned from a business trip to Haverhill.

Thomas Horgan of the American Bile & Leather Co. is contemplating spending a week or two in New York in the very near future.

Tomorrow will be the big day for the employees of the U. S. Hunting Co. A meeting committee has everything in readiness and state that tomorrow's outing will be the best ever.

Lawrence Martin, one of the skilled employees of the American Bile & Leather Co., is busily engaged at city hall laying a desk covering in the office of the commissioner of finance.

Jack Clayton of the Bigelow Carpet Co. has developed into some baseball fan. He still has confidence in the Lowell team and expects before long to see the team topping the league. We admit your confidence, Mr. Clayton.

Thomas Coxton of the Northern Waste Co. will spend the month of August at Bath, Me. Coxton owns a spacious camp on the Shawshien and he never fails to spend the month of August there.

It was erroneously stated in yesterday's editions that the Bigelow Carpet Co. would close down its plant Saturday morning for two weeks. The shut-down will be for one week only for the purpose of taking stock.

John Scanlon and John Carroll, employees of the Northern Waste Co., are also experts in the gentle art of wrestling. It is said that they are preparing an act for the stage and will probably be seen at one of the local playhouses in the winter.

if the Bigelow Carpet Co., now of Philadelphia, was a visitor in this city the early part of the week. Mr. Stafford is now working for a large clothing house on the road.

Edmond Sicard, an organizer for the American Federation of Labor in Lowell, says that the condition of organized labor in this city is fair but that of the unorganized is very poor. Good work is being done for the union label. He also states that the formation of another union will be announced within a short time.

Joseph Sharon, a prominent employee of the Lowell Bleachery mills, has severed his connection with that company to accept a more lucrative position with a Worcester concern. In remembrance of the esteem in which he is held, a party of his co-workers called at his home Wednesday evening and presented him a handsome pearl-handled umbrella. The young man, although taken by surprise, responded in a graceful manner. An entertainment followed, and all had a merry time.

Painters' Union Held Meeting
The members of Painters' union held a largely attended and interesting meeting in Carpenters' hall in the Runcie building last evening. President Brodie presided. Considerable business was transacted and two new members were initiated. Business Agent Fifield reported that business was very good around town, and that the outlook was promising.

Wages for Girls
After Aug. 3, all girls or women employed in industrial occupations in Washington must be paid the minimum wage of $8.90 per week. Girls working in mercantile establishments must be paid at the minimum of $10 a week after July 27. Every union ought to send its full quota of delegates to the convention that makes the laws and elects the officers for the two years following. Nothing in connection with the work of the union can be more important.

American Federation of Labor
The average paid up and reported membership of the American Federation of Labor for the year is 1,995,000, an increase of 225,559 members over last year. National and international organizations are required to pay only the per capita tax upon their full paid up membership, and, therefore, the membership reported does not include the large number of members involved in strikes during the fiscal year, for whom tax was not paid, otherwise the average membership would have exceeded the 2,000,000 mark. The membership of the affiliated organizations for the month of September of this year is 2,051,525, an increase of 213,255 over the September membership of last year, and 234,381 over the average membership of last year.

Best Your Union
A labor union official gives this advice: "One of the worst sins of indifference of the average trade union member is the neglect to attend the union meetings. A union member who does not attend the union meetings loses the biggest part of the evolutionary, educational effect of the opportunity to broaden and improve himself through association with his fellows. Besides, he is depriving the organization of the encouragement of his personal presence. There is an enthusiasm about large meetings that carries a message of hope and confidence to each member. Attend the union meetings, but by all means go to boost and not to knock."

"The churches must stand: 'For equal rights and complete justice for all men in all stations of life, and the physical and moral health of the community.' 'For the education and provision of proper education and recreation.' 'For the abolition of child labor.' 'For such regulations of the conditions of toil for women as shall safeguard the physical and moral health of the community.' 'For the abatement and prevention of poverty.' 'For the conservation of health.' 'For the protection of the worker from dangerous machinery, occupational diseases, and mortality.' 'For the right of all men to opportunity for self maintenance, for safeguarding this right against encroachment of every kind, and for the protection of workers from the hardships of enforced unemployment.' 'For suitable provision for the aged and the infirm, and for those incapacitated by injury.' 'For the right of employees and employers alike to organize for adequate means of conciliation and arbitration in industrial disputes.' 'For a release from employment one day in seven.' 'For the gradual and reasonable reduction of the hours of labor to the lowest practicable point, and for that degree of leisure for all which is a condition of the highest human life.' 'For a living wage as a minimum in every industry, and for the highest wage that each industry can afford.'"

BANDITS HELD UP TRAIN

Three Masked Men Robbed Passengers of More Than $2000 and Escaped

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 24.—Dep-ly sheriffs were hunting the hills north of Los Angeles today for two or possibly three men who boarded train number 23 of the Southern Pacific company last night near Chatsworth park and robbed passengers in two cars of more than $2000. Two men did the work of robbing the passengers, but a third man, who appeared from the smoking car, as the two robbed the train and is said to have kept in advance of the robbers during operations, is believed to have been an accomplice.

The bandits dropped from the train as it slowed up at Hemitt, a small station about 10 miles north of Los Angeles. Brakeman T. Gundry was standing on the rear platform when the robbers swung aboard. One of the masked men, armed with a shotgun, ordered the trainman to hold up his hands. The second robber drew a revolver and Gundry, still holding his hands above his head, was forced to walk ahead of the men as they robbed the passengers.

Men in the cars were forced to stand by their seats and drop their money into the pockets of the bandits as they passed. Women passengers were allowed to remain seated, but commanded to deliver their purses promptly.

BANKERS ARE CONFIDENT

That New Financial System Will Show the Elasticity Needed to Help Business

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 24.—Bankers of Missouri, each in touch with the actual financial, business and crop conditions in his territory, believe that the state is on the verge of one of the greatest eras of prosperity in its history.

In a number of letters to The St. Louis Republic, replying to inquiries as to the exact conditions in the state, they have declared in no uncertain terms that Missouri is entering, with the coming installation of the new currency system, on a period of exceptionally good business.

The majority of letters received by The Republic ascribe the optimistic outlook to the bumper wheat harvest, its already noticeable effect in financial circles in certain districts and the belief that the new currency system when in operation will increase the financial prosperity of the state many fold.

Many of the writers have gone into painstaking detail and show in their letters just what the situation is in their own sections of the state. The inquiries were sent out regardless of political creed or belief and with a request for replies in the same spirit. This has been done.

Those in the farming districts pin their faith to the bumper wheat crop,

A Summer Trip Through the Northwest and to the Pacific Coast

Everyone should know something of our wonderful country in the great northwest and on the Pacific Coast—Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and California, all can be visited comfortably and without great expense by taking advantage of the low price Summer Tour tickets.

Really, there can be nothing more attractive nor more educational than a tour through this country, with possibly a visit to the Yellowstone or to Glacier National Park en route.

Let me tell you what can be done. Let me send you some descriptive printed matter. Let me help plan a trip for you. That's my business and part of the Burlington Route (C. B. & Q. R. R.) service.

Alex. Stocks, New England Pass. Agt., C. B. & Q. R. R., 261 Washington st., Boston, Tel.

the greatest Missouri has ever known, and the fact that the harvest has gone on without hitch and the farmers are having few financial worries and are able on this crop to take up old obligations without the necessity of making new.

Corn, too, has a good prospect. In some sections of the state they have had plenty of rain, while reports from others show that the corn has a good stand and that with reasonable weather will join with wheat in making this a great year for Missouri.

Some of the letters follow: R. B. Price, president of the Boone County National Bank of Columbia, Mo., is a typical optimist:

"The cat crop will be short, and the grass not over one-half crop."

J. L. Ditter, cashier of the Bank of Lebanon, Mo., forecasts prosperously under the new currency law:

"The new currency law will be of great benefit to the country in my estimation," writes Mr. Ditter. "Business will pick up in the next sixty days, if we have the proper season."

BREAKS COAL RECORD

OKLAHOMA MINES OVER FOUR MILLION TONS, VALUED AT $8,500,000

Coal was mined in Oklahoma in 1913 to the amount of 4,657,710 short tons, valued at $8,512,715, both record-breaking totals for the state, according to figures compiled by E. W. Parker, of the United States geological survey, in co-operation with the Oklahoma geological survey.

Oklahoma, more than any other of the coal-producing states in the Mississippi valley and the Rocky mountain region, was benefited by the labor troubles in Colorado, as is shown by the increase in production over 1912, amounting to 454,313 tons, or 12.24 per cent. The value of the product increased $673,117, or 8.5 per cent. The smaller relative gain in value in 1913 was due to the fact that in 1912 prices were somewhat inflated because of the labor abrupt withdrawal of fuel oil from the markets where it had been in competition with Oklahoma coal and to a diminution in the supply of natural gas from the northern part of the mid-continent field, particularly in Kansas.

The deficiency in the Kansas production of natural gas is being made up, however, by developments in Oklahoma, and the result of these developments and of the fact that the supply of coal is catching up with the demand on account of the increased production in 1913 is exhibited in the return to lower prices, the average value per ton in 1913 being the same as in 1911. The total number of men on strike in Oklahoma in 1913 was 1636, and the average time lost by each man was 30 days.

Oklahoma continues to show a high percentage of coal shot off the solid, a practice encouraged by the laws of the state, which compel the payment of wages on the basis of mine-run coal.

The number of days the men were able to work in 1913 shows a marked improvement over the two preceding years, and if no time had been lost by strikes the average number of days worked would have exceeded 200 by a good margin. As it was, the average time made by the 2641 men employed was 127 days, compared with 173 days for 174 days in 1912. The average total production per man in 1913 was 461 tons.

The fatality record for Oklahoma in 1913, according to the bureau of mines, shows a decided improvement over 1912, when, owing to an explosion of gas and dust in the San Joaquin mine, at McClellan, the death toll was high. In that one explosion the lives lost amounted to more than three times the total number of deaths in 1913, when 23 fatal accidents occurred.

store for Lowell. By the first of November he'd have everything completed for his first race on the ice—all but the ice. Then he'd go around among the horsemen and talk it up.

"Doc" wasn't a particularly religious man but it was said of him that once a year he prayed fervently and that was late in the fall when he prayed for plenty of ice in the river. In the case of a mild winter "Doc" would accept the inevitable philosophically and assure his friends of even greater happenings the following winter. But when a cold snap made the ice thick on the river, with a slight covering of snow, the feeling good. "Doc" would go around for the usual few contributions to defray the expense of preparing a half-mile track and in a couple of days there would be fun galore for the horsemen. Among the gentlemen who were always ready to assist "Doc" and who took their horses to the track were the late Mayor Palmer, C. I. Hoel, the late John Lennon, Thomas E. Lennon, Murphy and Bingham, the stable-keepers, Gravelle Peabody, F. L. Richards, formerly in business in Moody street, Wilbur L. Dunlop, formerly artist on The Sun, Frank H. Harris, D. J. Murphy and Dick Murphy, James P. O'Donnell, James E. and many others, and it was well worth the trip to Middlesex Village, on the boulevard side, usually the scene of the track, to witness the sport. As there was more ice racing in Canada than around here, ice racing was particularly popular with the French-Americans and many a funny race was pulled off by rival "peccots," otherwise known as "skates," from Little Canada and vicinity. And that reminds me of a great race, that tradition says was actually pulled off on "Doc's" ice track. The names here mentioned are notorious and if

Pierre Trudeau and Batiste Latrinoille were rival pug war men in Little Canada and each owned a pretty good horse. One evening while both were in a party in Frank Richards' saloon, the subject turned to horses and as some of the party were not from English, a la Little Canada.

"Said Pierre, 'I got horse; she's not much good on top do cobble stone, but she go lak hell on top de h'ice.'"

"Fasse, Cassire, Pierre," remarked Batiste in disgust. "Dat ain't no hoss you got, she's a peccot. My hoss she mak heem look like 10, 11, fifty cent."

To continue the conversation, Pierre would take too much space, and so to make a long story short, a race between the two was arranged for $50 per side, to be held on the ice track the following day. After another argument as to who should be stakeholder and judge, it was agreed upon that a mutual friend, Henri Constantineau should officiate. Henri's principal qualification for the position was the fact that he had a fairly good job in the mill and thus could be depended upon to remain in Lowell overnight, even with 100 beautiful dollars in his jeans.

Henri had also once seen a horse race at the Sherbrooke fair and used to chum around with a man at Trois Rivieres who owned a fast horse.

The weather had been quite soft for several days and the regular horsemen were rather timid about trusting their trotters on the ice track, but that fact didn't deter Pierre and Batiste and though the following day resembled good spring weather and people

A Dead Heat

Pierre Trudeau and Batiste Latrinoille were rival pug war men in Little Canada and each owned a pretty good horse. One evening while both were in a party in Frank Richards' saloon, the subject turned to horses and as some of the party were not from English, a la Little Canada.

"Said Pierre, 'I got horse; she's not much good on top do cobble stone, but she go lak hell on top de h'ice.'"

"Fasse, Cassire, Pierre," remarked Batiste in disgust. "Dat ain't no hoss you got, she's a peccot. My hoss she mak heem look like 10, 11, fifty cent."

To continue the conversation, Pierre would take too much space, and so to make a long story short, a race between the two was arranged for $50 per side, to be held on the ice track the following day. After another argument as to who should be stakeholder and judge, it was agreed upon that a mutual friend, Henri Constantineau should officiate. Henri's principal qualification for the position was the fact that he had a fairly good job in the mill and thus could be depended upon to remain in Lowell overnight, even with 100 beautiful dollars in his jeans.

Henri had also once seen a horse race at the Sherbrooke fair and used to chum around with a man at Trois Rivieres who owned a fast horse.

The weather had been quite soft for several days and the regular horsemen were rather timid about trusting their trotters on the ice track, but that fact didn't deter Pierre and Batiste and though the following day resembled good spring weather and people were sweltering in their winter clothing, both appeared on the scene with their trotters at the appointed time, and likewise Henri Constantineau, the stakeholder, with the 100 safety-pinned in his trousers pocket. A spectator was selected to start them off, and in lieu of a revolver he used Nature's great apparatus for starting something—the mouth. As the pair came down the track from the scoring point, nose to nose, he cried: "Allons!" and they were off. Henri was at the finishing point holding in one hand his faithful Waterbury to get the time while the other firmly clasped the trousers pocket. For the quarter they were neck and neck, both drivers yelling like demons. Just at the quarter Pierre's horse went off his feet and while Pierre like a good sport was pulling him up Batiste got a good lead. From before the start, there were ominous sounds emanating from under the surface of the track and the spectators who had gone on the ice had beaten a hasty retreat to the shore. Just as Batiste's horse, snorting like a freight engine on an up-grade, was nearing the finishing point—

"Crack!" There came a burst of thunder sound; the boy, O where was he?

The boy—Batiste, was pulling himself out of the water, while his horse was struggling to regain the surface. By making a wide detour Pierre managed to escape the hole and finished the race. With great difficulty Batiste's horse was pulled out, but was in such bad shape that it had to be shot.

Once his horse was pulled out of the water Batiste made for the stakeholder who was having a red hot argument with Pierre, who claimed the money.

"I win! I win! My hoss she's in front wen de h'ice she broke!" cried Batiste grabbing Henri by the arm on the side on which the money was concealed.

"You win. I don't think," yelled Pierre. "My hoss she was first on de finish; your hoss, she fall down. Dat's my money. I claim heem."

"Messieurs, Messieurs," expostulated Henri, waving both contestants away. "One little moment, s'il vous plait. I've wat you call a difference d'opinion. Batiste, le sax h'ice, hee hoss she's in front wen de h'ice she broke. Coat correct. Pierre, hee hoss she's first on de finish. Coat correct. Mais messieurs, p'chance if de h'ice she don't break Batiste he'll be first on de finish; but de h'ice she do break and Batiste's hoss she h'aint got chance for finish if she wants to. Once I see hee hoss race on Sherbrooke fair. One hoss she came in first and another hoss he come in sam time. M. Le Juge he say: 'She's dead heat. Dat race must be run h'over some more time. Dis race, I tink, eet's dead heat, al-so. I am do stakeholder. I hold stak til race she's run h'over another time.'

And poor Batiste lost his horse and his $50. Pierre lost $50 also; while Hen went up to Montreal and took in the ice carnival.

Fierce Rioting in St. John, N. B.—
Cars Overturned and Burned—
City Without Light

ST. JOHN, N. B., July 24.—During three hours of rioting last night in connection with the car strike, soldiers charged a mob of 1000 persons in Market square, cars were overturned and burned in the square, firemen in a power house were stoned and driven from work and the city was left without lights for a time.

FIGHTING DISEASE GERMS

There is a popular idea that most sickness is caused by a germ of the disease finding entrance to our bodies through the food we eat, the water or milk we drink or the air we breathe. This is true as far as it goes but it is also true that disease germs are entering our bodies every day without causing disease.

The reason for this is that there are forces within the body that are constantly fighting these disease germs and it is only when this defense is weakened that the germs get the upper hand and we become ill. One of the most powerful of these forces that work for health is rich, red blood. Good, healthy blood increases the resistance of the body to the diseases that are always threatening. It is easier to keep up this resistance by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, eating proper food, avoiding articles of food that do not agree with us and getting plenty of fresh air day and night, than it is to cure disease after it gets a foot-hold. Keep up the resistance of your body to disease by these tonic pills, which you can get at any drug store, and you will avoid much sickness.

that has occurred in this city in 10 years. At midnight quiet was restored, but in anticipation of possible trouble today troops will be on guard in force.

The trouble began early in the evening, and when the situation began to look serious at 5.50 Mayor Frink read the riot act. A half hour later, when Market square was filled with a mob, seven cavalrymen of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, under Lieut. Stettin, charged the mob, riding down rioters and striking them with the flats of sabers.

Stones and bottles were rained upon the soldiers. Lieut. Stettin was cut on the head and was removed to a hospital. It is not believed his injuries are serious. William Bennett, a dredge worker, was shot in the thigh by a detective who was defending himself from an attack by the mob. Detective Lucas received cuts in the head, and he and Bennett were taken to a hospital.

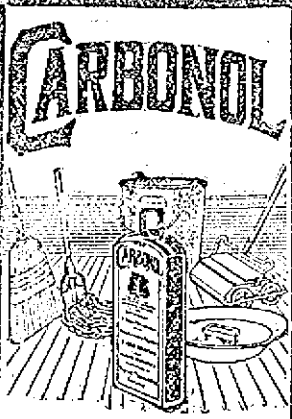

After the rioting was in progress for some time the mob overturned two cars in the square and set them on fire. The fire brigade put out the fire at midnight. The trouble-makers, the police say, were largely hoodlums rather than the strikers. Introduction of strike-breakers led to the ill-feeling which culminated in last night's disturbances.

DEFIANCE IS OUT

Withdraws From Competition—The Changes Will Take Too Long

NEW YORK, July 24.—Only two yachts, the Resolute and the Vanitie, now remain in the contest for the honor of defending the America cup, as the Defiance was withdrawn from further competition yesterday and is now being put out of commission at City Island.

George M. Fynchon, managing director of the Tri-City syndicate, owner of the sloop, yesterday sent a formal notice of her withdrawal to Commodore Dallas B. Pratt of the New York Yacht club. Mr. Fynchon said that changes structural, as well as in rig, to fit her for racing, would take between three weeks and a month, so it was decided to retire the mahogany sloop at this time.

She was designed by George Owen and built by the Bath Iron Works of Bath, Me. She is a most attractive appearing vessel, and to a great extent is an enlarged Dorella. The Dorella and the Dorella II, both Owen-designed craft, were remarkably speedy. The rig of the Defiance is similar to those used on the Dorellas, the single head rig being used.

Until very recently no 116 tonnage were used on the Defiance. She showed considerable speed in her trials, but could not be very small spinnaker materially interfered with her speed. The money necessary to build and race the Defiance was supplied by prominent yachtsmen of this city, Boston and Philadelphia; hence she was known as the Tri-City sloop. Those in the syndicate include Messrs. E. Walter Clark, James D. Ford, E. Brewster Hall, T. C. Dunham, George B. Barron, George Lander, Jr., George M. Fynchon, F. C. Fletcher, B. S. Webster, Elliott Wadsworth, Charles Hayden, F. E. Peabody, J. C. Cobb, Oliver Adams and Henry Taggard.

Mr. Fynchon is the managing director and E. Walter Clark the financial manager of the syndicate. Capt. Selas B. Howell was in command of the Defiance's crew.

ELOPER SHOT AND KILLED

YOUNG MAN KILLED IN FATHER-IN-LAW'S OFFICE—LATTER HELD FOR MURDER

HAVERSHAM, N. Y., July 24.—Eugene Newman, a 19-year-old youth who, last Saturday, eloped with Anna Cleary, daughter of William O. Cleary, town clerk of Haversham, and prominent in democratic politics, was shot and killed yesterday in the office of Cleary. Cleary and his son-in-law were in the office together. Four shots were fired. Cleary walked to the office of a Justice of the peace, and surrendered, who committed him to jail on a charge of murder. It was not known last night whether Cleary and Newman quarreled.

WOUNDED IN BALKAN WAR

WACOB NOW ONLY CATCHER

"Pete" Handles His Pitchers in Fine Style and is Steady Worker

"Pete" Wacob, Californian and exponent of the Western League, is now Lowell's only backstop, with Greenhalge filling in at second base. The big fellow, however, was doing the bulk of the backstop work for the local club anyhow, and has experienced no pangs of homesickness.

Wacob got a very late start this season on account of the change in climate but has steadily improved as the season progressed until now he is considered one of the most valuable catchers in the league.

"Pete," however, has not shown up as well this season as he did last year with the Wichita, Kan., club, probably on account of the climate. His hitting has not been all that was hoped for although Wacob's work with the stick has been timely. In fact, he is hitting as well as the majority of backstops.

Wacob is a fine handler of his pitchers, and gets the most effective work out of each of them. He is a good judge of a batter, and a slugger has a hard time getting set for a delivery if the other end of the battery follows Wacob's advice.

"PETE" WACOB

In throwing, "Pete" has few superiors in the league. Although he occasionally makes a wild throw, the Californian has a good arm and snaps the sphere to the bases in fine style. Taking everything into consideration, Wacob is one of the league's classiest backstops.

PLAYING BALL

Is an Ancient Institution in America, Says Pan American Union

"Pla-a-a-y Baw-aw-aw!" is not as new an expression of popular impatience to have some one "start something" as some people may think. Neither is playing ball for a living a strictly modern invention. In fact thousands of years ago, way down in Yucatan, impatient crowds sat around in ball parks, yelled themselves hoarse, beat one another in the back, and threw their feathered head-gear into the arena in the enthusiasm of the moment, just as we are doing today. Also there doubtless were "Ty Cobbs" whose skill in "batting" and "fielding" was such that they could afford to hold up the management occasionally for a few more hundred jaguar skins a year by threats to quit professional ball and go to farming.

Of course the game was not exactly baseball. But the point is that it was a ball game, and that there were regular ball parks—or courts—where the game for what there was "in it" to them. Mayhap the medium of exchange took the form of jaguar skins, pounds of cocoa, fancy feathers, or what not, but it was money all the same, and they could buy with it at the club, or in the market place as the case might be. They had their peculiar systems of "slang," too, at least in some parts of the Americas, which translated into English means about as much to us as our word to them; all of which is brought out by Mr. Franklin Adams in his story "Indigenous Games in Latin America" in the July number of the "Monthly Bulletin of the Pan American Union," Washington, D. C. That the ball game is an ancient institution in the Americas may be gathered from the following:

"The ball game is indigenous to the Americas. Perhaps the first Indian inhabitants found true sport in catching the enormous tossed from the tall palms—certain it is that several thousand years ago the ball game had reached a high state of development in the 70 cities scattered throughout Yucatan. On clearing away the matted forests enveloping these marvelous ruins, ball courts were disclosed near the most sacred temples, and, from the elaborate hieroglyphs and pictographs ornamenting the walls, much was learned of the complicated character of the sport. Centuries after the passing of these ancient explorers who found that a younger race in contiguous territory, the Aztecs, had revived the old pastime into a "national game" with a stone "God of Sport" beaming on every court.

"The peculiarity of these early games was that the ball, when in play, was not thrown with the hand but struck by the hip, around which the player wore a protecting pad of leather. At each end of the court was a great stone disk with a hole in the center, and through this orifice the ball was driven before a point was scored. Very naturally a "lively" ball was used, since rubber trees dominated the forests.

"Old chroniclers marvel at the skill and endurance of the players, for a game was seldom won under four hours of constant play. Such exhausting contests, with a dozen participants in almost constant action, were not for amateurs but professionals. Thus, from the Aztec word elli, signifying 'ball,' came the word mollonqui, 'one who plays ball for a living.'

"Another form of ball game is played by the Indian tribes on the Cuduary River region in the wilds of Brazil. A carefully leveled field lies in front of the malocas, or large communal houses, and daily, at 5 o'clock, the men returning from the day's fishing or hunting, indulge in the sport—not a complicated game like that of the early Mexicans, but one calling for a high degree of skill, as two balls are used by the players, who drive them with the hands toward their opponents. Yellow tall feathers of the Vapoo bird are affixed to the rubber balls for accuracy.

The Araucanian Indians of Southern Chile play an ancient game with wooden balls driven by wooden clubs. In a clearing, 300 by 75 yards, enclosed by cut branches of trees, these Indians play chueca, which greatly resembles lacrosse or field hockey. The game is played from childhood and the players acquire great skill and the matches draw large crowds. The game calls for great endurance and while generally played in 2 or 3 hour periods, several days have been known to pass before a decision was reached. During the play it is not unusual to hear a player cry 'Am I not a real oak tree?' or 'Is he not a lion's leg?' after a brilliant stroke. Such is Araucanian slang."

JONES' NAME WITHDRAWN

WASHINGTON, July 24.—President Wilson late yesterday ended the bitterest fight of his administration by withdrawing the nomination of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago to be a member of the federal reserve board. Mr. Jones had written urging that he no longer be permitted to remain a cause of embarrassment.

The message of withdrawal reached the senate just as Senator Reed of Missouri, one of the democrats opposing confirmation, was concluding a vigorous denunciation of the International Harvester company, of which Mr. Jones is a director. The message created a mild sensation and cut short a debate that promised to run indefinitely.

With the brief message the president

MARRIAGE SEEMS TO AGREE WITH JIMMY VIOX, PIRATE INFIELDER

When Connie Mack lost the pennant in 1912 he blamed it on the fact that so many of his players had married recently and were thinking more about their spouses than baseball. This is not the case of Jimmy Viox, however, for the Pirates' scrappy little infelder took a trip upon the sea of matrimony not long ago, and since that time no one has been able to stop him. He is the batting and fielding sensation of the team at present and shows no signs of letting up.

sent copies of Mr. Jones' letter and his reply. Opposition to the nominee had been based on his connection with the Harvester company, and the senate banking committee had submitted a majority report adverse to confirmation, signed by all the republican and two democratic members.

Mr. Jones wrote that this report was "based on a distortion of facts and perversion of the truth," but expressed the opinion that as a result of the contest, even if the nomination were confirmed by the senate, his usefulness as a member of the board would be seriously impaired.

NEW ENTRIES RECEIVED NEW TRADE COMMISSION

SEVERAL GOOD MEN WILL RUN SATURDAY FROM B. A. A. AT BUNTING CLUB GAMES

There have been about 20 additional entries received by the Bunting club for their track meet and band concert tomorrow. These entries came from the B. A. A. and include several good performers.

Seward, who won the intercollegiate 220 yards dash, has signified his intention of running here Saturday as has also Tom Halpin, the quarter-miler. There are others of repute also. The entire list of new entries follows:

100 yards: William Jenkins, Lynn; F. T. Donahue, Boston; L. T. Prescott, Boston; H. H. Seward, Boston; George Nicholson, Methuen; William Maler, Lowell; M. A. Morrissey, Boston, and Thomas A. Spence, Lynn.

220 yards: William Jenkins, Lynn; T. J. Halpin, Boston; L. T. Prescott, Boston; H. H. Seward, Boston; George Nicholson, Methuen; M. A. Morrissey, Boston; Thomas A. Spence, Lynn.

440 yards: T. J. Halpin, Boston; F. T. Donahue, Boston; J. M. Burke, Boston.

One mile: R. P. Greene, Boston; P. L. McGrath, Boston; D. J. Mahoney, Boston; Tom Gerry, Orange; Samuel Levine, Lowell; Albert E. Barrett, Lowell.

Break jump: P. G. Nordell, Boston; L. T. Prescott, Boston.

In the 10 miles event, James McAlpine of Methuen and Joseph Couture of Lowell, are additional entrants.

When the Sixth Regiment band appears at the Bunting club on Saturday with Mr. R. P. Tabor directing the 35 musicians it will come with its full quota and equipment to give one of the best concerts that Lowell has been favored with for some time. This band has shown great progress under the direction of Mr. Tabor since its formation some two years ago and by hard work and constant practice has come to the front to hold a place not only as the best band that Lowell has ever had but is considered to be one of the leading bands in New England today. Their work is characteristic of the military style and is always full of snap and ginger that the general public like as well. Mr. Tabor's band has just returned from the tour of duty with the Sixth regiment down on the Cape.

The concert program for tomorrow is as follows:

March, "Royal Artillery".....Nevins Overture, "William Tell".....Rossini Trombone solo, selected.

Mr. William Kinghorn Popular selection from Remick's 1914 Big Song Revue.....Remick Selection, "Red Widow".....Gebel Tilt-tilt.....

(a) "When the Angelus is Ringing".....Berlin (b) "The Trombone Slide".....Gebel (c) "He's a Devil".....Gebel Snyder Grand selection of "Folk Songs of Scotland".....Lampe

March, "General Mixup, U. S. A.".....Allen During the races the band will play a collection of popular songs.

REPORTED THAT JOS. E. DAVIES OF WISCONSIN WILL BE MADE CHAIRMAN

JOSEPH E. DAVIES

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Republican senators are preparing to ask some pointed questions as to the personnel of the new trade commission, if one is to be created by the passage of the Newlands bill, now pending in the senate. It has been understood that Joseph E. Davies of Wisconsin, commissioner of corporations, would be chairman of the commission. In one of the first drafts of the bill the "present commissioner of corporations" was designated as the first chairman of the trade commission. While the pending bill does not specify it, senators and representatives have been led to believe that Mr. Davies would be appointed if the commission is created. Republicans in the senate have been growing more and more restless over the political activities of Mr. Davies.

The choice of McLoughlin, Williams, Bundy and Behr to defend the Davis tennis trophy, symbols of the world's championship, has met with country-wide approval. Some authorities have questioned the wisdom of overlooking W. M. Johnston, the youthful Californian, but his tendency to grow wild under the stress of a tough match was held as sufficient reason for leaving him off the team. As it stands the four men are the best to be found in this country and will make a spirited defense in the final round Aug. 13, 14 and 15 at the West Side courts on Long Island.

TWO PERMITS ISSUED

One for an Amusement Place on Gorham Street and One for Polish Club House

It was stated at the office of the lands and buildings this morning that the repairs on school buildings have not yet been started. The janitors have been in a long list of repairs that they claim to be absolutely necessary, but the chances are that some of them will have to go over for another year as the department appropriation is too weak to stand a very heavy strain at this time.

The biggest building permit taken out for some time was issued to Herbert, Walter and Katherine Coulson for the erection of an amusement building at 102-45 Gorham street. This building will be of brick, 50 feet, 6 inches by 32 feet and one story in height. It will contain a bowling alley, pool and billiard parlors and a lunch room. The estimated cost is $10,000. This is the building for Park Commissioner Carr which has already been described in The Sun.

$10,000 Club House

The Polish National Home association, E. Bannin, president, has been granted a permit for the erection of a $10,000 club house at 12 Cornhill. Other permits include the Lowell corporation hospital for a two-story addition to the present building, the estimated cost of which is $800. Olive C. Willcott has been granted a permit for additions to his house at 223 Mammoth road. The additions will include a piazza 6 by 13 feet.

Sup. Welch Reports

lice giving the number of arrests for drunkenness, for being present where gaming implements were found, for violation of the liquor laws and for other offenses. The total number of arrests for drunkenness up to July 1 this year was 1757 as compared with 1935 for the corresponding months last year. Present where gaming implements were found, 56 this year as against 50 last year; violation of the liquor law, 12 this year as against 6 last year.

The mayor stated this morning that the police have not yet started on the one day off in fifteen as voted them by the municipal council. The order granting the day off has to remain in the city clerk's office ten days before it becomes operative and it was so near the first of the month that the mayor decided not to start the one day off in fifteen ball a-rolling until August 1.

Seventeen Insurance Companies There was a small fire at the Chelmsford street hospital a few days ago and despite the fact that the damage was less than $100 the mayor is confronted with a rather unusual situation as regards insurance. No less than seventeen insurance companies are interested. All of the seventeen companies will have to be notified and the mayor thinks the amount hardly justifies the bother and expense.

There were quite a number of visitors at city hall this morning, including Assistant Fire Chief William E. Moore of Newburgh, N. Y., and James H. Dorman of Newburgh. They were shown through the hall and visited quite a while with the mayor.

TWO SUFFRAGETTES

their determination to remain until they were given an audience. The police took the women into custody and conducted them to the nearest lock-up.

FAIL TO REACH AGREEMENT

LONDON, July 24.—The fact that the conference at Buckingham palace between the leaders of the various political parties had been rendered abortive by its failure to agree on the area of Ulster to be excluded from the control of the Dublin parliament was confirmed by Premier Asquith in the house of commons today.

The premier's statement on the subject of today's meeting of the conference was very brief. He said: "The possibility of finding an area to be excluded from the operation of the Irish home rule bill was considered but the conferences, unable to agree in principle or in detail on such an area, brought its meeting to a close."

Second Reading July 28.

Premier Asquith merely added: "That is the report made, Mr. Speaker, by the chairman of the conference to the king." Mr. Asquith then announced that the second reading of the bill to amend the Irish home rule bill would be taken on July 28.

The premier was invited to inform the house as to the exact differences of opinion which had prevented a settlement by conference. He said: "I can make no statement on the subject at the present moment."

The house of commons then adjourned.

Conference Opened

The Buckingham palace conference met again today and held the short-

Mediation Board Trying to Avert Strike on 98 Railroads

CHICAGO, July 24.—Continuance of negotiations by the federal board of mediation and conciliation in the attempt to settle the wage differences between the engineers and firemen and 98 western railroads hung in the balance today.

The federal board is awaiting word from the engineers and the firemen and on their message depends the continuance of sessions of the board.

"This is the hardest task the mediation board has ever attempted," said Judge Martin A. Knapp.

The men seek changes in service rules and increases in pay. The railroad managers insist that to comply with the requests would be to increase the present payroll by $43,000,000.

PEACE TREATIES SIGNED

BETWEEN UNITED STATES AND ARGENTINE, BRAZIL AND CHILE

—LENGU WERN BRYAN

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Secretary Bryan's peace treaties with Argentina, Brazil and Chile were signed today, binding the South American countries individually and the United States to submit to investigation for a year all differences which cannot be settled through diplomacy. The investigation is to be made by an international commission of the members and during the period of inquiry hostilities may not be entered into. A provision that during the period of investigation the military and naval status quo should be maintained was omitted from those signed today. After the signing of the treaties Ambassador Da Gama of Brazil and Ministers Suarez and Naon were Secretary Bryan's guests at luncheon.

FOR PEACE IN MEXICO

Direct Advices From Carbajal, Carranza, Villa and Zapata Renewed Hopes of Officials

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Direct advices to the United States today from Provisional President Carbajal, Gen. Carranza, General Villa and Emilio Zapata, the four chief elements in the Mexican problem renewed the hopes of officials here for peace.

Carbajal officially declared that he was willing to transfer the executive power to Carranza and had sent a delegate to arrange with the constitutionalist chief. He reiterated that he merely wanted an amnesty for political offenders and guarantees for the safety of the property of people who had supported Huerta.

Carranza manifested his readiness to be lenient with the foes of constitutionalists and gave the desired guarantee. Villa spoke of his desire to see peace established on a basis of justice and liberty and gave assurance that he would do his utmost to restore normal conditions.

Communication with Zapata has been obtained from him in which he manifested a desire to join with the constitutionalist chief in rehabilitating the governmental machinery throughout Mexico.

The program of peace in Mexico, according to officials and others conversant with the situation is this: A declaration of a complete armistice within a few days between Gen. Carranza and Provisional President Carbajal.

Signing of an agreement between the two forces for amnesty and guaranty for protection of property.

Dissolution of the present congress and re-assembly of the deputies and senators elected under President Madero whose terms do not expire until next September.

Resignation of Carbajal to the Madero congress and designation by the latter of Carranza as provisional president under the constitution.

TEAM PLAY IS LACKING

Local Club Should Go Along Better With More Co-operation Among Players

The question is being asked on every hand: "What's the matter with the Lowell team? Haven't they got any good men or what is the trouble?" And that is, indeed, a momentous query, for our local baseball club is tossing upon turbulent waters.

There are several men on the Lowell team who would be gladly snatched up by any club along the circuit. Stimpson in left field, Wacob behind the bat, Burke at third and Weaver, Lobana and Bland could all get jobs with any of the leaders should they be released tomorrow. As for the rest of the team they are playing fairly good ball as a rule although the brand is not classy enough for a pennant chaser.

Co-operation Lacking

The team play of the local club is not what it should be by any manner of means. In co-operation lies the fundamental success of a baseball club. Such famous managers as Connie Mack, Muggsy McGraw, Jimmy Callahan and others have never placed a successful aggregation in the field until a smooth working baseball machine was perfected.

The local team is far removed from that. Co-operation is more or less of a lost art with the members of this club. Time and again this season has the team slipped up on plays that required more than a single player to execute.

The first symptom of team play is "backing up" and the local team is lacking in this fundamental. An instance of this was shown in the first game played here last Saturday. DeGroff made a bad leg to Kelly after Merrill singled to right with Dowell on first. Greenhalgh fielded the ball and Dowell trotted home for there wasn't a Lowell player within twenty feet of the plate.

In the outfield as well as the infield "backing up" is important. If a ground ball gets by one outfielder the proximity of his nearest neighbor will cut down the runner's freedom. Stimpson is a wonder in this respect and many times comes in and backs up third base on a play.

Individualism Recoming Apparent

"Did you ever notice that a club which is losing the majority of its games plays 'individual ball' as a rule? Well, the Lowell team is beginning to do just that and the quicker the members get out of the rut and after the ball game instead of their respective averages, the better it will be for all concerned.

If the players are going into a game simply to get hits or to turn in a perfect fielding average they are a drawback to the club no matter how good they actually may be. Players who have nothing in mind except themselves hurt a ball club and hurt the reputation of the game itself.

Fans Are All Right

The local fans cannot be blamed for finding fault with a ball club which loses two double headers in as many days. Especially after the wonderful team that represented this city last season this year's club looks rather amateurish.

Any afternoon about the time the baseball scores are being dashed in a group of fans can be seen standing around the bulletin board and talking over the local situation. You can't blame 'em. The really loyal rooters have a good team and they are loath to say spiteful things about a second division club.

Don't Argue With Baseball Fans

Don't ever attempt to argue with a red hot baseball fan for you haven't a chance to win the decision. No matter what sort of logic you advance to support your argument it is certain to be overruled.

The writer was passing through the square the other day when he was accosted by one of the city's business men. The business man referred to is also a baseball fan of the most pronounced type.

"Say," was his greeting to the baseball writer, "what do you mean by giving Burke only two errors in one game? Why he had three errors in one game and I saw them. Say he's a mighty poor ball player."

Well, I began to explain why he was credited with only two errors and why he is one of the best infielders in the league, but he would have nothing of it. He knew that Burke made more than two errors and there wasn't anything in the land that could change him from that opinion. He wouldn't even come into the Sun office and listen to an explanation. Although he was smiling throughout the conversation he was nevertheless in deep earnest. And there you have it. Remember, you can't ever win an argument with a dyed-in-the-wool baseball fan.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The C. Y. M. L. and the J. P. S. baseball teams will clash tomorrow afternoon at the first of a three game series which will be played off between the two teams and a fast contest is expected. Great rivalry exists between them and both clubs have a strong following. Harry Morgan will umpire tomorrow's game.

ATHLETES AND ATHLETICS

There are three scheduled double-headers on the New England league's calendar tomorrow. Lawrence and Worcester are the only teams who are not booked for two games. Lowell plays Fred Lake's club twice on the Fitchburg grounds.

Lewiston's win over Lynn yesterday put them up a notch in the race at the expense of the local club. Lowell now stands in sixth place. It would not be surprising to see Lewiston oust the Lynn team from the first division before long.

The three games today, tomorrow and Monday between Lawrence and Worcester will pretty nearly tell the tale of which city has the superior ball club. Of course the pennant won't hang on the result of these three contests, but the result will give the fans an estimate of the relative strength of Worcester and Lawrence.

There are just seven more weeks of New England baseball. The season on the circuit closes on Sunday, Sept. 12. The post-season series between the winner of the New England flag and the champions of the Eastern association will probably begin the latter part of the following week.

Geo. Tyler is pitching the ball for the Braves, his box work having been a big factor in the Boston team's splendid climb. Tyler let down the Pirates yesterday with five hits and not a score.

If Seward runs in the batting games tomorrow there will be nothing to the surprise. Seward should come up the batting line, if he is in any kind of condition.

The Clothier-Gardner team, in spite of yesterday's bad weather, went through their three sets to a win without experiencing much difficulty. This formidable combination looks like the best bet in the eastern championship doubles.

Jack Donovan, the local officer who is the chief executive of the Massachusetts Police League, has proposed that the winner of the Lowell-Newton cops' series, play the champions of the New England league, the proceeds to go to the Salem sufferers. It isn't a bad idea.

President Farrell of the New York Yankees has decided not to buy Kraft, the Newark first baseman, ever whom the Players' Fraternity were ready to call a strike of the big league ball players. Kraft held out for several clauses in his contract with the Yankees which Farrell refused to have inserted.

There was some excitement down in Lewiston yesterday. To begin with, Manager Terry McGovern was put off the field by umpire Black. Then Louis Courtenay, the Lynn third baseman, was taken to the police station, but he was released later without any charge being preferred against him. The crowd left the stands and rushed onto the diamond, but police intervention stopped any further trouble. Sounds like the echoes from Portland last season.

Ty Cobb is still laid up with his bad thumb and Hughie Jennings is getting very impatient waiting for him to jump into the Detroit lineup. The Tigers missed Tyros more during the eastern trip just finished than at any of his previous layoffs.

Boston athletes made a cleanup in the Irish day games at Providence yesterday. The B. A. A. and Irish-American men took the majority of the prizes back to the hub.

Louis Pliser has made arrangements with the league officials to allow his club to postpone their game with Lynn for Aug. 12, and instead the Red Sox will be the attraction at Riverside park. This game will probably call out the biggest attendance of the year to the Lawrence ball park.

The rain yesterday held up most of the eastern post meetings. Only three double-headers were run off at Westfield in the Short Ship circuit brushed before the rain fell so heavily as to make the going impossible. The best numbers of the card will be run off tomorrow.

Terry Brooks and Andy Cortez, who put up such a slashing bout at the Atlantic A. A. last week, have been re-matched for Tuesday's all star show. Brooks and Cortez are a wonderful pair of sluggers who believe in action every minute.

Joseph Fountaine pleaded not guilty before Associate Justice Fisher in police court this forenoon to being a vagrant in the town of Tewksbury. Officer Farmer said that he arrested the prisoner last night as a result of a complaint that Casey has been in the habit of sleeping in a barn. Defendant said that he was out of work and went to Tewksbury to labor on a farm and occasionally slept in a barn but did not realize that he was working there.

He said that he bought his meals at a farmhouse a short distance from Tewksbury Centre. He was found guilty and sent to the state farm at Bridgewater.

And Vagrant Jewelry

Joseph Fountaine was arrested last evening near Monument square by Patrolman Regan who found the man in an intoxicated condition. When Fountaine was taken to the patrol box he drew several razors and a gold watch from his pocket and attempted to pass the articles to a bystander. Supp. Welch asked that the case be continued until Wednesday as he believed some person would claim the articles. The court granted the continuance.

Charles H. Green has been drinking quite heavily of late according to the testimony of his wife and son in court today. However, the defendant promised to take the pledge this afternoon. His Honor imposed a suspended sentence of one month in jail.

Anthony Clements of Westford, who was in court yesterday morning, and promised to keep out of Lowell in the future, was sent to the state farm for failing to live up to the terms of his probation. John McKeown, who was charged with unlawfully riding upon a freight car, Turcotte also displayed a badly discolored optic which he could not account for. After pleading guilty and telling the above story, Turcotte was ordered committed to jail for 10 days.

And Boy Sent Away

Joseph Perigny, aged 18 years, pleaded not guilty to being a vagrant but two of his brothers were present and testified that he had been in the habit of staying out nights and has refused to work. He was sent to the Massachusetts reformatory.

Thomas J. Regan, accused of failing to support his wife, Mary, since last January, was placed on probation for six months.

Lifting Blind Bungalow

William Clarke, who claims Portland, Me. as his place of residence, undoubtedly does not believe in paying rent for the place he was arrested for on the rear end of a bungalow car which pulled into this city yesterday. The man stated that he was on his way from Boston to Portland when taken from the car by a railroad inspector. Clarke was asked to pay a fine of $10.

Another non-support case was aired when William Contois was charged with neglecting his wife and minor children. Defendant stated that he is working in a lumber camp near Ayer and is willing to support his wife and children. The court imposed a five-

He said that he bought his meals at a farmhouse a short distance from Tewksbury Centre. He was found guilty and sent to the state farm at Bridgewater.

And Vagrant Jewelry

Joseph Fountaine was arrested last evening near Monument square by Patrolman Regan who found the man in an intoxicated condition. When Fountaine was taken to the patrol box he drew several razors and a gold watch from his pocket and attempted to pass the articles to a bystander. Supp. Welch asked that the case be continued until Wednesday as he believed some person would claim the articles. The court granted the continuance.

Charles H. Green has been drinking quite heavily of late according to the testimony of his wife and son in court today. However, the defendant promised to take the pledge this afternoon. His Honor imposed a suspended sentence of one month in jail.

Anthony Clements of Westford, who was in court yesterday morning, and promised to keep out of Lowell in the future, was sent to the state farm for failing to live up to the terms of his probation. John McKeown, who was charged with unlawfully riding upon a freight car, Turcotte also displayed a badly discolored optic which he could not account for. After pleading guilty and telling the above story, Turcotte was ordered committed to jail for 10 days.

And Boy Sent Away

Joseph Perigny, aged 18 years, pleaded not guilty to being a vagrant but two of his brothers were present and testified that he had been in the habit of staying out nights and has refused to work. He was sent to the Massachusetts reformatory.

Thomas J. Regan, accused of failing to support his wife, Mary, since last January, was placed on probation for six months.

Lifting Blind Bungalow

William Clarke, who claims Portland, Me. as his place of residence, undoubtedly does not believe in paying rent for the place he was arrested for on the rear end of a bungalow car which pulled into this city yesterday. The man stated that he was on his way from Boston to Portland when taken from the car by a railroad inspector. Clarke was asked to pay a fine of $10.

Another non-support case was aired when William Contois was charged with neglecting his wife and minor children. Defendant stated that he is working in a lumber camp near Ayer and is willing to support his wife and children. The court imposed a five-

RESISTS EXTRADITION

JOSEPH DUDLEY, PAL OF ROBINSON, WHO COMMITTED SUICIDE, WILL FIGHT HIS REMOVAL

BOSTON, July 24.—There will be a strong fight put up by Joseph Dudley, the young "pal" of Lawrence Robinson, who was with him on June 15 when he shot and killed Police Inspector Thomas J. Norton, to have himself extradited to West Virginia, where he stands charged with the charge of grand larceny of diamonds worth $15,000.

Officers from West Virginia are now on their way to Boston and expect to take Dudley back with them. Acting for the West Virginia authorities, Inspector Lynch and Officer Claffin of the Boston police and Inspector Sherlock of the state police yesterday visited the governor's office at the state house to apply for extradition papers for Dudley.

This action shows that Dudley probably will not be tried in Boston for murder. He was indicted with Robinson for the murder of Inspector Norton. Robinson, however, is said in one of his farewell letters to have fully exonerated Dudley of all connection with the killing of Norton.

Dudley is wanted in West Virginia on a complaint made by H. J. Honrich of Cabell county, charging him with the larceny of 30 diamonds valued at $15,000. Yesterday requisition papers from Gov. Hatfield of West Virginia arrived in Boston and Inspector Lynch and Officer Claffin of the Boston police took these to the state house when they went there to ask for an extradition warrant.

William H. Weeks and Cutler and James, counsel for Dudley, have already applied for a hearing by the attorney-general on the law and facts in the case and this probably will be held Thursday of next week before Assistant Attorney General Leon H. Egges. Extradition papers will not be honored by Gov. Walsh until the attorney-general has made his report on the case.

John P. Leahy, the Boston attorney, counsel for Henry J. Honrich of Huntington, W. Va., who claims that Dudley and Robinson robbed his jewelry store of $16,000 worth of diamonds, has already filed a bill in equity to obtain possession of the seven magnificent diamonds found in hidden pockets in Robinson's clothes.

These diamonds, with all of Robinson's other belongings were seized by the police when he was arrested. They are now held, with the money in Robinson's possession, pending the result of legal claims made for them by various persons which may have to be tried in the courts.

John J. Thompson, the Grand Rapids, Mich., jeweler, whose store was robbed by Robinson and other clerks being killed, is also a claimant for the diamonds found in Robinson's clothes, and it is expected there will be still other claimants.

TWO BROTHERS DROWNED

YOUNG SONS OF JOHN BUSSIER OF NORTHFIELD, FALLS, VT., SLIPPED OFF ROCK

MONTPELIER, Vt., July 24.—Media, aged 11, and Albert, 14, sons of John Bussier of Northfield Falls, slipped off a rock on which they were playing into 15 feet of water above the second dam at that place and were drowned. Nobody saw the accident and it was not until they failed to return home in the evening that search was commenced. Both bodies were recovered.

CARPET MILLS SOLD

chased for a sum approximating $9,000,000 and the new capital is less than $7,000,000. It is stated that the syndicate operating on the stocks was the most powerful and best equipped of any formed in Boston. It represented nearly all the leading and largest bond houses in Boston.

The relation of the Hartford Carpet Co. in this deal is not entirely clear as yet, but it is certain that to date there is no indication of consolidation, in fact whatever may ultimately result. Hartford men will assume official positions at the head of the corporation and will bring to it the experience in carpet business which is expected to keep the mills running steadily six days a week. Several of the old directors will also be included in the new directorate.

It was announced yesterday that payment will be made today at the Second National bank of Boston to directors presenting their certificates. The Bigelow Carpet company began business on 1913 when a co-partnership was formed under the firm name of H. N. and E. B. Bigelow, for the manufacture of Brussels carpets at Clinton, Mass., the company using the remarkable power loom invented in 1837 by E. B. Bigelow. In 1914 the company incorporated as the Bigelow Carpet Co. The company has been under the management of members of the families of the Messrs. Bigelow and Henry P. Fairbanks. In 1912 it acquired the property of the Lowell Carpet Co. of this city, which was established in 1835 and the combined property has since been manufacturing Jacquard, Brussels, Wilton and axminster carpets.

Agent Wadley's Statement

Following is the statement issued by Agent Wadley of the Lowell plant to Kinder, Peabody & Co. of Boston, the banking firm which had charge of the transfer:

Lowell Property.—The Lowell property is divided into 20 mill buildings and covers an area of 420,000 square feet. The buildings have a floor space of 1,067,480 square feet, are all modern, well lighted and ventilated, thoroughly protected against fire, and in good condition.

The machinery contained in the buildings includes a weaving plant consisting of 218 Brussels and Wilton looms, of various widths; 165 axminster looms of various widths; a woolen yarn plant, with 7081 spindles; a worsted yarn plant, with 11,304 spindles; a cotton yarn plant, with 12,035 spindles; a dye house, with 66 dye tubs of various sizes.

In addition to the foregoing, there is a full equipment of auxiliary machinery in completely carry on carpet manufacture, and a complete raw material into first-class finished product. There is also a power plant, con-

HIS EMINENCE CARDINAL GIBBONS

Says Cardinal Gibbons on 80th Birthday—Denounces Cruelties of Villa and Scores Militants

BALTIMORE, July 24.—Speaking in the country home of his friend, B. H. Shriver at Union Mills, Carroll county, yesterday, Cardinal Gibbons on the 80th anniversary of his birth, spoke vigorously of the evils as he sees them in different parts of the world today. He was talking to Mr. W. L. Seabrook, old friend, one year his senior, to whom this interview has been an annual event.

In the course of his talk the cardinal denounced the Industrial Workers of the World, the socialists, the English suffragettes and lastly, the rebel leaders in Mexico. Tracing restless conditions among the working people to the agitation of such bodies as the I. W. W., the cardinal deplored the growth of this and other radical organizations.

He expressed the deepest regret that the longest for peace had not dawned on Mexico. He expressed detestation of Carranza and Villa and the alleged cruelties perpetrated by the latter upon innocent persons who had, he said, without cause, incurred his hostility. He condemned the conduct with which men under their control have been charged in their treatment of helpless women.

Condemns Villa's Acts

He was deeply moved in speaking of the assassination of church men without cause by Villa, and seemed to see little hope of the restoration of peace through the triumph of the constitutionalist.

The cardinal then referred to the restlessness among the working classes here and abroad. He expressed alarm at the growth of socialism and spoke of the I. W. W. as a dangerous element that should be put down. This organization, he said, is utterly at variance with the purposes of the great hosts of laborers who constitute the real industrial forces of the country. As he had visited London on his homeward route from Europe, his attention was called to the violence of the suffragettes of England and he strongly condemned their conduct for the privilege for which they are so violently contending.

Firm For Law and Order

Throughout the interview he made it clear on every subject upon which he conversed that law is paramount and must be obeyed and enforced. That he is unalterably opposed to the invasion of the right to property properly acquired and that he has no sympathy with violence perpetrated to enforce the rights of any man or set of men against the lawfully constituted authority of country or state, he emphasized.

The cardinal spoke freely about his enjoyment of his recent trip to Europe and of his pleasure in his return to this country.

Cardinal Gibbons has returned without lessening of his natural vigor. His step is elastic, and a member of Mr. Shriver's family stated that yesterday morning he had easily walked up the steep incline to the house of his host, keeping in the lead of others with him.

FORM SEARCHING PARTY

TO SCOUR WOODS' SUNDAY FOR MRS. IRVING—HER FATHER FEARS SHE IS DEAD

Nothing yet has been heard of Mrs. Irving, the Billerica Centre woman who so mysteriously disappeared July 13th last and about whose whereabouts her family have discovered no clue.

Although her husband, Milford Irving, and her father, Jeremiah K. Chandler, have sought the lost woman in every conceivable place not a trace of her has been discovered. The husband and father have decided upon a last search through the woods along the bank of the Concord river which flows in close proximity to the lost woman's home.

A searching party has been organized and on Sunday morning they will start on a thorough search of all the wooded land in the neighborhood of the Chandler home.

Mr. Irving went to Revere beach this morning to follow a slender clue which one of his neighbors offered. It was reported that a woman answering the description of Mrs. Irving was seen at Revere last week and the husband hurried there at once although the chances are very slight that success will crown his quest.

THE WATER WAY BOARD

Tendered Banquet at Lawrence Country Club—Many Speakers Heard in Favor of the Project

The members of the Merrimack Valley waterway board, Hon. Charles C. Faine, Andrew B. Sutherland and Lewis R. Hovey, were last night tendered a complimentary dinner at the Merrimack Valley Country club in Lawrence, the affair being held under the auspices of the Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill boards of trade. Over 100 men gathered at the well appointed club house at 5 o'clock, where a brief reception was held, followed by an excellent dinner and postprandial exercises. Present were men from Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill and Newburyport, and the main topic of discussion, of course, was the project of developing the Merrimack river in order to make it navigable from the sea to Lowell, the project to be brought to the attention of congress at Washington, D. C., on Dec. 14. Before the reunion came to a close a number of these present signified their intention of going to Washington in December and urge congress to appropriate a sum of money to bring the project to an end, the Massachusetts legislature having already voted a million dollars for this purpose.

The guests arrived at the club in the latter part of the afternoon and an informal reception was held on the beautiful and spacious piazza of the club where refreshments were served. The Lowell men made the trip in automobiles conducted by Robert F. Marden and William H. Badger, and the delegation consisted of the following: Jesse D. Crook, Esq., Parley F. Gilbert and his son, Secretary John H. Murphy, President Robert F. Marden, H. H. Hounds, Capt. William P. White, U. S. M.; William H. Badger and B. J. Larachelle.

At 6.45 o'clock all sat around the festive board and partook of a dainty repast, this being followed by postprandial exercises, the toastmaster being Judge Frederick M. Chandler of Lawrence. The toastmaster in his introduction spoke of the project of deepening the Merrimack river and said if anybody had told him a year ago that the legislature would appropriate a million dollars for the work it would have made him laugh. He told how the late Benjamin Butler was the first man to propose transportation by way of the Merrimack river, and at that time the general was laughing stock of this part of the country. He said Gloucester has not as large a course of water as the cities along the Merrimack valley and still it is a seaport, and he believed if the project is pushed through it will promote industry in Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill.

Judge Chandler Presided

Judge Chandler read letters of regret for not being present from Lieut. Col. Craigill, chief engineer of the commonwealth, and Rev. Appleton Lawrence, a descendant of the founders of Lawrence. He introduced as the first speaker, Judge Charles C. Faine, chairman of the Merrimack Valley waterway board. Judge Faine spoke in a very interesting manner, and said he went on the commission wholly unprejudiced and was now convinced that the residents of the Merrimack valley have the argument, and that there is but one side to the question. He spoke of conditions in his home city when there was water transportation and the changes that have taken place since the railroad companies have had control. He said we are bound to see a great change before long for at the present time the railroad companies control 85 per cent of waterway transportation, but that is surely to come to an end. He said the people have allowed the railroads to control but the roads have gone far enough. He spoke of the money appropriated by the legislature and said the national government cannot refuse its aid and he assured those present they will get what they want for they are well organized and their demand is proper.

Lewis R. Hovey

Lewis R. Hovey of Haverhill, another member of the board was next called upon and he spoke briefly of the work of the commission and of the progress made during the past two years in bringing about the establishment of the navigability of the river. He said if the report of the government surveyors is favorable there will be no trouble in securing money from the national government, but he said he believed it will be a question of 10 years before Lowell is reached, but he believes the project will be put through.

Mr. Sutherland

A. B. Sutherland of Lawrence, the unit member of the commission was introduced as the "father of waters." He said the Merrimack Valley waterway had been talked of before Judge Chandler lost his first 100 cases in police court and before Paul Hannagan, commissioner of Lawrence became the expert of the United States on block to the arguments for the river. He pointed out that the railroad was wholly unable to handle the traffic and he said with waterways it would be less difficult. He indicated the importance of the Merrimack valley commerce, saying that the valley trade exceeds that of the port of Boston by $87,000,000 a year and it also exceeds such ports as Montreal, Buenos Ayres and other cities, and offers a greater field for trade than any ports outside of New York. He said the United States claims that a saving of 4 per cent per annum will justify expenditure in waterway development, and he believes to can prove a saving in the Merrimack Valley from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 a year and this would justify the expenditure of $20,000,000. He said there are only a few people from the sea to the end of the valley, comparatively speaking, but the foreign trade of the valley is such as to entitle the people of this section to recognition.

Secretary Murphy

In the absence of Mayor Dennis J. Murphy of this city, Secretary John H. Murphy was called upon and he made a short address, saying the residents of Lowell have a particular interest in the project. He said they have showed it by interfering with the construction of bridges in Lawrence. He concluded by saying the residents of Lowell expect some day to board a boat at Lowell and pass through Lawrence, Haverhill and Newburyport. He assured the commission that Lowell will be strongly represented at Washington in December and also that Congressman Rogers will be there in favor of the project.

Other speakers were Rev. James T. O'Reilly, Daniel Casey, secretary of the Haverhill board of trade; Commissioner Paul Hannagan of Lawrence; Stephen M. Sherman, secretary of the Lawrence chamber of commerce; and John P. S. Mahoney, publisher of the Sun-American of Lawrence.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Secretaries Daniel N. Casey, John H. Murphy and F. S. Sherman of the Haverhill, Lowell and Lawrence boards of trade.

INVESTIGATE HUERTA'S FINANCIAL METHODS

Pres. Carbajal Seeks Information on Reported Wrong Doing—Arrangements for Peace Conference With Carranza

MEXICO CITY, July 24.—Another long conference between President Carbajal and the Brazilian minister was held last night. The subject discussed was the peace conference which it is believed will be held soon between Carbajal and Carranza delegates.

President Carbajal has ordered an investigation of the financial methods of the Huerta regime in reply to the public rumors of possible wrong-doing.

The investigation it is stated will be made by high officials of the ministry of finance and if irregularities are found those guilty of them will be punished, according to law.

The government announced today that it will immediately begin negotiations with the American authorities at Vera Cruz to arrange for the re-establishment of the federal service there under Mexican officials. The government will also propose the re-establishment of Mexican military authority at Vera Cruz.

CANAL TO OPEN AUG. 15

WORLD'S COMMERCE MAY GO THROUGH AFTER THAT DATE—FORMAL CEREMONIES LATER

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Opening of the Panama canal to the world's commerce on Aug. 15 next was announced last night by Sec. Garrison. Probably the first vessel to pass through the great waterway will be the Cristobal a war department steamer now at Colon.

There will be no formalities in connection with the event, all ceremonies being left for the official opening when the international fleet passes through the canal in March, 1915. Mr. Garrison's announcement was made in this brief statement:

"The canal will be open first to vessels not needing more than 30 feet of water."

An announcement will be made when a greater depth of water than 30 feet has been secured.

Some things remain to be done to perfect the waterway. The channel through the Culebra cut must be deepened and widened so that it will not be necessary for the great liners and battleships to pass through the "tricky" slides at Culebra and Bolid Hill in single file. Much excavation has been done in both approaches and many of the buildings which will house the office forces, the mechanical departments and the supply divisions remain to be completed.

"AS A CIVILIZED NATION"

COLOMBIA'S PRESIDENT TELLS HIS CONGRESS UNITED STATES HAS SO TREATED COUNTRY

BOGOTA, Colombia, July 24.—President Carlos Restrepo, in his annual message read at the opening of the Colombian congress, referred to the pending treaty between the United States and Colombia over the separation of Panama, saying:

"Colombia should feel satisfied that a great power has treated her as a civilized nation on the basis of reparation and equity and she should not forget that civilization comes through the deepest sufferings. Now it beats upon our shores and calls at our ports on the waters that cross the world's canal."

The revenues of the Colombian government, the president said, have been increased by 7,000,000 pesos over those of the last fiscal year.

THE FARMERS ARE FIRM

REFUSED INJUNCTION IN PROVIDENCE TO PREVENT CITY'S DRIVING THEM FROM BRIDGE

PROVIDENCE, July 24.—Farmers who recently refused to obey an order by the city that they vacate the Crawford street bridge, which they have used for generations as a market place yesterday were denied an injunction to prevent the city from putting the order into effect.

Leaders among the farmers announced their intention of continuing to defy the city. They said they would submit to arrest to test the order through criminal proceedings.

THE ANTI-TRUST PROGRAM

NOW OCCUPIES ATTENTION OF SENATE WITH FIGHT OVER JONES ENDED

WASHINGTON, July 24.—With the bitter fight in the senate over the confirmation of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago, President Wilson's nominee for the federal reserve board, ended, senators today were breathing a sigh of relief that the prolonged contest was over and were preparing to settle down to practically uninterrupted consideration of the administration's anti-trust program. Belief on the part of President Wilson that the program might be endangered were the fight continued was responsible for the withdrawal of the nomination. The contest had delayed consideration of anti-trust legislation.

With the Jones case out of the way, democratic leaders in the senate today were determined to press to a conclusion the anti-trust program and bring congress to adjournment at the earliest possible moment. To that end the interstate trade commission bill, already before the senate, was to be taken up in earnest and pressed until a vote is reached. After its passage, the Clayton anti-trust and the railway securities bill were to be disposed of. These three measures constituting the entire anti-trust program were now before the senate.

—WIFE HEARD SHOT AND FOUND HIS BODY

BOSTON, July 24.—Edward A. Wiley, night manager of a dairy lunch at 166 Canal street, and for many years a resident of Stoneham, committed suicide in his home, 15 Pleasant street, Stoneham, yesterday afternoon by shooting himself through the heart. He was in the best of health and no reason is known for his act.

Mr. Wiley was in the sitting room of his home when he killed himself. His wife was in the hallway, talking over the telephone with a friend. Hearing the shot, she dropped the receiver and ran into the room to find her husband's body stretched on the floor. A wound in the heart told the story. The revolver had fallen from his hand and was lying beside him.

Besides his widow, the suicide leaves two daughters by a first wife, Mrs. Edna Cronin of Wakefield, and Miss Alice Louise Wiley, whose engagement to John Woodbury Day of Arlington, was announced in the local paper yesterday afternoon. The engagement, however, was looked upon with favor by Mr. Wiley and had nothing to do with his suicide.

FOURTH DEATH FROM PLAGUE

Grandmother of Child Who Developed Disease Saturday Expires in New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, July 24.—Bubonic plague caused its fourth death here yesterday. Helen Scott, aged 10, developed the disease last Saturday, and the victim yesterday was the child's grandmother, Regina Schmidt, aged 73, who became ill July 20 and died before a positive test could be concluded.

DESERTER IS CAPTURED

SHERIFF BEATTIE, VERMONT OFFICER, DID SOME SHOOTING TO GET HIM

NORTH STRATFORD, N. H., July 24.—When Sheriff Richard Beattie of Malden, Essex county, Vt., came to this home-town of John C. Hutchins, democratic candidate for governor, last night, and started shooting-up the town in the capture of a deserter from Fort Ethan Allen, outside of Burlington, Vt., he created no small excitement.

But Sheriff Beattie, who first came into national fame in his handling of the now famous Dodge murder case and recently in his pursuit of Harry Thacker in his fight back and forth over the Canadian border, captured his man and lodged him in the county jail at Guildhall late last night.

Bernard Bonwald, also known as Joseph Short and Thomas Scott, is wanted by the federal authorities at New York, N. Y. He was a soldier at Fort Ethan Allen, but recently he deserted and went into hiding on the New Hampshire side of the Connecticut river to escape the authorities, who he had discovered were after him.

Sheriff Beattie learned that Bonwald was at Bloomfield and he went there to capture him. He waited at the post office, where his man soon came and asked for mail for Joseph Short. Sheriff Beattie grabbed his man and they were instantly mixed up in a hand-to-hand fight, after which the prisoner managed to escape and flee through Main street followed by the Vermont officer and a posse of townsfolk.

When the officer was about to grab his prisoner a second time Bonwald plunged into the river and struck out for the New Hampshire shore. When Bonwald did not obey the officer's command to stop, Sheriff Beattie began firing at him and this brought out the entire population to witness the affair. Bonwald kept on his way and soon managed to reach a small island in the river where he concealed himself among the rocks.

Sheriff Beattie hurried across the bridge to this town and induced the town night watch to join him. They rowed across the river and landed on the island and began a search for the prisoner, who was quickly found and recaptured without a battle. Bonwald was brought here and taken across the bridge into Vermont by the New Hampshire officers and then Sheriff Beattie grabbed his man and hurried him in an automobile to the county jail at Guildhall, Vt.

FISH DISTRIBUTED

Secretary of Commerce Redfish has just been informed by the commissioner of fisheries that advance reports received from the fish cultural stations of the bureau of fisheries in all parts of the country indicate that during the year ending closed June 30, 1914, the number of food and game fishes propagated and distributed by the bureau was considerably in excess of that of any previous year. The output was approximately 4 billion, of which 485 million represented the migratory food fishes of the Atlantic coast streams, 1 billion the commercial fishes of the Great Lakes, 24 billion the important food fishes of the North Atlantic coast, over 200 million the salmon of the Pacific seaboard, and the remainder the fishes of the minor interior waters.

Distributions of fishes suitable for stocking barren public waters or for restocking public waters which have become depleted, were made in practically every state of the Union and in Alaska, while thousands of small inland ponds and lakes, the majority of them located on farms, were stocked with black bass, carples, sunfishes, catfishes and other desirable species. Of the enormous output for the year, 98 per cent represents the commercial food fishes and a very large percentage of these were hatched from eggs which would have been entirely lost had it not been for the activities of the bureau of fisheries.

Coincident with the augmented output there has been a decided improvement in the effectiveness of various branches of the fish cultural work, an example of which may be mentioned the rearing to the fingerling and yearling stages of many millions of fish formerly distributed as fry. This feature of the work is to receive even greater attention hereafter, as most decided advances may be made along this line.

CAPITAL AND LABOR

COMMISSION SEEKS TO DISCOVER PLAN FOR REAL CO-OPERATION—F. P. WALSH CHAIRMAN

CHICAGO, July 24.—Statements of the fundamental differences between capital and labor were heard here by the United States industrial relations commission, of which Frank P. Walsh of Kansas City is chairman. John M. Gleason, secretary of the Illinois Manufacturers' association; Victor M. O'Connell, secretary of the Lake Shoremen's union, the heads of two of the largest employing corporations in the Chicago district, and several social settlement workers were among those heard.

"The commission seeks to discover a plan for real co-operation," said Mr. Walsh. "Some basis may be found for that, and then industrial warfare will end."

May Appropriate $4000 for Town Farm—New Postoffice at Centre—Auto for Highways Dept.

A special town meeting will be held in Billerica on the evening of Wednesday, August 5, and according to predictions there will be something interesting from the time that Moderator Barnes calls the meeting to order until it is adjourned later in the evening. For some time the selectmen have been considering calling a special meeting but they have just agreed upon a date and at a meeting to be held in the town hall tonight the warrant will be made out and all arrangements completed.

The calling of the special town meeting was necessitated by the action of the voters at the last annual meeting when they voted to appoint a committee to investigate matters at the Billerica town farm and report at a special meeting to be called during the year. Since it was announced that the voters were to convene this summer several town officials have presented other articles that will appear in the warrant and be acted upon on August 5.

The committee appointed to look into the town farm matter has thoroughly inspected the buildings and property owned by the town and it is understood will make several recommendations when the time comes. The farm is in better condition at the present time than it has been for many years, it is claimed, and credit for the many improvements is due the overseers of the poor, who have full charge of the institution. The land about the farm is in very good condition and is producing as good crops as for several years past.

During the spring and summer, the building has been painted, papered and repaired while all the rooms of the house have been given attention. However, the conditions about the institution do not comply with the terms of the state board of charities in every respect and it will be necessary to make many other improvements to meet the approval of the state. With this view in mind the town farm committee has sent an article to the board of selectmen to be inserted in the warrant to see if the town will vote to appropriate the sum of $4000 for the purpose of installing electric lights, water, heat, etc., so that the building will be up to date in every respect. The committee members are: Warren Hobbs, a member of the board of overseers of the poor; Thomas F. Sheridan, a former selectman, and Frank L. Day.

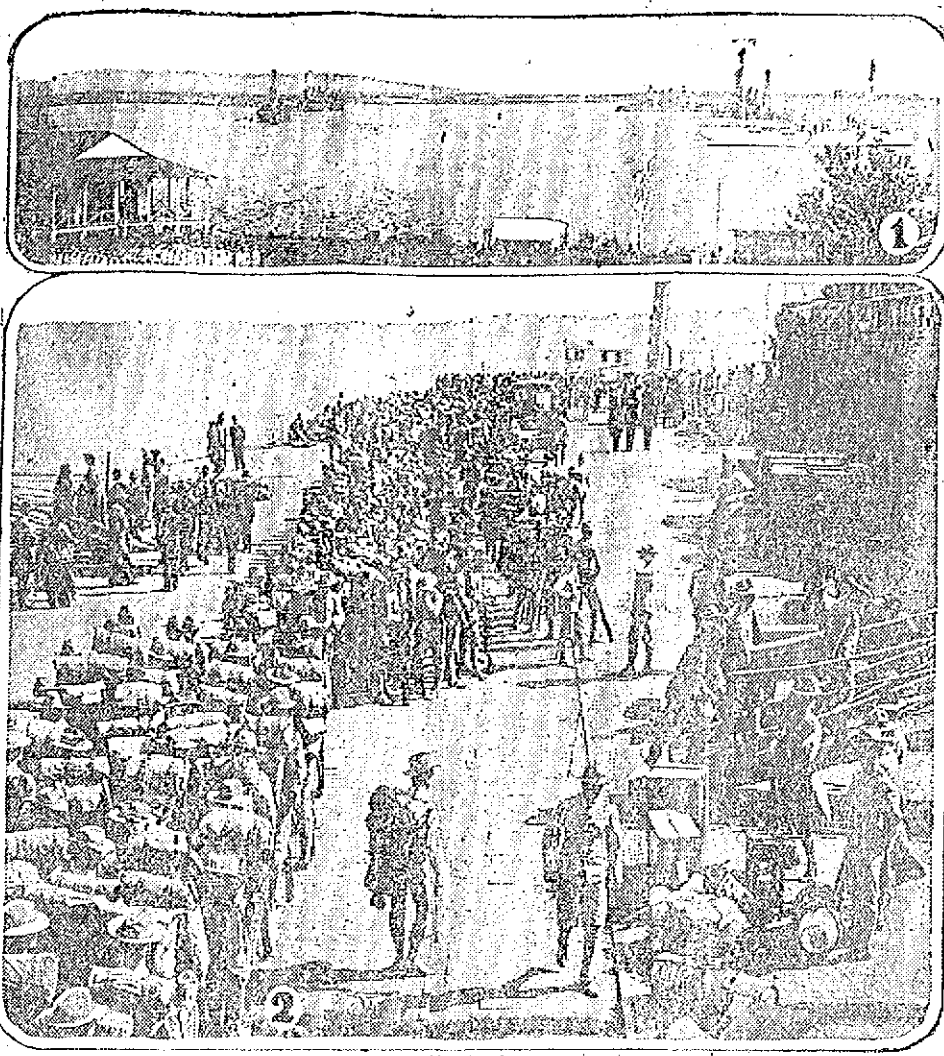

Big Fire Whistle

At the town meeting the fire department will ask for $750 to install a fire whistle at the Boston & Maine repair shops on High street. It is proposed to divide the town into sections and have each section numbered so that it could be distinguished in case of fire. The whistle will be operated in the central office of the telephone company at Billerica and arrangements will be made so that the telephone operator can sound a certain box number by pressing a button in the exchange. This scheme will undoubtedly meet with the approval of the majority of the voters as there is considerable confusion at the present time when a fire bell is sounded in the town.

Should the whistle be installed the R. & M. railroad will furnish staves from the repair shops and will keep the apparatus in condition so that the town's work will be done when the whistle is put in.

Another article that has caused considerable interest about the town is one in which Highway Surveyor Edgar P. Twombly asks that the town appropriate $1000 to purchase an automobile for the highway department. It seems that Mr. Twombly has games of men working in different parts of the town

1-GUANTANAMO BAY. 2-MARINES LEAVING FOR GUANTANAMO

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Captain Russell of the battleship South Carolina, now at Cape Haitien, has announced that United States marines will be landed to bring about peace in Haiti if order is not restored at once. Secretary Daniels estimates that about 1000 marines will be available for Haiti—300 at Guantanamo, 400 to go on the Hancock from Hampton Roads and 200 at San Domingo and Haiti. British and German interests are heavy Haitian creditors, and recently Germany demanded participation in any move by the United States to control Haitian customs.

and he believes that he should have an automobile to supervise the work.

New Post Office at Centre

In view of the prospects for a great increase in the population of Billerica in the near future Postmaster T. Frank Lyons has purchased a lot of land on Main street, near Amherst street, and will immediately set to work to build a new post office building. The location is the most central that could be secured in the village and the new post office will be handy to both pedestrians and travelers as it will be located on the main road from Boston to Lowell.

The contract for the building has been awarded to Joseph T. Thomas of Lowell and bidders will be set immediately. The new structure promises to relieve the congested conditions which have prevailed at the Billerica postoffice for some time past. Mr. Lyons hopes to be in his new office before the cold weather arrives.

B. & M. Shops

The Boston & Maine Railroad company has installed a new system regarding the train crews employed on shifters at the Billerica car shops. The work has recently been done by crews from Boston, but it is understood that, because of opposition from local engineers, who are reported not to have had sufficient work for themselves, the work was transferred over to Lowell crews.

New Macadam Road

The selectmen are now prepared to sign the contract for the new macadam road from Burlington to Billerica, which will be built at a cost of approximately $1000. The town, county and state will each contribute $3500 toward the cost. It is believed that the work upon the new road will be started in another week under the direction of Highway Surveyor Twombly.

Water Department

The water department has a crew of about 20 men at work extending the water mains on Ardenia road in the Pinehurst district. It will be recalled that this work was tied up for some time on account of the selectmen and water board being unable to reach an agreement relative to the cost. The laying of the mains is in charge of Supt. Stowers.

Ladies of G. A. R. Entertained

A large number of members of Asa John Patten circle, Ladies of the G. A. R., attended the meeting and garden party held at the home of Mrs. Susan Jacquith on Wednesday afternoon. The afternoon was spent about the spacious lawn where refreshments were served by Mrs. Jacquith, assisted by Miss Jennie Wood, Miss Mary Wilkins and Mrs. Sarah L. Murphy. Late in the afternoon the members returned home very much pleased with the enjoyable time afforded them.

Mrs. Irving Still Away

The Billerica police are still trying to learn of the whereabouts of Mrs. Chandler Irving, the young married woman who so suddenly disappeared from her home in Billerica a week ago Monday. The husband and mother of the young woman are very anxious about her and fear for her safety.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

Next Sunday will be the feast of St. Anne, a feast of the Catholic church, observed especially by the French-Canadians, wherever they are located. As is well known, the shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre, in Canada, is known to Catholics, the world-over. In connection with the coming feast local Catholics of all nationalities will read with interest an account which appeared in the old Sun, of the remarkable cure that took place at St. Joseph's church, in Lee street, on the feast of St. Anne, quarter of a century ago.

The old Sun reads as follows: "On the feast of St. Anne, last year, we recorded the remarkable cure of Mrs. Hume of Centerville, who had been a helpless cripple for 12 years. Her cure attracted wide notice and the devotion to St. Anne were renewed with greater fervor than ever. Last Friday was the feast of St. Anne and it brought another cure as remarkable as that of the preceding year. Mrs. Frank Paris, of 12-1/2 Race street, was almost entirely cured of paralysis at St. Joseph's after devotion to St. Anne. Mr. Paris is a native of Three Rivers, Canada and is 45 years of age, having been a resident of Lowell for 22 years. He is a hard-working citizen and has a family of two boys and a girl. Mr. Paris was employed in the boarding room of the Lawrence corporation for nine years, up to the time of his illness two years ago. One Sunday about two years ago, he walked to Fort Hill park and back apparently in good health and the following morning he awoke to find that he was unable to move either his arm or leg, carrying a cane with which to walk, as he was obliged to take a step with one foot and then gradually drag the other foot up to the first and then proceed as before. Last Friday was the feast of St. Anne, the mother of the Blessed Virgin, and on that day a novena held in her honor at St. Joseph's church came to a close. Mr. Paris was a devout attendant at all the services, his intention being that he might once more be able to walk. It was with great difficulty he reached the church as his home was about a quarter of a mile away. Last Wednesday he felt somewhat relieved but was unable to move the paralyzed arm and limb. Friday morning he started from his home at 8:30 for the 5 o'clock mass. At communion he reached the altar rail by the aid of his cane and after receiving communion he felt that he could walk unassisted. Placing his cane within the altar rail to the surprise of the great throng, he freely moved the limb that for two years had been powerless and walked without assistance to the last pew in the edifice. Here he spent some time in thanksgiving."

"King" Kelly's Trick Shot

While watching Rube De Groot going to the right field fence after a hard hit ball recently an old time fan sitting beside me remarked: "I used to have a ball in his house. Kelly had, years ago, and shut off that run." Then he started to tell me the whole story of how the mighty Kelly once robbed the team of the outfield of a home on the old South End grounds. When he had finished, I remarked: "If it wasn't for the slits at the top of the fence, he couldn't have got away with it."

"Oh, then you have read something about it," he asked.

"Yes," I observed, "read a lot about it, and I also saw the play."

"Go on; you were only a kid when that happened," said the fan in disgust. "It was only quarter of a century ago, next Monday, to be accurate, and the old Sun had the following reference to the incident:

"Last Monday, Kelly stole a game from the Philadelphia club. Two Philadelphia men were on bases when Sam Thompson sent a ball over the right field fence for a home run. The writer was sitting quite near the place where the ball disappeared and had a good view of it until it dropped over the fence. All the players saw the ball go over and Hallman, Myers and Thompson started leaping around the bases. Trickey Mike Kelly picked up another ball from the field and threw it into the diamond and only one run of the three that Philadelphia had earned was allowed. The Boston newspapers claim that Thompson's hit did not go over the fence. It did go over and Philadelphia was robbed of the game although it took ten innings to complete the steal. As I mentioned some time ago, referring to the old South End grounds and Sullivan's tower, an addition composed of slats several inches apart was put at the top of the original right field fence to obstruct the view of those in the tower. It was seldom that a batter happened along who could swing the ball over that exceptionally high and long-distanced fence and Mike Kelly who played right field when he wasn't behind the bat, was well aware of the fact. On this particular day as the ball soared high in the air toward the top of the fence, inside the fourth line, Mike chased to the fence, and as he neared it, while still looking heavenward, tossed his cap into the air, indicating that the ball had either gone over or through the top slats and out of the grounds, and the runners slowed up and took their time completing the circuit. But, soxy, Mike continued to look at the top of the fence and then suddenly dropped to the ground at the bottom of the fence and quickly jumping up, turned around and to the surprise of all, tossed a ball home, intercepting two of the three runners. There was a mighty kick, but Kelly stoutly maintained that the ball stuck momentarily between the top slats and then dropped down inside the fence and that he had immediately recovered it. The counter-claim was made that Kelly had a ball concealed in his blouse and at the psychological moment produced it. A protest was entered and a hearing given, but if I remember rightly justice was successfully rendered and the game stood. Kelly was full of tricky plays. Back in 1895, I believe it was, the year that Kelly went to Cincinnati I saw him pull off the "run him off" steal that has been worked many times since then, even as late as Mattie Hickey's time right here in Lowell, but seldom with success. Cincinnati was playing Louisville at Louisville and our old-time favorite, Tim Shanick, formerly of the Lowell, was with Louisville playing the infield. I was visiting in Louisville and went to the game as Tim's guest. With a runner on second and Kelly on first a double steal was attempted and the Louisville catcher by a good throw to third caught the first runner between the lines. The infield closed in on him and started chasing back and forth and of course it was a foregone conclusion that he'd be tagged. While they were punning him back and forth Kelly tagged second and quietly started for third, getting by the arm of fielders and getting

1-MARINES' CAMP at GUANTANAMO-2-Cape RUSSELL-3-SOUTH CAROLINA-

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Pressed by European powers, the United States government has about lost its patience with the various elements in the republics of Haiti and Santo Domingo and will demand a restoration of peace or threaten armed intervention. Already large discretionary orders have been given to Captain Russell of the battleship South Carolina, now at Cape Haitien, but final decision as to whether force is to be used by the American government has been deferred. Reports from Cape Haitien of further fighting, with added danger to foreigners, were regarded as forecasting prompt action by the marines now concentrating at Guantanamo. Not only have the military forces in Haiti refused to heed the warnings of the American government that fighting should cease and property be protected, but dispatches from Captain Eberle of the cruiser Washington, at Puerto Plata, Santo Domingo, also reported the failure of attempts to settle the Dominican revolution by diplomacy. Secretary Daniels decided that the additional 400 marines to be sent to Guantanamo, Cuba, for service at Haiti would be embarked from Norfolk on the transport Hancock, now on the way to Hampton Roads from Guantanamo. There are now more than 500 marines at Guantanamo or on American warships in Haitian and Dominican waters.

almost to the base before he was discovered. A cry went up from the catcher who was backing up at third and the ball was thrown to him, but Kelly slid in before being tagged while the other runner, having kept the bunch occupied until he saw Kelly within reaching distance of third deliberately started off for the bench without waiting to be tagged. On the kick that was made the umpire decided that the moment that Kelly had tagged second the other runner could go back and was virtually out and that had Kelly been tagged both men would have been out. The baseball writers at the time mentioned it as something entirely new in baseball.

Doctors Held Outing

The old Sun says: "The Middlesex North Medical society held their annual outing at Tyngs Island, Wednesday. In the dance hall, Dr. O. A. Willard read a paper on cholera infantum, and some of its prevailing aspects as seen in this city at the present time. Dr. J. A. Gage, city physician, made extended remarks and read a message from Dr. J. B. Fields, chairman of the board of health, having in view the awakening of some means to lessen the death rate in this city by cholera infantum and procuring measures with that object. Dr. H. A. Johnson, Dr. H. R. Bristol, Dr. Fisher of the Tewksbury almshouse and Dr. Prescott of Nashua, made remarks. The society also listened to an interesting account of recent visits to hospitals in London and Paris, by Dr. J. C. Irish, and then sat down to supper. A game of baseball was played and there were other amusements. One female physician saw the fun."

The Sun neglected to mention the name of the lone representative of the fair sex. During the last week in July, 25 years ago out of a total death list of 36, 19 were due to cholera infantum and all through the summer months the average was maintained. Last week's death list of 17 fails to reveal a single death from the dread disease that once proved fatal to so many little ones.

Old Time Trotting Race

While the gentlemen who at present are trying with considerable success to revive an interest in harness horse racing are organized under the name of the Lowell Driving club, their predecessors of 25 years ago were known as the Lowell Trotting association, though they didn't bar pacers, nor even the ponies. Just quarter of a century ago the Lowell Trotting association held a meeting on the Fair Grounds and the old Sun reported it as follows:

The races under the auspices of the Lowell Trotting association, postponed from Saturday occurred at the Fair Grounds, Monday afternoon. About 100 people were present, and each class attracted attention, as only Lowell horses were admitted. There were three entries in the three minute class. Five heats were trotted and it was nearly dark when the event came to a close. The summary: "2 minute class: best 3 heats in 5; purse $50, divided. Henry Conway's 'Dandy' 1 3 3 1 1; G. P. Atkins' 'Rooney' 2 2 1 2 2; Daniel Crowley's 'Veto Star' 3 1 2 3 3. "In the 2 1/2 class there were three entries. The summary: "Purse, $50 for 2 1/2 horses, best 3 in 5. P. Lannan's 'Col. Stevens'....1 1 1; Stephen Gregg's 'Pickarel'....2 2 2; G. P. Atkins' 'Richmond'....2 2 2. "In the half mile running race, there were four entries. J. J. Hegans' 'Brown Benny' won the first heat in 1:05, but the remaining heats were won by J. W. Parais' 'Spot,' ridden by Dr. McCann."

No, no, no! Not Dr. A. E. A. McCann, but the late Dr. McCann, who was a well known veterinary of days gone by and of slender proportions. "Pickarel" Some Horse

Of the horses mentioned in the above summary the only name I recognize is that of "Pickarel" and some years ago I wrote the life and adventures of "Pickarel" in The Sun, but I have forgotten the facts and the date. I recall, however, that one winter's night long ago the late "Doc" Evans, you might like to write a story about once "King of the Ice Track" in Lowell and a trainer, driver and promoter of harness events in this city, blew into The Sun sanctum. It was winter and Doc was seasonally arrayed in an overcoat that was fearfully and wonderfully made. Whether the material was fur, skin or hide I couldn't tell, and to conceal my ignorance, facetiously remarked: "What kind of a coat is that, Doc, an eel-skin?"

"No, but you made a pretty good guess. It's 'Pickarel' skin," replied the Ice King. "Get it through the ice?" I ventured. "No, through the rendering company."

"That's what I came down about," continued "Doc." "We're going to open the ice track on the river tomorrow and the fact reminded me that night long ago the late 'Doc' Evans, you might like to write a story about my old baby 'Pickarel,' the best little

Reading on River

One cannot hear the mention of the name of "Doc" Evans, without recalling the good old days of ice racing in Lowell, that is, if he was interested in horse racing. Just about Labor day every year, "Doc" would spend days in the library looking up atmanages and weather reports to get a line on what kind of a winter was in

HINMAN AND WHITMAN

TO BATTLE FOR REPUBLICAN NOMINATION FOR GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK

ALBANY, N. Y., July 21.—The New York state gubernatorial fight is found to interest the nation this fall even more than it generally does. The chief political significance is the part Col. Roosevelt is playing. He has come out with a flat endorsement of ex-State Senator Harvey D. Hinman, who has announced himself as a candidate for the nomination at the republican primaries as an anti-Barnes and independent candidate. Hinman will try to beat out District Attorney Charles S. Whitman of New York for the nomination. Whitman will be the regular republican organization's man. Hinman should get the nomination and win at the election it would be a big feather in Roosevelt's cap. If the colonel should meet with any kind of success with his progressive candidates in other states it would strengthen him materially for the 1916 presidential race.

FOR SPOT CASH

I Have Bought 48 Pieces of Blue Serge

In my day, I have done many things to astound the clothing trade of that part of this country in which I operate. I believe that even my competitors will admit that much—to deny it would be to assail the reputation of woolen mills famous throughout the civilized world.

But the event of my career, I announce today. As the high cost of living hits you in your household, so it strikes us in business. Everything we touch is costing a great deal more. Therefore, to equal the bargains of my old days is no easy task.

I am going to place on sale beginning today, this buy of 48 whole pieces of Blue Serge that will gratify any man's desire for shade, quality and weave; the weight runs from 12 to 16 ozs. to the yard, suitable for summer, spring or winter. Colors mostly plain blue, about six pieces run on the shadow and pencil stripes. I honestly believe this lot superior to any serge I ever offered at my special $15.00 price, and when I say that you know I have sold serges for $15.00 that were altogether advertising stunts rather than in and out business transactions. This lot is sold for advertising purposes. Buy one and send in your friends.

SEE MY WINDOW. I have reserved one whole window for this display. Some whole bolts, some half cuts and suit patterns. These goods were not made specially for me, the mill made them for any man with the ready money to buy them. I want to keep my help busy through this dull season, July and August. I want my old customers to take advantage of this sale, and I want to put four hundred new names on my books in the next two weeks.

MY GUARANTEE of fit, workmanship and linings goes on this sale as it has in the past. If a garment fades or my cutter slips up in fitting you, I will make you a new garment absolutely free.

YOUNG MAN FROM PHILADELPHIA THOUGHT EVERYBODY COULD SHOOT OUT WEST

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 21.—Part Prent, aged 25, just arrived from Philadelphia, was arrested on a downtown street yesterday charged with shooting at the feet of pedestrians to make them dance.

Prent, who was dressed picturesquely in leather "chaps" and armed with a revolver in a brass-studded holster, expressed surprise when Judge Kennedy in the north side municipal court informed him that such actions were not customary in Kansas City and fined him $20.

"Why, I thought everybody carried a gun and did a little shooting out here in the west," he said as he was led away.

Face Dry and Scaly. Distracted With Discomfort. Was a Slight. Couldn't Sleep. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Face Without a Mark.

So. Gardner, Me.—"Last spring my face began to break out with red pimples and after washing would be dry and scaly. Some of the pimples would have a white head and others would be purplish red. They would itch and burn and I was distracted with the discomfort. I was a slight and could not sleep nights.

"I tried a number of remedies but my face grew worse. I used — Salve and — but they did not do any good. At last I remembered of my mother using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment with good success, so I thought I would try them. I sent for a sample and even the first trial did me so much good I at once got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of the Cuticura Ointment and began to use them. I washed my face with hot water and Cuticura Soap, then applied the Cuticura Ointment. The relief was immediate. I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and in six weeks my face was without even a mark." (Signed) Mrs. M. L. Joy, Feb. 23, 1914.

Samples Free by Mail.

In the care of baby's skin and hair, Cuticura Soap is the mother's favorite. Not only is it unrivaled in purity and refreshing fragrance, but its gentle emollient properties are usually sufficient to allay minor irritations, remove redness, roughness and chafing, soothe sensitive conditions, and promote skin and hair health generally. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-paid: "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

program of novel features and the fourth edition of the Human Musical Revue at Canonic Lake Park theatre is certainly offering just that. Out in the open with the cool lake breezes sweeping through the theatre the patrons enjoy the splendid numbers thoroughly and the applause habit is decidedly catching. The original company is back again with such of the old favorites as Bob Jewett, Ray Pendleton, Walter Bergeron, Betty Partridge, Walter Bergeron, Harry Crawford and that snappy girl chorus. It's a big dollar show for little prices and really a surprising offering for a summer park theatre where as a general rule the offerings are but fair from a meritorious standpoint.

In "The Lighthouse Watch" Messrs. Harrison and Bergeron present one of the most beautiful numbers that has been offered this season and both of these clever boys deserve the tremendous ovations they are receiving at every performance.

There's a roar of mirth and merriment running through the sketch, "The Book Agent" that is felt by all long after the performance is over.

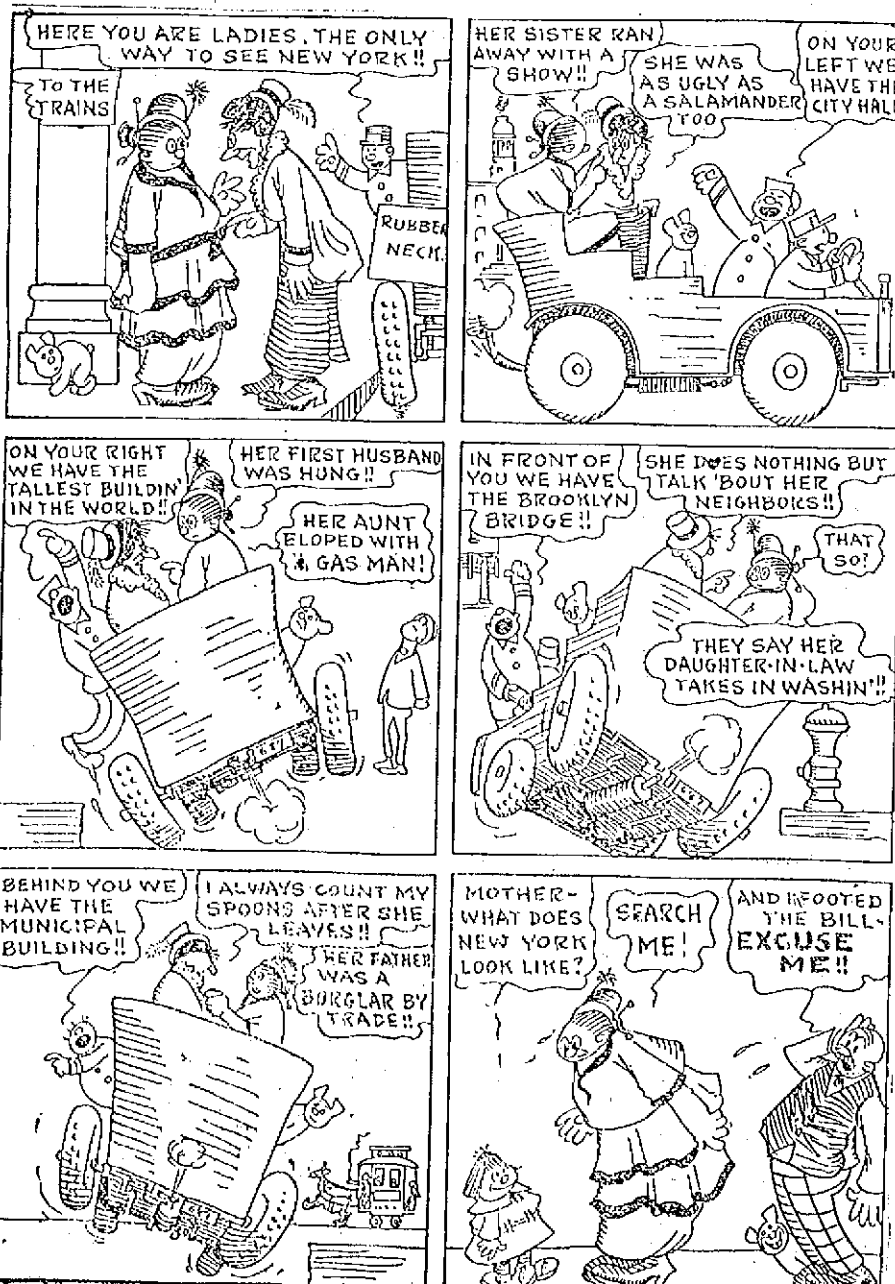

"The Fountain Dance" a spectacular and decidedly beautiful dancing number is offered by Bob Jewett, Ray Pendleton and a bevy of dancing girls, that is creating no small stir among the patrons.

A special photoplay program has been arranged for the theatre next Sunday between the hours of five and ten o'clock which will include a number of remarkable productions from the world's best manufacturers.

THE OWL THEATRE The summer days do not affect the attendance at the Royal theatre. On Friday and Saturday the great feature "The Adventures of Kathlyn" the great Selig serial will be shown. This series is getting much better with each showing, and many fans are following it with regularity and deep interest. Five other photoplays are to be shown. There will be a fine two-reel drama, besides a number of great comedies and single part dramas. "The Terror," a great 2-part feature, is also booked. The price of admission is always the same. Coolness and comfort are obtained through its up-to-date ventilation arrangements.

THE KASINO On Friday and Saturday "Flames of Destiny" with Miss Julia de Kelly in through three parts of the most interesting story ever shown, while "Machete New Job" one of the very latest Krazy-Ko comic releases, will make you clasp your hands with delight. It is one of the funniest slap-stick productions yet attempted. "Our Mutual Girl" is to be shown in her weekly adventure while a good program of feature dramas and comedies will help to make up an extra road performance. Jack Dalton has a new song today. The sliding-roof will give comfort and coolness to all spectators in any part of the house.

TAUNTON TRUSTEES QUIT

THREE RESIGN FROM INSANE HOSPITAL BOARD—PAID COMMISSION TO TAKE OVER DUTIES

BOSTON, July 21.—Three of the seven trustees of the Taunton state insane hospital yesterday sent their resignations to Gov. Walsh. They are Henry R. Steadman of Brookline, chairman; Lloyd E. Chamberlain of Brockton; and James P. Francis of New Bedford. No reason for these resignations was given.

Mr. Steadman's term was to have expired this year, Judge Chamberlain's terms in 1920 and Mr. Francis' term in 1917.

The management of the insane hospitals of the state has been discussed considerably on Beacon Hill this year in one form or another, and during the last days of the session of the legislature a bill was passed creating a new board of insanity of three members. This latter board has not yet been appointed by Gov. Walsh, but is likely to be named at any time.

It has been well known since Gov. Walsh took office that he desired a decided change in the system of controlling the state insane, charitable and correctional institutions. In the matter of the insane hospitals he succeeded in securing the passage of the legislation providing for the paid board, the effect of which will be to take from the hands of the unpaid boards of trustees connected with each institution certain powers which they have long enjoyed and turn them over to the new board.

The other members of the Taunton insane hospital trustees are Charles N. Cain of Taunton, Simeon Borden of Fall River, Elizabeth C. M. Gilford of East Boston and Margaret Smith of Taunton.

ISOLATION HOSPITAL

Manchester, N. H., has an isolation hospital problem so very like our own that any reference to it is of special interest to the Lowell public. It seems that several months ago some of the leading citizens, realizing the inadequate "provisions" of the New Hampshire capital against contagious disease or other such emergency, advised the erection of a city hospital suited to the needs of the times and named in particular to the needs of Manchester. The matter was taken up by the press and within a short time there was a very general reaction for such a hospital. Then the trouble that we have known so well in Lowell broke out. No sooner was one site mentioned than suddenly interested people either objected to it or offered substitute sites. In the end, the project was itself out and the disgruntled supporters of the scheme for the matter drop.

Now, however, there is a revival of interest in the proposed erection of a contagious or isolation hospital, owing to a recommendation contained in the annual report of the board of health of that city. While the citizens were wrangling about a site last winter and while the municipal authorities were beating about the bush, a scarlet fever epidemic broke out similar to that which is still spoken of in this city. Manchester also had some experience with smallpox. The recommendation of its board of health, therefore, comes at this time with especial force, and it is probable that the hudding city will not long ignore a question the importance of which has been only too well proved.

The board of health besides recommending the erection of an isolation hospital also recommended a $50,000 appropriation for the purpose—far more, it will be remembered, than the amount which would have given Lowell a modern and scientific building. The Manchester Leader, dwelling on this phase of the question, says:

And the $50,000 appropriation which the board proposes to ask for this purpose is not a vast sum. If Manchester needs an isolation hospital—and there is no room for doubt on that point—who needs a modern, up-to-date, fireproof structure which shall be built with an eye to the future, as well as to immediate needs. This city is growing rapidly; every year sees large increase in population, with a corresponding increase in the chances of serious epidemics. The sum of $50,000 expended for the provision of a suitable isolation hospital may be the means of saving many times that sum of money, to say nothing of the lives it might save within the next few years. Manchester owes it to herself to make this provision, and to make it at the earliest possible moment.

There is not one argument favorable to a contagious hospital for Manchester which does not apply to Lowell, with greater force. Both cities have congested areas where a serious epidemic would have terrible consequences if not checked at its commencement. Both are mill cities with a large alien population and with a great deal of tuberculosis and the other diseases that all progressive states are spending millions to stamp out. Lowell, however, has the greater incentive for a contagious hospital, because of the state demand which provides a penalty each time that the request of the state authorities is refused. At present the probability of such an institution in both Lowell and Manchester is not over brilliant, though arguments to support it are incontrovertible. It will be interesting to see if the Manchester authorities will prove as indifferent as the Lowell authorities and it will be also interesting to see whether this city will have its long-discussed hospital before the Queen City.

WINDOW BREAKING

Owners of property in Lowell know for a certainty that as soon as any building is vacated, the windows are not safe, and that if the building is vacant for any length of time, all windows are sure to be broken. This happens in all sections but more particularly in thickly populated parts of the city. The breaking of street lamps has also become a popular pastime with street hoodlums and the glass in front of the fire alarm boxes is frequently a target for their readiness towards property destruction. In many parts of the city fire-box glass is broken as quickly as it is replaced. As a matter of course the destruction of public property is attended with some degree of injury to private property and in many of the best residential sections of the city railings and fences have been broken, post boxes and shrubbery have been damaged, and the reign of juvenile destruction seems to be on in earnest.

This is a condition that cannot be permitted to continue and it could be prevented without a great deal of trouble if the authorities get after the rascally malicious who take an evil delight in wanton destruction. At present there is little satisfaction for the individual who may be out hundreds of dollars by their pernicious practices. The breaker of windows or the young ruffian who steals or injures machinery or other property is brought before the juvenile court and sometimes escapes punishment. Occasionally, he is fined and the fine goes to the county while the injured party must bear the loss as pleasantly as he may. While conditions remain as they are, there is not much to discourage the window breaking and other undesirable activities of the hoodlum class, that infest some sections of the city.

In all probability the policy which seems to obtain is due to the molasses-making juvenile laws which are regarded as a universal failure, that is if they were meant to deter youngsters from committing criminal acts. If their purpose was to rear up a generation of evil-doers, subject to no law and respecting neither public authority nor private right, they did fair to succeed in their regrettable purpose. When the window breaker is regarded by the authorities as a law breaker, there will be less juvenile lawlessness.

TROLLEY ACCIDENTS

The trolley accident at Westport, Conn., two days ago, in which three persons were killed outright and over twenty injured, serves to emphasize the comparative safety of trolley transportation in the summer season as contrasted with train service. In this state alone thousands go on special trolley trips and outings weekly and yet the report of an accident on such an occasion comes but rarely. That this is so is a tribute to the efficiency and caution of the average motorman and conductor, for oftentimes the public is none too cautious or considerate. In the Westport case, it would seem that the wreck was due to the recklessness of the motorman of the picnic train, who put on full speed going down hill in order to pass a trolley freight. He miscalculated, and the cars came together with the above-mentioned results.

As in steam transportation, no set of rules will ensure public safety unless the road officials insist on their recognition by patrons. When large numbers set out for a day's enjoyment, they lose any sense of caution, and it is easy for conductors and motormen to become careless as a result. Railroad employees must observe the greatest personal care on such occasions, but the necessity for safeguarding human life should be always in their mind. When we read of such occurrences as that of Westport, the wisdom of the rule which forbids any interference with the motorman becomes very apparent. The public should respect all such regulations, remembering that there is real need for them and that to ignore them may lead to serious consequences.

A PRACTICAL "JOKER"

A few days ago a local undertaker was telephoned to by a woman and told to go to a house in this city for the body of a woman who had just died. As most calls come to undertaking establishments in this manner, and as the family of the supposedly deceased was one which had given him charge of burials in the past, he did not hesitate in responding but took his wagon and helper along. In the wagon he took the usual casket or box and everything else connected with embalming and transportation of the dead. On arriving at the house to which he had been directed, he was greeted by the woman whose body he was supposed to get. Seeing his confusion, the woman who, by the way, is past middle age—suspected the truth, and showed evidences of pained surprise that anybody should have been so bereft of a sense of decency as to perpetrate such a horrible parody on a joke.

This instance is by no means unique and there is no doubt that the party responsible for it thinks she did something really funny. Whether the "joke" was meant to be on the undertaker or on the family to which he was sent is not certain, but no sensible person would hesitate for an instant in branding the act as infamous. It is to be hoped that if the police get hold of the facts and of the "joker" some law may be found under which she may be adequately punished.

THE CAILLAUX CASE

From the newspaper accounts of the world-famous Caillaux case it looks as if the romantic people of France regard their own as a high class, undeviating show, much as we regard our municipal politics, unfortunately. For the past few days Paris has been divided into two camps over the public innocence of the emotional and demagogic Madame, and her brilliant husband.

BACK IN TERRIBLE CONDITION HEALED BY COMFORT POWDER

Miss Maggie McGee, a Nurse of Fort Smith, Ark., says: "I was called on a fever case after the patient had been in bed six weeks and his back in a terrible sore condition, but I used Comfort Powder and it quickly healed the sores." For all skin sores nothing equals Comfort Powder.

band is giving the populace some rare thrills by his Chaudron virtuosity, his theatrical self-accusations, and the tenderness with which he kisses the hand that welded the revolver so well. The farce is beautifully acted and consequently there is a good prospect that Madame will go free, to the delight of the romanticists and possibly to the indignation of the ineffective few who feel that covers were instituted for the furthering of justice. There is every prospect of a duel too, so Paris may have more of the excitement on which it revels.

Strongly contradictory to stories of business depression in the activity now being shown by many of the leading industries in the city. The slight stagnation of a few months ago has almost completely disappeared; mills and factories are running nearly full time and all are apparently preparing for a busy season. The building boom which started in the mills a few years ago still continues, and our myriad wheels are singing a sweet accompaniment to the songs of prosperity.

The Panama canal will open to the commerce of the world on August 15, and the announcement is made that connected with the event there will be no formality. Somehow, the proposed simplicity of the occasion is more consistent and significant than the greatest international celebration. What could be more impressive than the simple opening of a gate through a continent, allowing the ships of all the earth to pass from ocean to ocean?

After the civil action and the criminal action, it will be fortunate if there is any railroad action left in the New Haven.

Boost Your Union

A labor union official gives this advice: "One of the worst sins of indifference of the average trade union member is the neglect to attend the union meetings. A union member who does not attend the union meetings loses the biggest part of the evolutionary, educational effect of the opportunity to broaden and improve himself through association with his fellows. Besides, he is depriving the organization of the encouragement of his personal presence. There is an enthusiasm about large meetings that carries a message of hope and confidence to each member. Attend the union meetings, but by all means go to boost and not to knock."

Church Favors Labor Unions

At a meeting of the Buffalo Federation of Churches, the following was included in a report of its social committee which was unanimously adopted:

"For equal rights and complete justice for all men in all stations of life."

"For the fullest possible development for every child, especially by the provision of proper education and recreation."

"For the abolition of child labor."

"For such regulations of the conditions of toil for women as shall safeguard the physical and moral health of the community."

"For the abatement and prevention of poverty."

"For the conservation of health."

"For the protection of the worker from dangerous machinery, occupational diseases, and mortality."

"For the right of all men to opportunity for self maintenance, for safeguarding this right against encroachment of every kind, and for the protection of workers from the hardships of enforced unemployment."

"For suitable provision for the old age of the workers, and for those incapacitated by injury."

"For the right of employees and employers alike to organize for adequate means of conciliation and arbitration in industrial disputes."

"For a release from employment one day in seven."

"For the gradual and reasonable reduction of the hours of labor to the lowest practicable point, and for that degree of leisure for all which is a condition of the highest human life."

"For a living wage as a minimum in every industry, and for the highest wage that each industry can afford."

BANDITS HELD UP TRAIN

Three Masked Men Robbed Passengers of More Than $2000 and Escaped

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 24.—Depot sheriffs were hunting the hills north of Los Angeles today for two or possibly three men who boarded train number 23 of the Southern Pacific company last night near Chatsworth park and robbed passengers in two cars of more than $2000. Two men did the work of robbing the passengers, but a third man, who appeared from the smoking car, as the two robbed the train and is said to have kept in advance of the robbers during operation, is believed to have been an accomplice.

The bandits dropped from the train as it slowed up at Hewitt, a small station about 10 miles north of Los Angeles.

Brakeman T. Gundry was standing on the rear platform when the robbers swung aboard. One of the masked men, armed with a shotgun, ordered the trainman to hold up his hands. The second robber drew a revolver and Gundry, still holding his hands above his head, was forced to walk ahead of the men as they robbed the passengers.

Men in the cars were forced to stand by their seats and drop their money into the pockets of the bandits as they passed. Women passengers were allowed to remain seated, but commanded to deliver their purses promptly.

BANKERS ARE CONFIDENT

That New Financial System Will Show the Elasticity Needed to Help Business

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 24.—Bankers of Missouri, each in touch with the actual financial, business and crop conditions in his territory, believe that the state is on the verge of one of the greatest eras of prosperity in its history.

In a number of letters to The St. Louis Republic, replying to inquiries as to the exact conditions in the state, they have declared in no uncertain terms that Missouri is entering, with the coming installation of the new currency system, on a period of exceptionally good business.

The majority of letters received by The Republic ascribe the optimistic outlook to the bumper wheat harvest, its already noticeable effect in financial circles in certain districts and the belief that the new currency system when in operation will increase the financial prosperity of the state many fold.

Many of the writers have gone into painstaking detail and show in their letters just what the situation is in their own sections of the state. The inquiries were sent out regardless of political creed or belief and with a request for replies in the same spirit. This has been done.

Those in the farming districts pin their faith to the bumper wheat crop.

A Summer Trip Through the Northwest and to the Pacific Coast

Everyone should know something of our wonderful country in the great northwest and on the Pacific Coast—Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and California. All can be visited comfortably and without great expense by taking advantage of the low price Summer Tour tickets.

Really there can be nothing more attractive nor more educational than a tour through this country, with possibly a visit to the Yellowstone or to Glacier National Park en route. Let me tell you what can be done. Let me send you some descriptive printed matter. Let me help plan a trip for you. That's my business and part of the Burlington Route (C. B. & Q. N. E.) service.

the greatest Missouri has ever known, and the fact that the harvest has gone on without hitch and the farmers are having few financial worries and are able on this crop to take up old obligations without the necessity of making new.

Corn, too, has a good prospect. In some sections of the state they have had plenty of rain, while reports from others show that the corn has a good stand and that with a seasonable weather will join with wheat in making this a great year for Missouri.

Some of the letters follow:

R. B. Price, president of the Boone County National Bank of Columbia, Mo., is a typical optimist:

"The oat crop will be short and the grass not over one-half crop."

J. L. Differderfer, cashier of the Bank of Lebanon, Mo., forecasts prosperly under the new currency law:

"The new currency law will be of great benefit to the country in my estimation," writes Mr. Differderfer. "Business will pick up in the next sixty days, if we have the proper season."

BREAKS COAL RECORD

OKLAHOMA MINES OVER FOUR MILLION TONS, VALUED AT $5,500,000

Coal was mined in Oklahoma in 1913 to the amount of 4,168,770 short tons, valued at $5,512,715, both record-breaking totals for the state, according to figures compiled by E. W. Parker, of the United States geological survey, in co-operation with the Oklahoma geological survey.

Okahoma, more than any other of the coal-producing states in the Mississippi valley and the Rocky mountain region, was benefited by the labor troubles in Colorado, as is shown by the increase in production over 1912, amounting to 490,552 tons, or 13.34 per cent.

The value of the product increased $675,112, or 8.6 per cent. The smaller relative gain in value in 1913 was due to the fact that in 1912 prices were somewhat inflated because of the rather abrupt withdrawal of fuel oil from the markets where it had been in competition with Oklahoma coal and to a diminution in the supply of natural gas from the northern part of the field, contained both particularly in Kansas.

The deficiency in the Kansas production of natural gas is being made up, however, by developments in Oklahoma, and the result of these developments and of the fact that the supply of coal is catching up with the demand on account of the increased production in 1913 is exhibited in the return to lower prices, the average value per ton in 1913 being the same as in 1911.

The total number of men on strike in Oklahoma in 1913 was 1636, and the average time lost by each man was 80 days.

Okahoma continues to show a high percentage of coal shot off the solid, a practice encouraged by the laws of the state, which compel the payment of wages on the basis of mine-run coal.

The number of days the men were able to work in 1913 shows a marked improvement over the two preceding years, and if no time had been lost by strikes the average number of days worked would have exceeded 200 by a good margin.

As it was, the average time made by the 5941 men employed was 197 days, compared with 5755 men for 174 days in 1912. The average total production per man in 1913 was 451 tons.

The fatality record for Oklahoma in 1913, according to the bureau of mines, shows a decided improvement over 1912, when, owing to an explosion of gas and dust in the San Bois mine, at McCutcheon, the death toll was high. In that one explosion the lives lost amounted to more than three times the total number of deaths in 1913, when 23 fatal accidents occurred.

store for Lowell. By the first of November, he'd have everything completed for his first race on the ice, all but the ice. Then he'd go around among the horsemen and talk it up. "Doc" wasn't a particularly religious man but it was said of him that once a year he prayed fervently and that was late in the fall when he prayed for plenty of ice in the river. In the case of a mild winter "Doc" would accept the inevitable philosophically and assure his friends of even greater happenings the following winter. But when a cold snap made the ice thick on the river, with a slight covering of snow to make the footing good, "Doc" would go around for the usual few contributions to defray the expense of preparing a half-mile track and in a couple of days there would be a fan galore for the horsemen. Among the gentlemen who were always ready to assist "Doc" and who took their horses to the track were the late Mayor Palmer, C. I. Hood, the late John Lennon, Thomas E. Lennon, Murphy and Bingham, the stable-keepers, Grillo Perchley, E. L. Richards, formerly in business in Moody street, Wilber L. Duntley, formerly artist on The Sun, Frank H. Harris, D. J. Murphy and Dick Murphy, James P. O'Donnell, James E. and many others and it was well worth the trip to Midwestern Village, on the boulevard side, usually the scene of the track, to witness the sports. As there was no ice racing in Canada (and around here, ice racing was particularly popular with the French-Americans and many a funny race was pulled off by rival "peccots" otherwise known as "skates" from Little Canada and vicinity. And that reminds me of a great race, that tradition says was actually pulled off on "Doc's" ice track. The names here mentioned are fictitious and if the dialect is punk please forgive it. The story runneth thus:

A Dead Heat

Pierre Trudeau and Batiste Latri-mouille were rival job wagon men in Little Canada and each owned a pretty good horse. One evening while both were in a party in Frank Richards' saloon, the subject turned to horses and as some of the party were not French, the conversation was carried on in English: a la Little Canada.

Said Pierre: "I got hoss; she's not much good on top de cobble stone, but she go lak hell on de ice."

"Faster, faster, Pierre," remarked Batiste in disgust. "Dat ain't no loss you got, she's a peccot. My hoss she mak been look like 10, 11, ten cent."

To continue the conversation verbatim would take too much space, and so to make a long story short, a race between the two was arranged for 50¢ per side, to be held on the ice track the following day. After another argument as to who should be stakeholder and judge, it was agreed upon that a mutual friend, Henri Constantineau should officiate. Henri's principal qualification for the position was the fact that he had a fairly good job in the mill and thus could be depended upon to remain in Lowell overnight, even with 100 beautiful dollars in his jeans. Henri had also once seen a horse race at the Sherbrooke fair and used to chum around with a man at "Trois Rivières" who owned a fast horse.

The weather had been quite soft for several days and the regular horsemen were rather timid about trusting their trotters on the ice track, but that fact didn't deter Pierre and Batiste and though the following day resembled good spring weather and people were sweltering in their winter clothing, both appeared on the scene with their trotters at the appointed time, and likewise Henri Constantineau, the stakeholder, with the 100, safely-planned in his trousers pocket. A spectator was selected to start them off, and in lieu of a revolver he used Nature's great apparatus for starting something—the mouth. As the pair came down the track from the starting point, nose to nose, he cried: "Allons!" and they were off.

Henri was at the finishing post holding in one hand his faithful Waterbury to set the time while the other firmly clasped the trousers pocket. For the quarter they wore neck and neck, both drivers yelling like demons. Just at the quarter Pierre's horse went off his feet and while Pierre like a good sport was pulling him up Batiste got a good lead. From before the start, there were ominous sounds emanating from under the surface of the track and the spectators who had gone on the ice had beaten a hasty retreat to the shore. Just as Batiste's horse, snorting like a freight engine on an up-grade, was nearing the finishing point—

"Crack! There came a burst of thunder sound; the boy, O where was he?" The boy—Batiste, was pulling himself out of the water, while his horse was struggling to regain the surface. By making a wide detour Pierre managed to escape the hole and finished the race. With great difficulty Batiste's horse was pulled out, but was in such bad shape that it had to be shot.

Once his horse was pulled out of the water Batiste made for the stakeholder who was having a red hot argument with Pierre, who claimed the money.

"You win, I don't think," yelled Pierre. "My hoss she's first on de finish; your hoss, she fall down. Dat's my money. I claim he!" "Messieurs, Messieurs," expostulated Henri, waving both contestants away. "One little moment, all vous patit! I see wat you call a difference d'opinion. Batiste, he say he's boss she's in front wen de h'ice she broke. C'est correct, Pierre, he say he's boss she's first on de finish. C'est correct, correct. Mais messieurs, perhaps if de h'ice she don't break Batiste he'll be first on de finish; but de h'ice she do break and Batiste's hoss she haint get chance for finish if she wants to. Once I see heeg heeg race on Sherbrooke fair. One hoss she came in first and another hoss he come in sam. time. M. Le Juge he say: 'She's dead heat. Dat race must be run h'ever some, more time. Dis race, I think, cat's dead heat, al-so. I am de stakeholder. I hold stak till she's run h'ever another time.'

MILLSTONE PRODUCTION IN 1913
The production of millstones and related quarry products—barstones, chasers and drag stones—in the United States in 1913 amounted to $56,163 in value, a decrease of $15,231 compared with the value in 1912. The production of millstones in this country in 1913 was nevertheless larger than in all but three years since 1888, when it was valued at $81,000. Millstones were produced in 1913 in Alabama, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania and Virginia.

SOLDIERS CHARGED MOB

Fierce Rioting in St. John, N. B.—
Cars Overturned and Burned—
City Without Light

ST. JOHN, N. B., July 24.—During three hours of rioting last night in connection with the car strike, soldiers charged a mob of 1000 persons in Market square, cars were overturned and turned in the square, firemen in a power house were stoned and driven from work and the city was left without lights for a time.

FIGHTING DISEASE GERMS

There is a popular idea that sickness is caused by a germ of the disease finding entrance to our bodies through the food we eat, the water we drink or the air we breathe. This is true as far as it goes but it is also true that disease germs are entering our bodies every day without causing disease.

The reason for this is that there are forces within the body that are constantly fighting these disease germs and it is only when this defense is weakened that the germ can get the upper hand and we become ill. One of the most powerful of these forces that work for health is rich, red blood. Good, healthy blood increases the resistance of the body to the diseases that are always threatening. It is easier to keep up this resistance by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, eating proper food, avoiding articles of food that do not agree with us and getting plenty of fresh air day and night, than it is to cure disease after it gets a foothold. Keep up the resistance of your body to disease by these true pills, which you can get at any drug store, and you will avoid much sickness.

Two booklets, "Building Up the Blood" and "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be sent free by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Carbonol has thousands of household uses.

It is wonderful for cleaning windows, it will dissolve grease in waste pipes, it will suppress the odor from the garbage pail, it will freshen up a musty cellar, it will remove grease from pots and pans and clean out the kitchen sink, it will remove many stains and spots against which many other cleansers are powerless.

It is a disinfectant, a germicide and a grease solvent.

DEFIANCE IS OUT

Withdraws From Competition—The Changes Will Take Too Long

NEW YORK, July 24.—Only two yachts, the Resolute and the Vanitie, now remain in the contest for the honor of defending the America cup, as the Defiance was withdrawn from further competition yesterday and is now being put out of commission at City Island.

George M. Pynchon, managing director of the Tri-City syndicate, owner of the sloop, yesterday sent a formal notice of her withdrawal to Commodore Dallas B. Pratt of the New York Yacht club. Mr. Pynchon said that changes structural, as well as in rig, to fit her for racing, would take between three weeks and a month, so it was decided to retire the mahogany sloop at this time.

She was designed by George Owen and built by the Bath Iron Works of Bath, Me. She is a most attractive appearing vessel, and to a great extent is an enlarged Dorella. The Dorella and the Dorella II, both Owen-designed craft, were remarkably speedy. The rig of the Defiance is similar to those used on the Dorellas, the single head rig being used.

Until very recently no jib topsails were used on the Defiance. She showed considerable speed in windward, but running free her very small spinnaker materially interfered with her speed. The money necessary to build and race the Defiance was supplied by prominent yachtmen of this city, Boston and Philadelphia, hence she was known as the Tri-City sloop. Those in the syndicate include Messrs. E. Walter Clark, James B. Ford, E. C. Fawcett, T. C. Dunham, George B. Barron, George Lander, Jr., George M. Pynchon, F. C. Fletcher, E. S. Webster, Thott Wadsworth, Charles Hayden, E. E. Penhaly, J. C. Cobb, Oliver Adams and Henry Taggard.

Mr. Pynchon is the managing director and E. Walter Clark the financial manager of the syndicate. Capt. Seth B. Howell was in command of the Defiance's crew.

ELOPER SHOT AND KILLED

YOUNG MAN KILLED IN FATHER-IN-LAW'S OFFICE—LATTER HELD FOR MURDER

HAVESWORTH, N. Y., July 24.—Reggie Newman, a 19-year-old youth who, last Saturday, eloped with Anna Cleary, daughter of William O. Cleary, town clerk of Havesworth, and prominent in democratic politics, was shot and killed yesterday in the office of Cleary, Cleary and his son-in-law were in the office together. Four shots were fired, Cleary walked to the office of a justice of the peace, and surrendered, who committed him to jail on a charge of murder. It was not known last night whether Cleary and Newman quarreled.

WACOB NOW ONLY CATCHER

"Pete" Handles His Pitchers in Fine Style and is Steady Worker

"Pete" Wacob, Californian and exponent of the Western league, is now Lowell's only backstop, with Green-halge filling in at second base. The big fellow, however, was doing the bulk of the backstop work for the local club anyhow and has experienced no pangs of homesickness.

Wacob got a very late start this season on account of the change in climate but has steadily improved as the season progressed until now he is considered one of the most valuable catchers in the league.

"Pete," however, has not shown up as well this season as he did last year with the Wichita, Kan. club, probably on account of the climate. His hitting has not been all that was hoped for although Wacob's work with the stick has been timely. In fact, he is hitting as well as the majority of backstops.

Wacob is a fine handler of his pitchers, and gets the most effective work out of each of them. He is a good judge of a batter, and a shrewd one at a hard time getting set for a delivery. If the other end of the battery follows Wacob's advice.

"PETE" WACOB

In throwing, "Pete" has few equals in the league. Although he occasionally makes a wild throw, the Californian has a good arm and snags the sphere to the bases in fine style. Taking everything into consideration, Wacob is one of the league's classic backstops.

ford to hold up the management occasionally for a few more hundred jaguar skins a year by threats to quit professional ball and go to farming.

Of course the game was not exactly baseball. But the point is that it was a ball game, that there were regular ball parks—or courts—ad that there were professionals who played the game for what there was "in it" to them. Mayhap the medium of exchange took the form of jaguar skins, pounds of cocoa, fancy feathers, or what not, but it was money all the same, and they could buy with it at the club, or in the market place as the case might be. They had their peculiar systems of "slang," too, at least in some parts of the Americas, which translated into English means about as much to us as ours would to them, all of which is brought out by Mr. Franklin Adams in his story "Indigenous Games in Latin America" in the July number of the Monthly Bulletin of the Pan American Union, Washington, D. C. That the ball game is an ancient institution in the Americas may be gathered from the following:

the tall palms—certainly it is that several thousand years ago the ball game had reached a high state of development in the 70 cities scattered throughout Yucatan. On clearing away the matted forests enveloping these marvelous ruins, ball courts were disclosed near the most sacred temples, and from the elaborate hieroglyphs and photographs ornamenting the walls, much was learned of the complicated character of the sport. Centuries after the passing of these ancient Mayans came the first Spanish explorers who found that a younger race in contiguous territory, the Aztecs, had revived the old pastime into a "national game" with a stone "ball" of "sport" bearing on every court.

"The peculiarity of these early games was that the ball, when in play, was not thrown with the hand but struck by the hip, around which the player wore a protecting pad of leather. At each end of the court was a great stone disk with a hole in the center, and through this orifice the ball was driven before a point was scored. Very naturally a 'lively' ball was used, since rubber trees dominated the forests.

"Old chroniclers marvel at the skill and endurance of the players, for a game was seldom won under four hours of constant play. Such exhausting contests, with a dozen participants in almost constant action, were not for amateurs but for professionals. Thus, from the Aztec word, identifying 'ball,' came the word 'mollonhu,' one who plays ball for a living."

"Another form of ball game is played by the Indian tribes on the Cududary River region in the wilds of Brazil. A carefully leveled field lies in front of the malokas, or large communal houses, and daily at 5 o'clock, the men returning from the day's fishing or hunting, indulge in the sport—not a complicated game like that of the early Mexicans, but one calling for a high degree of skill, as two balls are used by the players, who drive them with the hands toward their opponents. Yellow tail feathers of the Yapon bird are affixed to the rubber balls for accuracy.

The Araucanian Indians of Southern Chile play an ancient game with wooden balls driven by wooden clubs. In a clearing, 300 by 75 yards, enclosed by cut branches of trees, these Indians play a game which greatly resembles lacrosse or field hockey. The game is played from childhood and the players acquire great skill and the matches draw large crowds. The game calls for great endurance and while generally played in 2 or 3 hour periods, several days have been known to pass before a decision was reached. During the play it is not unusual to hear a player cry 'Am I not a real oak tree?' or 'Is he not a lion's leg?' after a brilliant stroke. Such is Araucanian slang."

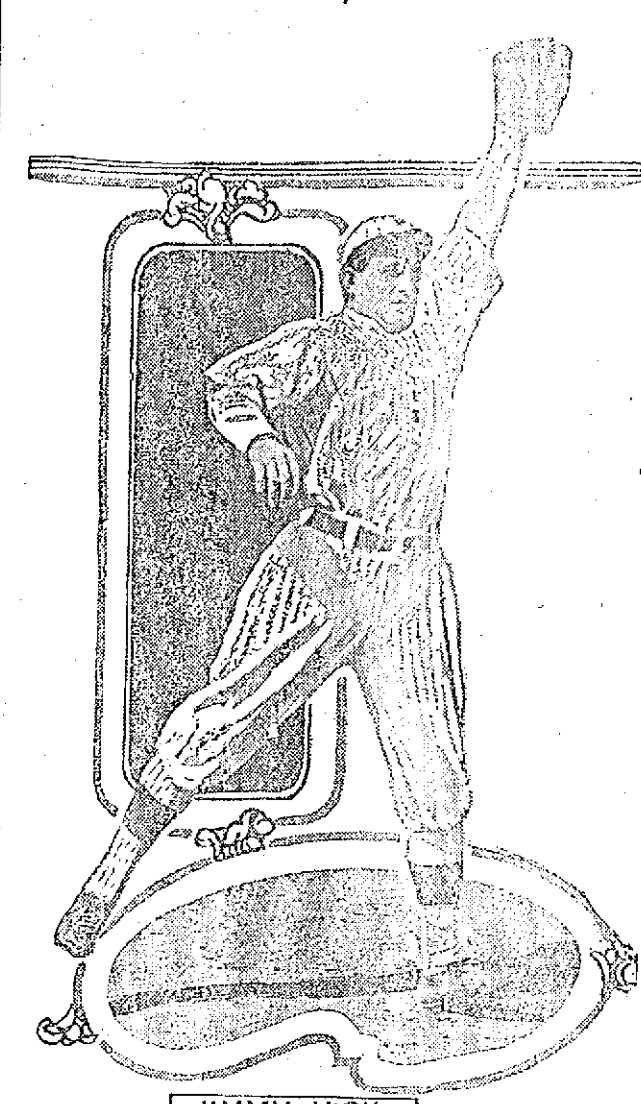

JONES' NAME WITHDRAWN

WASHINGTON, July 21.—President Wilson late yesterday ended the bitter fight of his administration by withdrawing the nomination of Thomas B. Jones of Chicago to be a member of the federal reserve board. Mr. Jones had written urging that he no longer be permitted to remain a cause of embarrassment.

The message of withdrawal reached the senate just as Senator Reed of Missouri, one of the democrats opposing confirmation, was concluding a vigorous denunciation of the International Harvester company, of which Mr. Jones is a director. The message created a mild sensation and cut short a debate that promised to run indefinitely.

With the brief message the president

MARRIAGE SEEMS TO AGREE WITH JIMMY VIOX, PIRATE INFIELDER

When Connie Mack lost the pennant in 1912 he blamed it on the fact that so many of his players had married recently and were thinking more about their spouses than baseball. This is not the case of Jimmy Viox, however, for the Pirates' scrappy little infelder took a trip upon the sea of matrimony not long ago, and since that time no one has been able to stop him. He is the batting and fielding sensation of the team at present and shows no signs of letting up.

sent copies of Mr. Jones' letter and his reply. Opposition to the nominee had been based on his connection with the Harvester company, and the senate banking committee had submitted a majority report adverse to confirmation, signed by all the republican and two democratic members.

Mr. Jones wrote that this report was "based on a distortion of facts and a version of the truth," but expressed the opinion that as a result of the contest, even if the nomination were confirmed by the senate, his usefulness as a member of the board would be seriously impaired.

NEW ENTRIES RECEIVED NEW TRADE COMMISSION

SEVERAL GOOD MEN WILL RUN SATURDAY FROM B. A. A. AT HUNTING CLUB GAMES

There have been about 25 additional entries received by the Hunting club for their track meet and hand concert tomorrow. These entries came from the B. A. A. and include several good performers.

Seward, who won the intercollegiate 220 yards dash, has indicated his intention of running here Saturday as has also Tom Halpin, the quarter-miler. There are others of repute also. The entire list of new entries follows:

220 yards: William Jenkins, Lynn; P. T. Donahue, Boston; L. T. Prescott, Boston; H. H. Seward, Boston; George Nicholson, Methuen; M. A. Morrissey, Boston; Thomas A. Spence, Lynn.

440 yards: T. J. Halpin, Boston; P. T. Donahue, Boston; J. M. Burke, Boston.

880 yards: R. P. Greene, Boston; P. T. Donahue, Boston; T. J. Halpin, Boston; Walter Ryan, Boston; J. M. Burke, Boston; William Maler, Lowell; Tom Geary, Orange; Samuel Layne, Lowell.

One mile: R. P. Greene, Boston; P. T. Donahue, Boston; T. J. Halpin, Boston; Walter Ryan, Boston; J. M. Burke, Boston; William Maler, Lowell; Tom Geary, Orange; Samuel Layne, Lowell.

Broad jump: P. G. Nordell, Boston; L. T. Prescott, Boston.

In the 10 miles event, James McGrath of Methuen and Joseph Couture of Lowell, are additional entrants.

When the Sixth Regiment band appears at the Hunting club on Saturday with Mr. E. E. Tabor, directing, the 35 musicians it will come with its full quota and equipment to give one of the best concerts that Lowell has been favored with for some time. This band has shown great progress under the direction of Mr. Tabor since its formation some two years ago and by hard work and constant practice has come to the front to hold a place not only as the best band but Lowell has ever had but is considered to be one of the leading bands in New England today. Their work is characteristic of the military style and is always full of snap and ginger that the general public like so well. Mr. Tabor's band has just returned from the tour of duty with the Sixth regiment down on the Cape.

The concert program for tomorrow is as follows:

March, "Royal Artillery".....Novins Overture, "William Tell".....Rosini Trombone solo, selected.

Mr. William Kinnern Popular selection from Remick's 1914 Big Song Revue.....Remick Selection, "Red Widow".....Gebest TT-Bigs

(a) "When the Angelus is Ringing".....Berlin (b) "The Trombone Slide".....Graves (c) "He's a Devil".....Snyder Grand selection of "Folk Songs of Scotland".....Lampe

March, "General Dixie, U. S. A.".....Allen During the races the band will play a collection of popular songs.

REPORTED THAT JOS. E. DAVIES OF WISCONSIN WILL BE MADE CHAIRMAN

JOSEPH E. DAVIES

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Republican senators are preparing to ask some pointed questions as to the personnel of the new trade commission, if one is to be created by the passage of the Newlands bill, now pending in the senate. It has been understood that Joseph E. Davies of Wisconsin, commissioner of corporations, would be chairman of the commission. In one of the first drafts of the bill the "present commissioner of corporations" was designated as the first chairman of the trade commission. While the pending bill does not specify it, senators and representatives have been led to believe that Mr. Davies would be appointed if the commission is created. Republicans in the senate have been growing more and more restless over the political activities of Mr. Davies.

PLAYING BALL

Is an Ancient Institution in America, Says Pan American Union

"Pla-a-a-y Baw-aw-aw-ll" is not as new an expression of popular impatience to have some one "start something" as some people may think. Neither is playing ball for a living a strictly modern invention. In fact thousands of years ago "way down in Yucatan, impatient crows" sat around in ball parks, yelled themselves hoarse, beat one another in the back, and threw their feather headgear into the arena in the enthusiasm of the moment, just as we are doing today. Also there doubtless were Ty Cohbs whose skill in "batting" and "fielding" was such that they could af-

The choice of McLoughlin, Williams, Bundy and Behr to defend the Davis tennis trophy, symbol of the world's championship, has met with country-wide approval. Some authorities have questioned the wisdom of overlooking W. M. Johnston, the youthful Californian, but his tendency to grow wild under the stress of a tough match was held as sufficient reason for leaving him off the team. As it stands the four men are the best to be found in this country and will make a spirited defense in the final round Aug. 13, 14 and 15 at the West Side courts on Long Island.

HIS EMINENCE CARDINAL GIBBONS

BALTIMORE, July 24.—Speaking in the country home of his friend, R. H. Shriver at Union Mills, Carroll county, yesterday, Cardinal Gibbons on the 80th anniversary of his birth, spoke vigorously of the evils as he sees them in different parts of the world today. He was talking to Mr. W. L. Seabrook, old friend, one year his senior, to whom this interview has been an annual event.

In the course of his talk the cardinal denounced the industrial workers of the world, the socialists, the English eutragues and lastly, the rebel leaders in Mexico. Tracing realties conditions among the working people to the agitation of such bodies as the I. W. W., the cardinal deplored the growth of this and other radical organizations.

He expressed the deepest regret that the longed for peace had not dawned on Mexico. He expressed detestation of Carranza and Villa and the alleged cruelties perpetrated by the latter upon innocent persons who had, he said, without cause, incurred his hostility. He condemned the conduct with which men under their control have been charged in their treatment of helpless women.

Condemns Villa's Acts
He was deeply moved in speaking of the assassination of church men without cause by Villa, and seemed to see little hope of the restoration of peace through the triumph of the constitutionalists.

The cardinal then referred to the restlessness among the working classes here and abroad. He expressed alarm at the growth of socialism and spoke on the I. W. W. as a dangerous element that should be put down. The organization, he said, is utterly at variance with the purposes of the great hosts of laborers who constitute the real industrial forces of the country. As he had visited London on his homeward route from Europe, his attack on the suffragettes of England and he strongly condemned their conduct which, he said, proved their unfitness for the privilege for which they are so violently contending.

Firm For Law and Order
Throughout the interview he made it clear on every subject upon which he conversed that law is paramount and must be obeyed and enforced. That he is unalterably opposed to the invasion of the right to property peacefully acquired and that he has no sympathy with violence perpetrated to enforce the notions of any man or set of men against the lawfully constituted authority of country or state, he emphasized.

The cardinal spoke freely about his enjoyment of his recent trip to Europe and of his pleasure in his return to this country. Cardinal Gibbons has returned without lessening of his natural vigor. His step is elastic, and a member of Mr. Shriver's family stated that yesterday morning he had easily walked up the steep incline to the house of his host, keeping in the lead of others with him.

JOSEPH DUDLEY, PAL OF ROBBERY, WHO COMMITTED SUICIDE, WILL FIGHT HIS REMOVAL

BOSTON, July 24.—There will be a strong fight put up by Joseph Dudley, the young "pal" of Lawrence Robinson, who was with him on June 19 when he shot and killed Police Inspector Thomas J. Norton, to have himself from extradition to West Virginia, where he is wanted on the charge of grand larceny of diamonds worth $15,000.

Officers from West Virginia are now on their way to Boston and expect to take Dudley back with them. Acting for the West Virginia authorities, Inspector Lynch and Officer Claffin of the Boston police and former sheriff of the state police yesterday visited the governor's office at the state house to apply for extradition papers for Dudley.

This action shows that Dudley probably will not be tried in Boston for murder. He was indicted with Robinson for the murder of Inspector Norton. Robinson, however, is said in one of his farewell letters to have fully exonerated Dudley of all connection with the killing of Norton.

Dudley is wanted in West Virginia on a complaint made by H. J. Henrich of Cabell county, charging him with the larceny of 25 diamonds valued at $15,000. Yesterday requisition papers from Gov. Hatfield of West Virginia arrived in Boston and Inspector Lynch and Officer Claffin of the Boston police took them to the state house when they went there to ask for an extradition warrant.

William E. Weeks and Cutler and James counsel for Dudley, have already applied for a hearing by the attorney-general on the law and facts in the case and this probably will be held Thursday of next week before Assistant Attorney General Leon R. Egan. Extradition papers will not be honored by Gov. Walsh until the attorney-general has made his report on the case.

John B. Leahy, the Boston attorney, counsel for Henry J. Henrich of Lexington, W. Va., who claims that Dudley and Robinson robbed his jewelry store of $15,000 worth of diamonds, has already filed a bill in equity to obtain possession of the seven magnificent diamonds found in hidden pockets in Robinson's clothing.

These diamonds, with all of Robinson's other belongings, were seized by the police when he was arrested. They are now held, with the money in Robinson's possession, pending the result of legal claims made for them by various persons which may have to be tried in the courts.

John J. Thompson, the Grand Rapids, Mich., jeweler, whose store was robbed by Robinson and others, three clerks being killed, is also a claimant for the diamonds found in Robinson's clothing, and it is expected there will be still other claimants.

TWO BROTHERS DROWNED

YOUNG SONS OF JOHN BUSSIER OF NORTHFIELD, FALLS, VT., SLIPPED OFF ROCK

MONTPELIER, Vt., July 24.—Medea, 11, and Albert, 14, sons of John Bussier of Northfield Falls, slipped off a rock on which they were playing into 15 feet of water above the second dam at that place and were drowned. Nobody saw the accident and it was not until they failed to return home in the evening that search was commenced. Both bodies were recovered.

CARPET MILLS SOLD

Charred for a sum approximately $400,000 and the new capital invested is less than $7,000, it is stated that the syndicate operating and the stocks was the most powerful and best equipped of any formed in Boston. It represented nearly all the leading and largest bond houses in Boston.

R. P. Perkins, it was announced, will be the new president and Alvin D. Higgins, of New York, will be the vice president. H. B. Wadsworth, at present agent for the Bigelow Carpet Co., will be retained as agent for the new company.

The relation of the Hartford Carpet Co. in this deal is not entirely clear as yet, but it is certain that to date there is no amalgamation or consolidation in fact whatever may ultimately result. Hartford men will assume official positions at the head of the corporation and will bring to it the experience in carpet business which is expected to keep the mills running steadily six days a week. Several of the old directors will also be included in the new directorate.

It was announced yesterday that payment will be made today at the Second National bank of Boston to directors presenting their certificates.

The Bigelow Carpet company began business in 1819 when a co-partnership was formed under the firm name of H. N. and E. B. Bigelow for the manufacture of Brussels carpets at Clinton, Mass., the company using the remarkable power loom invented in 1837 by E. B. Bigelow. In 1853 the company incorporated as the Bigelow Carpet Co. The company has been under the management of members of the family of the Messrs. Bigelow and Henry P. Bigelow. In 1912 it acquired the property of the Lowell Carpet Co. of this city, which was established in 1825 and the combined property has since been manufacturing Jacquard, Brussels, Wilton and axminster carpets.

Agent Wadley's Statement
Following is the statement issued by Agent Wadley of the Lowell plant to Kilder, Peabody & Co. of Boston, the banking firm which had charge of the transfer:

Lowell Property.—The Lowell property is divided into 29 mill buildings, and covers an area of 120,000 square feet. The buildings have a floor space of 1,067,450 square feet, are all modern, well lighted and ventilated, thoroughly protected against fire, and in good condition.

The machinery contained in these buildings includes a weaving plant, consisting of 243 brussels and wilton looms, of various widths; 155 axminster looms of various widths; a worsted yarn plant, with 1081 spindles; a worsted yarn plant, with 11,204 spindles; a cotton yarn plant, with 12,973 spindles; a dye house, with 56 dye tubs of various sizes.

In addition to the foregoing, there is a full equipment of auxiliary machinery to completely carry on carpet manufacture, and convert raw material into first class finished product. There is also a power plant, consisting of 10 boilers, 3 steam turbines and 3 water turbines.

The weaving plant has a capacity of 2,550,000 yards per annum.

The woolen yarn plant has a capacity of 3,250,000 pounds per annum.

The worsted yarn plant has a capacity of 2,355,000 pounds per annum.

The cotton yarn plant has a capacity of 3,000,000 pounds per annum.

The power plant has a boiler capacity of 4851 horsepower. The boilers are used for making steam for manufacturing purposes, such as dyeing, etc., in addition to making power.

It also has a share in the Locke & Canals corporation to an extent which gives them approximately 800 horsepower for the water wheels at an extremely advantageous figure.

The steam and water turbines are coupled with electric generators, and all power is transmitted electrically. The machinery drives are well arranged in groups, and individual motors are installed where any advantage could be obtained by so doing.

The plant is equipped with modern repair shops, laboratories, etc., and the machinery has all been kept in sound physical condition.

The class of goods manufactured at the Lowell plant is high grade axminster, reliable brussels, popular piece goods and rugs of all classes, from the medium priced to the finest weaves and reproductions of oriental patterns.

The mill has its own sidetrack connecting with the Boston & Maine railroad, and has good facilities for receiving and shipping goods.

Labor conditions at the Lowell plant are satisfactory, and during the labor troubles of 1912 the corporation experienced no difficulty in preserving discipline and carrying on the operation of its business.

When running full, the mill employs about 2000 hands.

Clinton Property.—The Clinton property consists of about 133 acres of land. There are 37 mill buildings besides tenements, these latter comprising 65 dwellings, all of which are in good condition and occupied by operatives who pay a fair rental for same.

The mill buildings are modern and in splendid condition, protected against fire by every modern appliance.

The machinery contained in these buildings includes:

A weaving plant, consisting of 155 Brussels and Wilton looms of various widths; 136 Axminster looms of various widths; a woolen yarn plant, with 1026 spindles; a worsted yarn plant, with 9136 spindles; a dye house, with 106 dye tubs of various sizes; and in connection with the foregoing, complete auxiliary machinery of all classes.

The power plant at Clinton is considered one of the finest examples of engineering in the country. It consists of 14 boilers and two engines, directly connected to electric generators, and power is transmitted electrically to the various manufacturing buildings.

The power plant has a boiler horse power capacity of 3500 horse power, and, as with the Lowell plant, the steam is used for manufacturing purposes in addition to power generation. The Clinton mill has its own repair shops, and everything has been kept up to a high standard of physical perfection.

At the Clinton plant the Bigelow company manufactures rugs and carpets, Brussels, Wilton and axminster, the largest end being carpets. The Wilton looms are chiefly occupied with goods of this nature.

The axminster looms, in addition to manufacturing staple lines, are largely occupied in turning out the highest-grade and most ambitious effects ever attempted in this class of fabrics.

The yarn mills manufacture the yarns necessary for the construction of the carpets, with the exception of the cotton yarn for the backing, which is shipped from Lowell.

In regard to railroad facilities, the Clinton mill has two side-tracks (one connecting with the Boston & Maine railroad, and the other with the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad), and enjoys excellent facilities for receiving and shipping.

Labor conditions at Clinton are particularly good, the mill largely employing family help, and the corporation enjoying exceptionally friendly relations with the townspeople of Clinton.

When running full, the mill employs about 1600 hands.

Both the Lowell and Clinton plants have their own fire brigades.

THE WATER WAY BOARD

Tendered Banquet at Lawrence Country Club—Many Speakers Heard in Favor of the Project

The members of the Merrimack Valley waterway board, Hon. Charles C. Faine, Andrew B. Sutherland and Lewis R. Hovey, were last night tendered a complimentary dinner at the Merrimack Valley Country Club in Lawrence, the affair being held under the auspices of the Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill boards of trade.

Over 100 men gathered at the well appointed club house at 5 o'clock, where a brief reception was held, followed by an excellent dinner and postprandial exercises. Present were men from Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill and Newburyport, and the main topic of discussion, of course, was the project of developing the Merrimack river in order to make it navigable from the sea to Lowell, the project to be brought to the attention of congress at Washington, D. C., on Dec. 14. Before the reunion came to a close a number of these present signified their intention of going to Washington in December and urge congress to appropriate a sum of money to bring the project to an end, the Massachusetts legislature having already voted a million dollars for this purpose.

The guests arrived at the club in the latter part of the afternoon and an informal reception was held on the beautiful and spacious piazza of the club where refreshments were served. The Lowell men made the trip in automobiles, conducted by Robert E. Marden and William H. Badger, and the delegation consisted of the following: Jesse D. Crook, Esq., Percy E. Gilbert and his son, Secretary John H. Murphy, President Robert F. Marden, Will Rounds, Capt. William P. White, U. S. N., retired; William H. Badger and E. J. Laroche.

At 5:45 o'clock all sat around the festive board and partook of a delightful repast, this being followed by postprandial exercises, the toastmaster being Judge Frederick N. Chandler of Lawrence. The toastmaster in his introduction spoke of the project of deepening the Merrimack river and said if anybody had told him a year ago that the legislature would appropriate a million dollars for the work it would have made him laugh.

He told how the late Benjamin Butler was the first man to propose transportation by way of the Merrimack river, and at that time the general was the laughing stock of this part of the country. He said Gloucester has not so large a course of water as the cities along the Merrimack valley and still it is a seaport, and he believed if the project is pushed through it will promote industry in Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill.

Judge Chandler Presided
Judge Chandler read letters of regret for not being present from Lieut. Col. Craig, chief engineer of the commonwealth, and Rev. Appleton Lawrence, a descendant of the founders of Lawrence. He introduced as the first speaker Judge Charles C. Faine, chairman of the Merrimack Valley waterway board. Judge Faine spoke in a very interesting manner, and said he went on the commission wholly unprejudiced and was now convinced that the residents of the Merrimack valley have the argument and that there is but one side to the question. He spoke of conditions in his home city when there was water transportation and the changes that have taken place since the railroad companies have had control. He said we are bound to see a great change before long for at the present time the railroad companies control 85 per cent of waterway transportation, but that is surely to come to an end. He said the people have allowed the railroads to control but the roads have gone far enough. He spoke of the money appropriated by the legislature and said the national government cannot refuse its aid and he assured those present they will get what they want for they are well organized and their demand is proper.

Lewis R. Hovey of Haverhill, another member of the board was next called upon and he spoke briefly of the work of the commission and of the progress made during the past two years in bringing about the establishment of the navigability of the river. He said if the report of the government surveyors is favorable there will be no trouble in securing money from the national government. But he said he believed it will be a question of 10 years before Lowell is reached, but he believes the project will be put through.

Mr. Sutherland

A. B. Sutherland of Lawrence, the third member of the commission was introduced as the "father of water." He said the Merrimack Valley waterway had been talked of before Judge Chandler lost his first 100 cases in police court and before Paul Hannagan, commissioner of Lawrence, became the expert of the United States on block paving. He then devoted his attention to the arguments for the river. He pointed out that the railroads are wholly unable to handle the traffic and he said with waterways it would be less difficult. He indicated the importance of the Merrimack valley commerce, saying that the valley trade exceeds that of the port of Boston by $37,000,000 a year and it also exceeds such ports as Montreal, Buenos Ayres and other cities, and offers a greater field for trade than any ports outside of New York. He said the United States claims that a saving of 4 per cent per annum will justify expenditure in waterway development, and he believes he can prove a saving in the Merrimack Valley from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 a year and this would justify the expenditure of $20,000,000. He said there are only a few people from the sea to the end of the valley, comparatively speaking, but the foreign trade of the valley is such as to enable the people of this section to recognition.

Secretary Murphy
In the absence of Mayor Dennis J. Murphy of this city, Secretary John H. Murphy was called upon and he made a short address, saying the residents of Lowell have a particular interest in the project. He said they have showed it by interfering with the construction of a bridge in Lawrence. He concluded by saying the residents of Lowell expect some day to board a boat at Lowell and pass through Lawrence, Haverhill and Newburyport. He assured the commission that Lowell will be strongly represented at Washington in December and also that Congressmen Rogers will be there in favor of the project.

Other speakers were Rev. James T. O'Reilly, Daniel Casey, secretary of the Haverhill board of trade; Commissioner Paul Hannagan of Lawrence; Stephen M. Sherman, secretary of the Lawrence chamber of commerce; and John P. E. Mahoney, publisher of the Sun-American of Lawrence.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Secretaries Daniel N. Casey, John H. Murphy and F. S. Sherman of the Haverhill, Lowell and Lawrence boards of trade.

INVESTIGATE HUERTA'S FINANCIAL METHODS

Pres. Carbajal Seeks Information
on Reported Wrong Doing—
Arrangements for Peace Conference With Carranza

MEXICO CITY, July 24.—Another long conference between President Carbajal and the Brazilian minister was held last night. The subject discussed was the peace conference which it is believed will be held soon between Carbajal and Carranza delegates.

President Carbajal has ordered an investigation of the financial methods of the Huerta regime in reply to the public rumors of possible wrong-doing.

The investigation it is stated will be made by high officials of the ministry of finance and if irregularities are found those guilty of them will be punished, according to law.

The government announced today that it will immediately begin negotiations with the American authorities at Vera Cruz to arrange for the re-establishment of the federal service there under Mexican officials. The government will also propose the re-establishment of Mexican military authority at Vera Cruz.

CANAL TO OPEN AUG. 15 THE ANTI-TRUST PROGRAM

WORLD'S COMMERCE MAY GO THROUGH AFTER THAT DATE—FORMAL CEREMONIES LATER

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Opening of the Panama canal to the world's commerce on Aug. 15 next was announced last night by Sec. Garrison. Probably the first vessel to pass through the great waterway will be the Cristobal, a war department steamer now in Colon.

There will be no formalities in connection with the event, all ceremonies being left for the official opening when the international fleet passes through the canal in March, 1915. Mr. Garrison's announcement was made in this brief statement:

"The canal will be open first to vessels not needing more than 30 feet of water."

An announcement will be made when a greater depth of water than 30 feet has been secured.

Some things remain to be done to perfect the waterway. The channel through the Culebra cut must be deepened and widened so that it will not be necessary for the great liners and battleships to pass through the "locks" at Culebra and the locks will be in single file. Much excavation must be done in both approaches and many of the buildings which will house the office forces, the mechanical departments and the supply divisions remain to be completed.

"AS A CIVILIZED NATION"

COLOMBIA'S PRESIDENT TELLS HIS CONGRESS UNITED STATES HAS SO TREATED COUNTRY

BOGOTA, Colombia, July 24.—President Carlos Restrepo, in his annual message read at the opening of the Colombian congress, referred to the pending treaty between the United States and Colombia over the separation of Panama.

"Colombia should feel satisfied that a great power has treated her as a civilized nation on the basis of reparation and equity and she should not forget that civilization comes through the deepest sufferings. Now it beats upon our shores and calls at our ports on the waters that cross the world's canal."

The revenues of the Colombian government, the president said, have been increased by 2,000,000 pesos over those of the last fiscal year.

THE FARMERS ARE FIRM

DENCE TO PREVENT CITY'S DRIVING THEM FROM BRIDGE

PROVIDENCE, July 24.—Farmers who recently refused to obey an order by the city that they vacate the Crawford street bridge, which they have used for generations as a market place yesterday were denied an injunction to prevent the city from putting the order into effect.

Leaders among the farmers announced their intention of continuing to defy the city. They said they would submit to arrest to test the order through criminal proceedings.

NOW OCCUPIES ATTENTION OF

WASHINGTON, July 24.—With the bitter fight in the senate over the nomination of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago, President Wilson's nominee for the federal reserve board, ended, senators today were breathing a sigh of relief that the prolonged contest was over and were preparing to settle down to practically uninterrupted consideration of the administration's anti-trust program. Belief on the part of President Wilson that the program might be endangered were the fight continued was responsible for the withdrawal of the nomination. The contest had delayed consideration of anti-trust legislation.

With the Jones case out of the way, democratic leaders in the senate today were determined to press to a conclusion the anti-trust program and bring congress to adjournment at the earliest possible moment. To that end the interstate trade commission bill, already before the senate, was to be taken up in earnest and pressed until a vote is reached. After its passage, the Clayton anti-trust and the railway securities bill were to be disposed of. These three measures constituting the entire anti-trust program were now before the senate.

STONHAM MAN KILLED HIMSELF
—WIFE HEARD SHOT AND FOUND HIS BODY

BOSTON, July 24.—Edward A. Wiley, night manager of a dairy lunch at 186 Canal street, and for many years a resident of Stoneham, committed suicide in his home, 15 Pleasant street, Stoneham, yesterday afternoon by shooting himself through the heart. He was in the best of health and no reason is known for his act.

Mr. Wiley was in the sitting room of his home when he killed himself. His wife was in the hallway, talking over the telephone with a friend. Hearing the shot, she dropped the receiver and ran into the room to find her husband's body stretched on the floor. A revolver had fallen from his hand and was lying beside him.

Besides his widow, the suicide leaves two daughters by a first wife, Mrs. Edna Cronin of Wakefield, and Miss Alice Louise Wiley, whose engagement to John Woodbury Day of Arlington was announced in the local paper yesterday afternoon. The engagement, however, was looked upon with favor by Mr. Wiley and had nothing to do with his suicide.

FOURTH DEATH FROM PLAGUE

SHERIFF BEATTIE, VERMONT OFFI-CER, DID SOME SHOOTING TO GET HIM

NORTH STRATFORD, N. H., July 24.—When Sheriff Richard Beattie of Maidstone, Essex county, Vt., came to this home-town of John C. Hutchins, democratic candidate for governor last night, and started shooting on the town in the capture of a deserter from Fort Ethan Allen, outside of Burlington, Vt., he created no small excitement.

But Sheriff Beattie, who first came into national fame in his handling of the now famous Dodge murder case and recently in his pursuit of Harry Thaw in his flight back and forth over the Canadian border, captured his man and lodged him in the county jail at Grafton last night.

Bernard Bonwald, also known as Joseph Short and Thomas Scott, is wanted by the federal authorities at Newport, Tex. He was a soldier at Fort Ethan Allen, but recently he deserted and went into hiding on the New Hampshire side of the Connecticut river. He had discovered were after him.

Sheriff Beattie learned that Bonwald was at Bloomfield and he went there to capture him. He waited at the post office, where his man soon came, and asked for mail for Joseph Short. Sheriff Beattie grabbed his man and they were instantly mixed up in a hand-to-hand fight, after which the prisoner managed to escape and flee through Main street following by the Vermont state police and a posse of townsmen.

When the officer was about to grab his prisoner a second time Bonwald plunged into the river and struck out for the New Hampshire shore. When Bonwald did not obey the officer's command to stop, Sheriff Beattie began firing at him and this brought out the entire population to witness the affair. Bonwald kept on his way and soon managed to reach a small island in the river, where he concealed himself among the rocks.

Sheriff Beattie hurried across the bridge to this town and induced the town night watch to join him. They rowed across the river and landed on the island and began a search for the prisoner, who was quickly found and captured without a battle. Bonwald was brought here and taken across the bridge into Vermont by the New Hampshire officers and then Sheriff Beattie grabbed his man and hurried away in an automobile to the county jail at Grafton, Vt.

FISH DISTRIBUTED

Secretary of Commerce Redfish has just been informed by the commissioner of fisheries that advance reports received from the fish commissioners of the bureau of fisheries in all parts of the country indicate that during the fiscal year which closed June 30, 1914, the number of food and game fishes propagated and distributed by the bureau was longingly in excess of that of any previous year.

The output was approximately a billion, of which 485 million represented the migratory food fishes of the Atlantic coast streams, 1 billion the commercial fishes of the Great Lakes, 241 million the important food fishes of the North Atlantic coast, over 200 million the salmon of the Pacific seaboard, and the remainder the fishes of the minor interior waters.

Distributions of fishes suitable for stocking barren public waters, or for stocking public waters which have become depleted, were made in practically every state of the Union and in Alaska, while thousands of small inland ponds and lakes, the majority of them located on farms, were stocked with black bass, crappies, sunfishes, catfishes and other desirable species.

Of the enormous output for the year, 28 per cent represents the commercial food fishes and a very large percent of these were hatched from eggs which would have been entirely lost had it not been for the activities of the bureau of fisheries.

Coincident with the augmented output there has been a decided improvement in the effectiveness of various branches of the fish cultural work, as an example of which may be mentioned the rearing of many millions of fish formerly distributed as fry. This feature of the work is to receive even greater attention hereafter, as most decided advances may be made along this line.

CAPITAL AND LABOR

COMMISSION SEEKS TO DISCOVER
PLAN FOR REAL CO-OPERATION—
F. P. WALSH CHAIRMAN

FRANK P. WALSH.

CHICAGO, July 24.—Statements of the fundamental differences between capital and labor were heard here by the United States industrial relations commission, of which Frank P. Walsh of Kansas City is chairman. John M. Glenn, secretary of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, Victor M. Olin, secretary of the Lake Superior union, the heads of two of the largest employing corporations in the Chicago district, and several social settlement workers were among those heard.

"The commission seeks to discover a plan for real co-operation," said Mr. Walsh. "Some basis may be found for that, and then industrial warfare will end."

LEGAL NOTICES

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHU-SETTS, Middlesex, ss. Probate Court.
To all persons interested in any of the real estate of Bridget O'Hearn, late of Lowell, in said county, deceased, in estate.

Whereas, John O'Hearn of Lowell, in the County of Middlesex, has presented to said Court a petition, representing that he is the husband of said deceased, is entitled to take five thousand dollars and one-half of the remaining real property of said deceased; that the personal estate is insufficient to pay the whole amount of the estate of said deceased does not exceed in value the sum of five thousand dollars and above the amount necessary to pay debts and charges of administration; and praying that the whole of the real estate which is described in said petition may be assigned and set out to him or his Court according to law, to provide for said debt, at a value of seven hundred dollars, or at such other value as may be used by the ROEGERS, Register.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the 27th day of July, in the year one thousand nine hundred and fourteen, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to each person interested who can be found within the Commonwealth, returned to said Court, and, if any one cannot be so found, by publishing the same in the Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, once in each week for three successive weeks, the last publication to be on one day, at least, before said Court.

Witness, Charles J. McIntire, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this eighth day of July, in the year one thousand nine hundred and fourteen.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The possibility of an eleventh hour surrender by New Haven directors failed as the only thread upon which hung the issue of war between the New Haven and the government. No capitulation by the New Haven was expected by the government officials, and none came. Attorney-General McReynolds and his assistants followed out President Wilson's instructions to file suit under the Sherman anti-trust law for the dissolution of the railroad combination and to institute criminal proceedings against the directors responsible. Finishing touches were given to papers in the dissolution suit. Papers were filed in the federal district court for southern New York by Third Assistant Attorney General Gregory. A special venire for a federal grand jury to hear criminal complaints against the New Haven directors will be called at New York early in August, according to the department's plans. The chance that the New Haven directors might at the last moment, to avert the consequences of the biggest "trust busting" suit ever instituted by the government, accept the

DELAY CRIMINAL ACTION

Will Wait Until Civil Suit Against
New Haven Railroad is Further Advanced

NEW YORK, July 24.—Not until the civil suit filed yesterday to dissolve the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad is further advanced will criminal action against certain directors and officers be begun, according to an announcement today by T. W. Gregory, special assistant to the attorney general. T. W. Gregory and Frank M. Swacker, his associate, will remain in New York for several days. Attorney General McReynolds was expected to arrive here today for a conference with Mr. Gregory.

It is expected that a special panel of the federal grand jury will be called for the first week in August and that the cases for alleged criminal violation of the Sherman anti-trust law will start about that time. Mr. Gregory declined to say what directors he would proceed against criminally. The answer of the New Haven company to the suit in equity brought yesterday must be filed on or before Aug. 1. It was expected that E. C.

Ruckland, general counsel for the New Haven, would file the company's answer and that it would contain a general denial of the government's allegations. The defense probably will be under the direction of Moorfield Storey of Boston, who has been associated with Chairman Howard Elliott in the recent negotiations with the department of justice.

While the answer to the suit is yet to be prepared it is known that exceptions will be taken to the application of the government for a receivership, which, it was pointed out, is made in all dissolution suits on the ground that the railroad is paying its fixed charges and that for the past fiscal year there was a surplus of $11,000. The only official statement given out by the company since the filing of the suit was to the effect that about 100 boards of trade and civic and business organizations in New England had passed resolutions sustaining the New Haven system in its efforts to retain control of the Long Island sound steamship lines. A list of these organizations was issued.

WIND STORM IN NEW YORK

80-MILE-AN-HOUR GALE CAUSED
HEAVY DAMAGE AND INTERRUPTED TRAFFIC.

NEW YORK, July 24.—Wind that attained a velocity of 55 miles an hour, the highest since 1899, swept down on the city late yesterday, bringing with it the most severe local rainstorm in years.

The rainfall was brief, but it arrived unexpectedly, drenching home-owners in the business district and flooding many residences and other buildings where windows had been wide open all day because of the heat. The mercury earlier had reached 30 degrees.

The wind blew down signs, smashed plate glass windows and did other damage in the city. At Sandy Hook a small fishing steamer was ashore during the squall, which interrupted the harbor traffic for a time. The steamer filled after the crew had been taken off.

In the outlying sections of the city and in New Jersey suburbs, trees and poles and a number of small buildings were blown down and wire traffic was stopped in places.

TRAIN TOSSES TRUCK

MATTER DESTROYED BY ACCIDENT IN N. & M. STATION

LYNN, July 24.—Passengers on the eastbound Portland express which sped through the Boston and Maine depot at 8 o'clock last night were somewhat alarmed by the shock of a collision with a heavily laden truck of the American Express Co.

The express was not noticed by any of the express company's employees until the truck was about half-way across the track. The truck was derailed and a second later the locomotive crashed into it, tossed it 15 feet in the air and scattered almost 100 pieces of express matter about the platform. Much of the express matter was destroyed. The shock was distinctly felt by the passengers, but it was not severe enough to cause any discomfort.
